Australia has fully complied with its commitment to remain committed to building more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems for the provision of integrated people-centered health services, including mental health. Australia has taken strong action to increase resiliency through MRFF funding for primary healthcare, childhood brain cancers and other medical needs, international medical aid for Vanuatu and an investment in the Medical Research Commercialisation Initiative. It has also taken strong action for more equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems through funding for assistive technologies, a focus on sexual and reproductive health, increased Army and Air Force medical capacity, funding to strengthen and maintain the health system through the 2025 Early to Mid-Career Researchers grant opportunity, freezing the cost of PBS medicines in 2025, expanding the PBS to include additional treatments, incorporating RSV vaccines for pregnant women within the National Immunisation Program, international humanitarian funding and pledge for Gavi. Additionally, Australia has remained committed to the provision of integrated people-centered health services including mental health through the autism roadmap which aims to improve health and mental health for autistic Australians, the National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Evaluation Framework, novel virtual nursing services to support remote and First Nations communities and an investment for health literacy.

Thus, Australia receives a score of +1.

medical supplies and technologies, assisting with health systems recovery after flooding and supporting increased health capacity. It has also taken strong action to build equitable and inclusive health systems by combating major health epidemics such as dengue and AIDS that impact vulnerable populations, expanding Black and Indigenous healthcare and increasing healthcare for migrants, asylum seekers, individuals with disabilities and the transgender population. Furthermore, Brazil has taken strong action to provide integrated people-centered health services including mental health through the construction of new Psychosocial Care Centers, a focus on collective and community-based practices under the New Growth Acceleration Plan and a new law to support healthcare including psychosocial support for families experiencing pregnancy loss. Since May 2025, Brazil has also launched a notification system for patients with continuous-use medication, allocated significant funding for the development of mRNA vaccine technology, essential medications and innovative digital health products as well as for gynecology, radiotherapy, HIV/AIDS and cancer care, announced measures to improve its transplantation system, established new residency and specialist grants, increased funding to reduce wait times in the public health system, led the BRICS Health Working Group's Senior Officials Meeting to finalize the Declaration of the 15th Meeting of BRICS Health Ministers and launched a historical BRICS partnership to eliminate socially determined diseases, improved access to contraceptives by incorporating Implanon within the SUS and opened the first Indigenous Mobile Emergency Care Service. These actions support all of the criteria of this commitment.

Thus, Brazil receives a score of +1.

Japan has fully complied with its commitment to remain committed to building more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems for the provision of integrated people-centered health services, including mental health. Japan has taken strong action to build more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems through JICA funding for maternal and child health in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, a price reduction for pharmaceutical drugs, providing medical equipment to strengthen healthcare in Fiji, supporting emergency health services for rural populations in Cambodia and supporting the environmental sustainability of maternal health facilities in Nepal. Additionally, Japan's approved supplemental budget for the 2024 fiscal year includes funding to address youth suicide and self-harm, a focus on integrated people-centered health services and strong actions that support the commitment pillars of resilience, equitability, sustainability and inclusivity. Japan has also addressed the provision of integrated people-centered health services through a project in Sierra Leone and its Special Heat Stroke Alert system. Additionally, it has financed and partnered with UNICEF for a polio eradication initiative in Afghanistan, provided funding to improve the resilience of Nepal's health system and supported maternal and child healthcare in Mozambique and Pakistan.

Thus, Japan receives a score of +1.

Russia has partially complied with its commitment to remain committed to building more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems for the provision of integrated people-centered health services, including mental health. Russia has taken strong action to build more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems by increasing the accessibility and availability of healthcare in various regions, expanding the impact of the existing healthcare initiatives, investing in free healthcare for all citizens, with a specific focus on marginalized groups and expanding healthcare resilience in rural areas. Additionally, Russia has allocated substantial funding for clinical care and scientific research on various health conditions, to construct and renovate health facilities including hospitals and health centres and increased funding for the Jewish Autonomous Region. However, it has not taken action for the provision of integrated people-centered health services, including mental health.

Thus, Russia receives a score of 0.

Saudi Arabia has partially complied with its commitment to remain committed to building more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems for the provision of integrated people-centered health services, including mental health. Saudi Arabia has taken strong action to build more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems through funding for 26 health projects focused on vulnerable groups, projects to renovate and open healthcare centers and expand hospitals, agreements with the WHO for malaria, cholera and dialysis treatment and funding for Barbados' healthcare system through the Saudi Fund for Development. It has also established numerous bilateral partnerships for healthcare and launched campaigns for healthy living. However, Saudi Arabia has not taken strong action for the provision of integrated people-centered health services, including mental health.

Thus, Saudi Arabia receives a score of 0.

On 7 July 2025, President Ramaphosa addressed the 17th BRICS Leaders' Summit, highlighting the importance of advancing “inclusive, equitable, innovative and sustainable” healthcare globally.⁶²²⁹ As co-host of the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria's eighth replenishment campaign, President Ramaphosa encouraged members to contribute to the replenishment and increase resource mobilization for global health security and to strengthen health systems.

On 10 July 2025, the federal government distributed ZAR590 million to Western Cape as part of the 2025 budget.⁶²³⁰ This funding will be allocated towards HIV and tuberculosis (TB) initiatives, supporting critical services and ensuring high-quality healthcare for patients.

On 16 July 2025, the Department of Health began distributing 10,500 mpox vaccine doses provided by the African Union's Africa Centres for Disease Control.⁶²³¹ The vaccine, Imvanex®, was approved by the South African Health Products Regulatory Authority and will be given to vulnerable and priority individuals, including pregnant women, children and those with multiple sexual partners. This initiative will help to strengthen South Africa's healthcare amidst increasing mpox cases.

On 22 July 2025, the Department of Health announced it would hold a Tuberculosis Vaccine Country Preparedness Workshop on 23-24 July 2025, to address global TB response and prevention.⁶²³² The program is part of efforts to reduce infectious disease spread and mortality and aligns with the UN's efforts to end TB by 2035.

On 6 August 2025, President Ramaphosa signed the 2025 Appropriation Act into law, after its approval by the National Assembly on 23 July 2025 and National Council of Provinces on 30 July 2025.⁶²³³ Commencing on 8 August 2025, the Act allocates ZAR64,807,212,000 for health during the 2025/2026 financial year, focusing on strengthening health services and ensuring high-quality care for South Africans. Of this, ZAR1,401,187,000 will go towards the National Health Insurance to advance universal health coverage, ZAR25,600,732,000 will be used to address communicable and non-communicable diseases including HIV/AIDS and maternal and child mortality, ZAR3,494,211,000 will be used to strengthen primary healthcare services and ZAR25,771,223,000 will support improvements in the hospital system. These allocations support the commitment's objective to build more resilient, equitable and inclusive health systems.

South Africa has partially complied with its commitment to remain committed to building more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems for the provision of integrated people-centered health services, including mental health. South Africa has taken strong action to build more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems through its HPV vaccination drive, funding for Gauteng's public hospitals, launch of a climate-resilient healthcare project and joint initiative with UNAIDS. It has also taken less strong action towards the provision of mental health services through the Teen Suicide Prevention Week campaign. South Africa has also allocated funding to strengthen health services and ensure high-quality healthcare as part of its federal budget, distributed vaccines for mpox and supported HIV and TB initiatives.

facilities and equipment, focusing on digitization, funding sexual and maternal healthcare including through initiatives to support the end of HIV transmission in England by 2030, freezing prescription prices, providing funding and debt relief to community pharmacies and increasing funding for hospices and general practitioners. In addition, the United Kingdom has announced a pledge for Gavi, allocated funding for sickle cell disease, expanded treatment options for various conditions including type 1 diabetes and anaphylaxis through the MHRA, announced reforms accelerate patient access to medical devices and boosted its support for patients with myalgic encephalomyelitis. It has also supported the provision of integrated people-centered health services through support for community-oriented care through community pharmacies, banning the sale of single use vapes, launching guidance to improve public knowledge of digital mental health technologies, announcing an action plan that addresses men's mental health and supporting mental healthcare at pharmacies.

Thus, the United Kingdom receives a score of +1.

The United States has failed to comply with its commitment to remain committed to building more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems for the provision of integrated people-centered health services, including mental health.

On 21 November 2024, the Health Resources and Services Administration launched a website for the Ryan White Program 2030 which will advance the Ryan White HIV/AIDS Programs.⁶³⁴² This action is meant to focus on intervention and partnerships to end the HIV pandemic in the US.

On 26 November 2024, the Biden-Harris administration proposed a new rule to expand the coverage of anti-obesity medications for those who have Medicare or Medicaid.⁶³⁴³ This expansion is intended to decrease the likelihood of obesity, as this can lead to further risks of other diseases and cancers. It is hoped that the expansion will reduce out of pocket costs by 95 per cent.

On 19 December 2024, President Joe Biden announced the United States' commitment to act against the Mpox virus.⁶³⁴⁴ President Biden reaffirmed the United States' commitment to donating USD500 million and one million vaccine doses for Mpox and announced measures including increasing vaccine accessibility, community outreach and early detection methods to respond to clade I and clade II mpox cases in the US. The US is also increasing testing and treatment capacity.

On 31 December 2024, President Biden announced Medicare's USD2,000 cap on prescription drug costs as a result of the Inflation Reduction Act.⁶³⁴⁵ This cap is meant to increase the number of people that can access and afford quality healthcare.

On 3 September 2025, the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services announced changes to the enrollment processes for Health Savings Accounts, increasing eligibility for Americans.⁶³⁷⁵

On 22 September 2025, the NIH launched the Autism Data Science Initiative to investigate the causes of autism spectrum disorder, as well as its increasing prevalence.⁶³⁷⁶

On 25 September 2025, the NIH announced that it will be launching the Standardized Organoid Modelling Center (SOM).⁶³⁷⁷ The SOM is meant to develop organoid based methodologies to produce patient centered research findings.

On 30 September 2025, the Department of Health and Human Services announced that it will be doubling its funding for the Childhood Cancer Data Initiative.⁶³⁷⁸ This funding is meant to catalyse the development of improved diagnostics, treatments and prevention.

The United States has not complied with its commitment to remain committed to building more resilient, equitable, sustainable and inclusive health systems for the provision of integrated people-centered health services, including mental health. The United States has taken strong action before 20 January 2025 both nationally and internationally to improve people-centered healthcare, prioritizing accessibility. Through RHWAP and Medicare expansion, the United States made substantial investments to advance health systems. However, the United States has taken several actions that are directly antithetical to the commitment since 20 January 2025, including withdrawing from the World Health Organization, withdrawing USAID support for healthcare initiatives, cutting state healthcare funding, eliminating USD1 billion in funding for student mental health, ending funding for Gavi, limiting healthcare access for undocumented individuals and ending mRNA vaccine development activities. While the United States has also taken some positive action, these antithetical actions prevent the United States from building more resilient, sustainable, equitable and inclusive health systems that provide integrated people-centered healthcare, including mental health.

Thus, the United States receives a score of -1 .⁶³⁷⁹

Background

Macroeconomic policy has been featured at the core of G20 commitments since the group’s inception with an initial focus on how to best recover from the 2008 global financial crisis. Since then, the group’s commitments have evolved to match members’ priorities over the almost two decades that have followed. The main focuses of the macroeconomic policy commitment have been on supporting a stable and sustainable ecosystem system through promoting inclusive economic growth, structural reforms, promoting private investment in critical infrastructure and strengthening financial regulations. In 2020, the G20 also agreed to extraordinary measures to deal with the unprecedented economic shocks of the Covid-19 pandemic. Most recently, G20 members have reiterated commitments to fiscal sustainability through increasing productivity at both the New Delhi and Rio de Janeiro summits.

At the 2008 Washington Summit, G20 members paid significant attention to how fiscal policy can accelerate economic recovery following the financial crisis.⁶⁴⁷⁹ Members agreed to pursue a sustainable fiscal policy that aimed to rapidly stimulate domestic demand. Members also agreed to restore emerging and developing countries’ access to credit markets and strengthen private capital flows to those countries.

At the 2009 Pittsburgh Summit, G20 members promised to implement responsible fiscal policies that enabled short-term flexibility and long-term sustainability.⁶⁴⁸⁰ Members also agreed that members with sustained surpluses would pledge to increase domestic growth through methods including raising private investment to boost productivity in the service sector.

At the 2010 Seoul Summit, G20 members endorsed the Seoul Action Plan to facilitate macroeconomic stability.⁶⁴⁸¹ Key commitments of the Action Plan included using fiscal consolidation to ensure ongoing economic recovery and sustainable economic growth, as well as implementing a range of structural reforms that boost and sustain global demand, foster job creation and increase the potential for growth.

At the 2012 Los Cabos Summit, G20 members reaffirmed their support for a sustainable and stable fiscal policy.⁶⁴⁸² Members from the Eurozone agreed to take all necessary measures to manage renewed market tensions in the region, as well as reform financial markets to break the feedback loop between sovereigns and banks. All members also agreed to use their fiscal tools to strengthen global growth, with advanced economies ensuring the pace of fiscal consolidation can support economic recovery. Members also agreed that investments in education, innovation and infrastructure can boost productivity.

At the 2013 St Petersburg Summit, G20 members endorsed the St Petersburg Action Plan.⁶⁴⁸³ Members committed to country-specific policies to boost economic growth and stability. Such actions included reforms to promote investment, measures to enhance productivity and competition, and utilizing fiscal policies to achieve a broad-based rebalancing of global demand.

At the 2016 Hangzhou Summit, G20 members agreed to make fiscal policy and public expenditures more growth-friendly, as well as implement country-specific policies to enhance innovation and productivity.⁶⁴⁸⁴ Members also released a G20 Blueprint on Innovative Growth, which called for structural reforms and deepening interstate cooperation to grow human capital, boost innovation and productivity.⁶⁴⁸⁵

At the 2020 Riyadh Summit, G20 members agreed to implement extraordinary and unprecedented fiscal policies, consistent with the mandates of their governments and central banks, to offset the unprecedented economic shocks caused by the Covid-19 pandemic.⁶⁴⁸⁶

At the 2021 Rome Summit, G20 members committed to maintaining fiscal support measures to sustain global economic recovery while ensuring long-term fiscal sustainability.⁶⁴⁸⁷ Recognizing the uneven pace of economic recovery across countries, members pledged to avoid the premature withdrawal of support measures. Members also emphasized the role of digital transformation in boosting productivity and fostering inclusive economic growth.

At the 2022 Bali Summit, G20 members reaffirmed their commitment to long-term fiscal sustainability while emphasizing the need for agile and flexible macroeconomic policies to address ongoing global challenges, including the Covid-19 pandemic.⁶⁴⁸⁸ They pledged to make strategic public investments to strengthen supply chains, promote trade, and attract private sector investment to support sustained economic growth. Additionally, members acknowledged the role of digital technology in enhancing productivity.

At the 2023 New Delhi Summit, G20 members committed to maintaining medium-term fiscal sustainability while implementing targeted fiscal measures to support vulnerable populations.⁶⁴⁸⁹ They emphasized the role of private enterprise in accelerating growth and pledged to work with the private sector to strengthen global value chains. Members also stressed the importance of supply-side policies that increase labour supply and enhance productivity for economic growth.

At the 2024 Rio de Janeiro Summit, G20 members committed to fiscal policies that safeguard long-term sustainability, rebuild buffers, and remain growth-friendly.⁶⁴⁹⁰ They also pledged to use fiscal measures to encourage public and private investments that enhance productivity.

Commitment Features

This commitment's overarching welfare target is to ensure financial stability by taking action in the following instruments: 1) safeguarding financial sustainability; 2) rebuilding fiscal buffers; 3) maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies; 4) catalyzing public investments for productivity enhancing reforms; and 5) catalyzing private investments for productivity enhancing reforms.

Definitions and Concepts

"Fiscal policy" is defined as "the use of government spending and taxation to influence the economy."⁶⁴⁹¹

"Safeguard" is understood to mean "to protect ... something from harm or destruction."⁶⁴⁹²

"Fiscal sustainability" is understood to be referring to the ability of member states to service their debt obligations and maintain current policies while remaining solvent.⁶⁴⁹³ To safeguard fiscal sustainability, would therefore mean to maintain the ability to service debt obligations while maintaining current policies.

"Productivity enhancing reforms" refers to an improvement or series of improvements to the law, a system or organization to enhance the amount, quality, strength or rate at which a member produces goods.⁶⁴⁹⁴ These reforms "boost technological catch-up, facilitate structural transformation into higher productivity sectors and new activities, and better allocate existing resources in the economy."⁶⁴⁹⁵

General Interpretive Guidelines

This commitment identifies five criteria by which the G20 aims to ensure financial stability by 1) safeguarding financial sustainability; 2) rebuilding fiscal buffers; 3) maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies; 4) catalyzing public investments for productivity enhancing reforms; and 5) catalyzing private investments for productivity enhancing reforms.

Full compliance, or a score of +1, will be given to G20 members that take strong action in at least four of the five components: 1) safeguarding fiscal sustainability, 2) rebuilding fiscal buffers, 3) maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies, 4) catalyzing public investments for productivity enhancing reforms and 5) catalyzing private investments for productivity enhancing reforms. Strong actions include policies that correlate with an increase in public investment for productivity enhancing reforms and diversifying funding strategies to include domestic and international sources.

Partial compliance, or a score of 0, will be assigned to G20 members that take strong action in two or three of the key components or moderate action in four or five key components: 1) safeguarding fiscal sustainability, 2) rebuilding fiscal buffers, 3) maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies, 4) catalyzing public investments for productivity enhancing reforms and 5) catalyzing private investments for productivity enhancing reforms. Moderate actions include verbal affirmations to safeguard fiscal sustainability or participating in meetings without signing meaningful growth-friendly fiscal policy reforms.

Non-compliance, or a score of -1, will be assigned if the G20 member has taken strong or moderate action in only one of the five components: 1) safeguarding fiscal sustainability, 2) rebuilding fiscal buffers, 3) maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies, 4) catalyzing public investments for productivity enhancing reforms and 5) catalyzing private investments for productivity enhancing reforms; or has taken action that is directly and explicitly antithetical to all criteria but “remain growth-friendly.” For actions to be considered antithetical, there must be demonstrated evidence of roll backs on safeguards, buffers or investments. Actions that are antithetical to the commitment also include expanding subsidies without a long-term funding strategy or increasing off-budget spending through bypassing parliamentary oversight.

Scoring Guidelines

-1	The G20 member 1) has taken strong or moderate action in only one of the components of a) safeguarding financial sustainability; b) rebuilding fiscal buffers; c) maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies; d) catalyzing public investments for productivity enhancing reforms; and e) catalyzing private investments for productivity enhancing reforms; or 2) has taken actions directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment but “remain growth-friendly.”
0	The G20 member has taken 1) strong action in two or three of the five components; or 2) moderate action in at least four components.
+1	The G20 member has taken strong action in at minimum of four of the five components.

Argentina has fully complied with its commitment to safeguarding fiscal sustainability and rebuilding buffers, remaining growth-friendly and catalyzing both public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms. It has taken extensive action to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, including increasing government transparency, reducing and restructuring local government debt, closing and merging government agencies, signing agreements with local governments, simplifying tax compliance and reducing bureaucratic burdens, removing currency controls, negotiating with the IMF and the World Bank and dissolving government agencies. Argentina has also taken extensive action to ensure Argentina remains growth-friendly, such as removing currency controls. Argentina has also taken strong action through the Historic Reparation Plan to catalyze private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms. However, Argentina has not taken action in catalyzing public investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms.

Thus, Argentina receives a score of +1.

Australia has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly, and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms.

On 13 December 2024, the Treasurer Jim Chalmers commissioned the Australian Productivity Commission to undertake five inquiries to identify priority reforms under the Government's productivity growth agenda. and the Australian Productivity Commission will formulate actionable recommendations to assist governments to make meaningful and measurable reforms, thereby catalysing public investment for productivity enhancing reforms.⁶⁵²⁰ The five pillars of Australia's productivity growth agenda are: creating a more dynamic and resilient economy, investing in the net zero transformation, building a skilled and adaptable workforce, harnessing data and digital technology and delivering quality care more efficiently.

On 13 December 2024, the government of Australia hosted the second "Specialist Investment Vehicles (SIV) Forum – Protecting and supporting the economic resilience and security of Australia," convening representatives across government departments and SIVs to discuss economic resilience and securing private investment.⁶⁵²¹ The initiative advances growth-friendly fiscal policies through deploying public capital in key sectors to enhance economic productivity. In addition, the focus on utilizing SIVs to mobilize private investment aligns with the criteria of catalyzing private investments for productivity-enhancing reforms.

On 18 December 2024, the Government announced an additional AUD2.5 billion over 11 years from 2024-2025 for investments in a new higher education funding system.⁶⁵²² This will provide more Commonwealth Supported Places and extra support for disadvantaged students while they are undertaking their degrees. These actions help to maintain growth-friendly fiscal policies by strengthening Australia's human capital and building a more skilled and adaptable workforce, which have positive effects on overall productivity growth.

On 13 January 2025, Prime Minister Anthony Albanese announced investment of up to AUD3 billion in equity to complete the rollout of the National Broadband Network (NBN) across Australia.⁶⁵²³ This investment will provide access to faster and more reliable broadband services to a further 622,000 premises, with 54 per cent in regional Australia. As enabling infrastructure, this action helps the Australian economy to expand our use of digital infrastructure and future productive capacity. This investment builds on earlier Government decision in the 2022-23 Budget to invest AUD2.4 billion to expand fibre access and provide high speed internet to 1.5 million premises across Australia, including 660,000 in rural and regional communities. This public investment in expanding Australia's digital capability and infrastructure will support productivity enhancements, especially for regional Australia.

On 17 January 2025, Assistant Secretary of Regulatory Reform in the Department of Finance Kelly Wood participated in the 31st session of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) where she advanced Australia's regulatory reform agenda through learning from and sharing international regulatory cooperation and best-practices.⁶⁵²⁴ This advances growth-friendly fiscal policies by cutting unnecessary or duplicative costs for regulation and catalyzes private investments for productivity-enhancing reforms by reducing cost pressures for businesses.⁶⁵²⁵

On 20 January 2025, the Australian Government invested AUD2 billion in the aluminum industry.⁶⁵²⁶ This investment aims to foster growth in the aluminum industry.

On 23 January 2025, the Australian Government provided an additional AUD2 billion to the Clean Energy Finance Corporation.⁶⁵²⁷ This funding aims to grow the Australian renewable energy sector to bolster Australia's economic growth potential.

On 25 March 2025, the government of Australia delivered its 2025 budget.⁶⁵²⁸ The budget seeks to increase economic resilience and ensure sustainable growth through tax cuts, and new spending in Medicare, energy relief and assistance to low-income households. The budget reaffirmed the Government's Economic and Fiscal Strategy, including the commitment to improve the budget position in a measured way, consistent with the overarching goal of reducing gross debt as a share of the economy over time. The budget deficit was AUD1.6 billion lower over the five years to 2028-29, as compared with the previous budget update. These budget improvements have rebuilt fiscal buffers to help manage future economic shocks and safeguard overall fiscal sustainability.

On 3 June 2025, the Australian Government endorsed a 3.5 per cent increase to the national minimum wage and award wages, effective 1 July 2025. The rise lifts the minimum wage to AUD25.10 per hour and is expected to benefit up to 2.9 million workers.⁶⁵²⁹ This increase aims to ensure Australia remains growth-friendly in response to cost-of-living pressures by assisting workers.

drive economic growth, support productivity-enhancing reforms and maintain safeguards while enhancing opportunities associated with emerging technologies.

On 22 October 2025, Minister Gallagher announced new rules for Australian business procurement prioritisation.⁶⁵³⁸ The announcement outlined restrictions on tenders below AUD125,000 and AUD7.5 million for construction to local firms, updated the AusTender with a new Supplier Portal and introduced public registers to better identify and support small-and-medium enterprises, First Nations and women-owned businesses.

Australia has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms. Australia has taken strong action to ensure its economy remains growth friendly through the 2025 budget, supporting investments in the clean energy and aluminum sectors, lifting the minimum wage and raising social security payments, and announcing subsidies. Australia has also taken strong action to safeguard fiscal sustainability and catalyze public investment towards productivity-enhancing reforms by increasing the employer's mandatory superannuation contributions and the First Nations Economic Partnership. Australia has also taken action to catalyze private investments for productivity enhancement reforms at the 31st session of the OECD.

Thus, Australia receives a score of +1.

On 19 August 2025, the Ministry of Transport met with representatives from China Communications Construction Company to discuss potential collaboration and investment opportunities in Brazilian railways.⁶⁵⁷⁷

On 29 August 2025, President Lula submitted his proposed 2026 Budget.⁶⁵⁷⁸ The Budget calls for raising the minimum wage, guaranteed constitutional minimum resources for health and education, and contributions to social programs, public safety, science, technology and the environment, while also making investments into state-owned enterprises to promote economic growth. The Budget also aims to be fiscally sustainable by returning a fiscal surplus.

On 1 October 2025, the Chamber of Deputies approved legislation that increases the tax exemption bracket up to BRL5,000 per month.⁶⁵⁷⁹ The legislation will eliminate the income tax for over 10 million Brazilians.

On 9 October 2025, the Government of Brazil announced BRL611.7 million in new investments to construct 80 ferries to expand activities in the naval and waterway sectors.⁶⁵⁸⁰ These investments aim to promote growth in the naval and waterway sectors.

Brazil has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remaining growth-friendly and catalyzing both public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms, taking strong action in three out of the five commitment areas. Brazil has taken strong action to safeguard financial stability and rebuild fiscal buffers through bilateral meetings, proposing a new budget and debt repayments. In addition, Brazil implemented new laws to reform tax rules for innovation in the automobile and energy sector, as well as investing through government programs, to maintain growth-friendly fiscal policies, as well as fueling growth in the digital services sector through public investments. Brazil has also taken strong action to catalyze both public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms, especially in the agricultural sector, through the NIB, its partnership with the Amapá Institute, PRONISAF and the Harvest Plan.

Thus, Brazil receives a score of +1.

an enhanced Scientific Research and Experimental Development tax credit, delivering CAD26 billion in tax incentives to help businesses grow, innovate and create good jobs, particularly by making research and development credits more generous for high-growth firms. The plan also proposed removing barriers to private investment to crowd in private capital and boost domestic investment in sectors like AI and infrastructure.

On 16 December 2024, the 2024 Fall Economic Statement was formally released, detailing a balance of fiscal prudence and growth measures.⁶⁵⁸² The FES introduced growth-friendly fiscal policies, notably a five-year extension of the Accelerated Investment Incentive, providing CAD17.4 billion in tax relief to spur business investment. This extended accelerated depreciation measure is expected to unlock new investment opportunities and create jobs and growth by encouraging companies to invest in Canada's productivity and capacity.

On 7 January 2025, Natural Resources Canada announced CAD11 million in funding to advance clean fuels technology, aiming to strengthen Canada's clean and alternative fuels sector.⁶⁵⁸³ The investment supports projects and studies that will help shift high-emitting industries to affordable low-carbon fuels and accelerate the development of new energy sources like hydrogen. These initiatives aim to enable private sector innovation, thereby catalyzing private investment in a more sustainable and productive energy economy.

On 27 January 2025, a joint federal-Yukon initiative was launched to bolster entrepreneurship and investment in the North.⁶⁵⁸⁴ The Government of Canada and Yukon announced CAD558,800 over three years to establish the Yukon Venture Angels private capital network, which will connect local businesses with angel investors. By developing an investor ecosystem that provides startups with funding, mentorship and networks, this project will facilitate private investment in Yukon companies. The goal is to help small and medium-sized enterprises expand and innovate, fostering sustainable growth in the territory.

On 29 January 2025, Minister of Natural Resources Jonathan Wilkinson announced an investment of CAD13.4 million in Alberta-based clean technology projects to reduce industrial emissions while driving economic growth.⁶⁵⁸⁵ The funding supports Alberta innovators in developing cutting-edge carbon capture and storage technologies. These projects aim to cut pollution, enhance competitiveness and ensure long-term prosperity, helping industry reduce emissions more efficiently and positioning Canada's resource sector for sustainable growth. This public investment is intended to stimulate further industry and private-sector innovation in clean tech, aligning environmental goals with productivity and job creation.

On 31 January 2025, Minister of Finance Dominic LeBlanc announced a deferral of a planned capital gains tax increase to keep Canada's tax policy growth friendly.⁶⁵⁸⁶ The government postponed the effective date of raising the capital gains inclusion rate to 1 January 2026, thereby temporarily avoiding a higher tax burden on investors and businesses. In addition, to protect middle-class investors once the change takes effect, the government will maintain key capital gains exemptions and introduce a new CAD250,000 annual gains threshold per individual, under which the current lower inclusion rate will still apply. These adjustments ensure that the eventual tax changes are implemented in a way that safeguards fiscal sustainability while encouraging investment and entrepreneurship in the near term.

On 1 February 2025, Minister LeBlanc and Foreign Minister Mélanie Joly announced a CAD155 billion tariff package with 25 per cent tariffs in response to U.S. tariffs imposed on Canadian goods.⁶⁵⁸⁷

On 14 February 2025, Deputy Minister of Finance Chris Forbes hosted a briefing session with Canadian industry and labour stakeholders, and representatives from the government on Canada-U.S. economic issues.⁶⁵⁸⁸ This initiative rebuilds fiscal buffers through proactive U.S. tariff preparation, maintains growth-friendly policies through measures like the Border Plan and ensures Canadian businesses are supported and private-sector investment confidence upheld.

On 21 February 2025, the Government of Canada priced a CAD2 billion seven-year Canadian-dollar-denominated green bond.⁶⁵⁸⁹ This initiative aligns with the criteria of catalyzing public and private investments for productivity-enhancing reforms as the proceeds from the green bond finances projects in the environmental and clean energy expenditures.

On 4 March 2025, Minister LeBlanc and Minister Joly announced a tariff package including 25 per cent tariffs on CAD155 billion of imported goods in response to U.S. tariffs.⁶⁵⁹⁰ This initiative rebuilds fiscal buffers during an external shock and safeguards domestic industries to preserve jobs and manufacturing capacity.

On 12 March 2025, Minister LeBlanc, Minister Joly and Minister of Innovation, Science and Industry François-Philippe Champagne responded to 25 per cent U.S. tariffs on Canadian steel and aluminum products by issuing a 25 per cent reciprocal tariff.⁶⁵⁹¹ The reciprocal tariffs function as a buffer to reinforce fiscal resilience. Further, the policy protects Canadian manufacturing jobs and reduces cost pressures, thereby maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies.

On 12 March 2025, the Government of Canada issued a five-year USD3.5 billion global bond to bolster and diversify Canada's foreign reserves.⁶⁵⁹² This initiative safeguards financial sustainability by leveraging strong investor confidence in US-dollar global bonds, managing Canada's debt and boosting the domestic economy. Further, proceeds from the bond "supplement and diversify Canada's liquid foreign reserves," thereby building a buffer to absorb external shocks.

On 22 March 2025, Minister of Finance and National Revenue François-Philippe Champagne and Minister of Innovation, Science and Industry Mélanie Joly announced the launch of a 30-day consultation on trade measures to prevent diversion of steel products into Canada as a result of U.S.-enacted trade measures.⁶⁵⁹³ This initiative rebuilds fiscal buffers to protect domestic steel production and stabilize government revenue amid global market shocks. In addition, the maintenance of growth-friendly fiscal policies aims to preserve jobs and prevent cost inflation.

On 23 March 2025, Prime Minister Carney met with regional premiers to discuss economic issues.⁶⁵⁹⁴ During the meeting, Prime Minister Carney promised several fiscal measures, such as deferring corporate income tax payments and GST/HST remittances, providing more funding to regional development agencies and a total of CAD375 million in new investments for projects. These fiscal measures aim to ensure long-term economic growth.

On 4 April 2025, the Department of Finance hosted a briefing session with industry and labour stakeholders, and government representatives on Canada-U.S. economic issues related to Canada's response to U.S. tariffs.⁶⁵⁹⁵ The CAD40 billion liquidity support functions as a fiscal buffer ahead of potential shocks to the economy. Furthermore, the EI Work-Sharing Program adjustments and deferral of tax remittances maintain growth-friendly fiscal policies through sustaining employment and economic competitiveness.

On 15 April 2025, Minister Champagne announced new measures supporting Canadian businesses and entities affected by U.S. tariffs imposed on Canadian products.⁶⁵⁹⁶ The “performance-based remission” framework offsets countermeasure tariffs align with the criteria of maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies. Additionally, Minister Champagne highlighted the introduction of the Large Enterprise Tariff Loan Facility in March provides liquidity for businesses experiencing financial burdens due to trade disputes, functioning as a fiscal buffer to stabilize the Canadian economy.

On 14 May 2025, Minister Champagne announced a tax cut on middle class Canadians, reducing the lowest marginal personal income tax rate from 15 to 14 per cent.⁶⁵⁹⁷ This initiative aligns with the criteria of maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies by easing the tax burden on nearly 22 million Canadians, enhancing consumption and productivity.

On 22 May 2025, the G7 Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors along with representatives from the International Monetary Fund, World Bank Group, Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development and Financial Stability Board reiterated their commitment to addressing the “global economic and financial situation.”⁶⁵⁹⁸ The ministers and representatives further committed to maintaining a “balanced and growth-oriented macroeconomic policy mix” and facilitating private-sector investment for development and economic productivity goals.

On 27 May 2025, the Department of Finance tabled a Ways and Means Motion to eliminate the five per cent goods and services tax (GST) on new homes for up to CAD1 million for first-time buyers, with partial relief on homes up to CAD1.5 million.⁶⁵⁹⁹ The policy aims to boost housing affordability and construction, ultimately supporting economic growth.

On 27 May 2025, the Department of Finance formally repealed the federal consumer carbon tax, effective 1 April 2025, to lower fuel and heating costs and ease inflation.⁶⁶⁰⁰ While carbon pricing remains for large emitters, the repeal aims to ensure Canada remains growth-friendly by addressing cost-of-living issues associated with the tax.

On 2 June 2025, Prime Minister Carney and other Canadian First Ministers met to discuss economic issues.⁶⁶⁰¹ The First Ministers agreed to invest in nation-building infrastructure projects to boost productivity and ensure economic growth.

On 9 June 2025, Prime Minister Mark Carney unveiled a CAD9 billion defence spending increase for FY 2025–26, bringing Canada’s military budget to two per cent of GDP.⁶⁶⁰² The funding expands military pay, procurement, and R&D in areas like AI and cyber, aiming to spur innovation and jobs while enhancing security. To maintain fiscal sustainability, the government aims to offset costs through spending reallocations and ministry savings of 7.5 to 15 per cent over three years.

On 29 June 2025, Canada repealed its planned Digital Services Tax (DST), halting the three per cent levy on large tech firms set for 30 June 2025.⁶⁶⁰³ The move supports trade talks with the U.S. and avoids retaliatory tariffs, fostering a stable investment climate for the tech sector. Thus, the repeal aims to ensure the tech sector remains growth-friendly.

On 30 June 2025, Prime Minister Carney announced a middle-class tax cut.⁶⁶⁰⁴ The tax cut aims to enable average annual savings of CAD840 for middle-class families, resulting in a total of CAD22 million annually for Canadians. The tax cuts aim to offer financial relief, strengthen the resilience of the Canadian economy and ensure long-term growth and sustainability.

Canada has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability, remain growth-friendly and catalyze investment in productivity-enhancing reforms. Canada has taken strong action to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers through a deferral on the capital gains tax, adjusting spending in other areas to account for an increase in defence spending and implementing major tax cuts and reforms. Canada has also taken strong action to ensure the country remains growth friendly, such as through Accelerated Investment Incentive, public investments in clean fuels and federal partnerships with Yukon, tax cuts and tax suspensions, increased defence spending, and public investments in culture and housing. Canada has also taken action to direct public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms through the SR&ED tax credit, policies from the FES and investments in the clean energy and fuel sector, the agriculture sector, as well as investments in AI and job training. Canada has taken strong action to safeguard financial stability, maintain growth-friendly fiscal policies, catalyze public and private investments for productivity enhancing reforms and rebuild fiscal buffers.

Thus, Canada receives a score of +1.

On 12 August 2025, the Ministry of Finance announced that eligible service sector businesses will benefit from a new loan interest subsidy policy action plan.⁶⁶⁴⁴ The loan interest subsidy policy action plan aims to help service sector businesses in the categories of healthcare, elderly care, childcare, sports and tourism, housekeeping, catering and accommodation, culture and entertainment.

On 13 August 2025, China was able to complete the issuance of ultra-long special treasury bonds.⁶⁶⁴⁵ The ultra-long special treasury bonds will support large-scale equipment upgrades across key sectors.

On 24 September 2025, China unveiled a package of measures which aims to boost service exports and promote the high-quality development of trade in services, including export credits and improving the efficiency of applying for export tax rebates.⁶⁶⁴⁶ This package contributes to promoting growth.

On 28 September 2025, the Ministry of Finance and the Ministry of Commerce released a notice on the development of an International Consumer Environment.⁶⁶⁴⁷ The notice highlighted that the Ministry of Finance and the Ministry of Commerce will implement relevant decisions and arrangements to create an international consumer environment, enhance the convenience and comfort of inbound consumption. These aims will be accomplished through a variety of methods, including reducing wasteful spending and offering fiscal assistance, thus contributing to fiscal sustainability and promoting growth.

On 30 September 2025, China finalized CNY300 billion for the consumer-goods trade-ins program.⁶⁶⁴⁸ These ultra-long, special treasury bonds aim to revive domestic demand with 330 million consumers already claiming trade-in subsidies between January and August 2025.

China has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms. China has taken action to safeguard fiscal sustainability through reforms to state-owned asset management and tax reforms. China has also taken action to ensure the country remains growth-friendly through consumption vouchers, setting up venture capital funds, continuing ultra-long special treasury bonds, announcing new policies to boost consumer spending, cutting policy rates and reserve requirement ratios and boosting service exports. It has also taken steps to rebuild fiscal buffers, maintain growth-friendly fiscal policies and catalyzing private investments for productivity enhancing reforms (PER).

Thus, China receives a score of +1.

On 3 December 2024, France pledged EUR700 million to promote the electrification of the automotive industry.⁶⁶⁴⁹ EUR4000, EUR3000 and EUR2000 will be allocated as “ecological [bonuses]” for low-income, middle-income and well-off citizens, respectively, to promote interest in transitioning to electric vehicles. This action supports the growth of the electric vehicle industry.

On 17 December 2024, France paid aid benefits to recipients of the active solidarity income, the specific solidarity allowance and the retirement equivalent allowance.⁶⁶⁵⁰ This aid supports low-income households in paying expenses and promotes increased consumption of and investment in productive activity.

On 31 December 2024, Prime Minister François Bayrou pledged that “specific measures” would materially and financially support the fishing and agricultural sectors.⁶⁶⁵¹ This action supports the country’s commitment to remaining “growth-friendly” to businesses in these sectors.

On 1 January 2025, France adopted the 2025 Finance Act. This action will support the continuity of public services until such time that the initial finance law for 2025 will be approved.⁶⁶⁵² Overseas waste taxation for businesses will remain at its current value instead of increasing as planned, reducing costs and promoting business activity.

On 1 January 2025, France abolished the advanced payment system of non-road agricultural diesel. Excise duties will remain at their original level until the Parliamentary vote in June 2025.⁶⁶⁵³ This allows businesses in the agricultural, forestry and other related sectors to continue operating at current costs, thereby improving chances for future growth.

On 1 January 2025, France renewed the tax regimes in Urban Free Zones and Priority City Neighbourhoods as applied to businesses in 2024. This allows business costs to remain at their current level, thereby improving chances for future growth.⁶⁶⁵⁴

On 1 January 2025, France pledged tax incentive measures to support agricultural businesses, such as a EUR100,000 increase in revenue thresholds generated and the possibility of dispersing the transfer of company rights or shares to income tax in the event of young farmers acquiring the business.⁶⁶⁵⁵ This promotes business activity by young farmers in the agricultural sector.

On 26 May 2025, France announced a plan to promote the decarbonization of the maritime sector and support the development of and transition into renewable maritime energy.⁶⁶⁷⁰ Notably, EUR90 million of revenues in 2026 will be redirected from the European carbon market into decarbonization, and the 2026 Finance Bill will outline a tax rate change for small and medium enterprises for investments in fully decarbonized vessels. The plan also outlines the continuation and launch of renewable energy research and transitions. This project maintains current productivity levels while supporting growth in the maritime sector and decarbonization industry.

On 6 June 2025, the Interministerial Committee for Cities agreed on a course of action to improve residents' lives in "priority neighbourhoods" across the country.⁶⁶⁷¹ The third pillar of the project highlights investments in economic growth, including the acceleration of business creation through a fund of EUR60 million and EUR150 million in micro-credit loans. This promotes economic growth in priority neighbourhoods.

On 20 June 2025, Prime Minister Bayrou affirmed the continuation of the "France Ruralités" plan, supporting the ongoing funding of rural economies.⁶⁶⁷² The plan promotes trade development, commercial diversification and targets the economic sustainability of drinking establishments. This action supports business growth in rural communities.

On 27 June 2025, France signed the Financiers' Pact, outlining the EUR2.8 billion budget for the 2030 French Alps Olympic Games.⁶⁶⁷³ This pact highlights EUR2 billion for the Organizing Committee and EUR800 million for infrastructure investments. "Rigorous spending control mechanisms" will also be enacted to ensure budget compliance. This reaffirms France's commitment to safeguarding fiscal sustainability and catalyzing investments towards productivity enhancement.

On 27 June 2025, France announced the development of the "Ambition Jeux 2030 État-Régions" Legacy Plan.⁶⁶⁷⁴ One of the Plan's key objectives is to strengthen "economic attractiveness" within the Alps region, supporting local businesses and industries relevant to the Olympic Games. This promotes economic growth and productivity.

On 15 July 2025, Prime Minister Bayrou announced the Government's plan to simplify processes and remove obstacles for businesses to address corporate needs, as well as allocate an additional EUR900 million in business investment.⁶⁶⁷⁵ Funding from the France 2030 Plan will also be redirected towards "priority" sectors that are rapidly developing, providing important jobs by 2035. This will improve competitiveness in financing and encourage national business growth.

On 11 September 2025, France announced a new EUR1,000 subsidy for every purchase of an electric vehicle (EV) assembled in Europe and equipped with European-made batteries.⁶⁶⁷⁶ This is on top of an existing EUR4,200 grant amount for European battery-powered EVs, bringing the total amount households are eligible for to EUR5,200. The subsidy promotes growth and productivity in the French EV industry.

On 23 September 2025, Prime Minister Sébastien Lecornu suspended state communication spending until the end of 2025 to reallocate resources towards “public policies that have a direct impact on citizens.”⁶⁶⁷⁷ This reaffirms France’s commitment to safeguarding fiscal sustainability and rebuilding buffers.

On 29 September 2025, Prime Minister Lecornu announced that there would be no increase in operating resources for all services and administrations under the Prime Minister’s mandate, aside from projects relating to defence and national security, in 2026.⁶⁶⁷⁸ This action aims to funnel funding towards productivity-enhancing programs and safeguards fiscal sustainability.

France has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly, and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms. France has committed to safeguarding fiscal sustainability and rebuilding fiscal buffers through policies that reduces its budget deficit, such as renewing tax regimes, resuming the taxation of multinational company credits, implementing exceptional turnover taxes, suspending communication on spending and pausing increases in operational resources for services. France has also taken extensive action to implement growth-friendly fiscal policies, such as pledging government funds for electric vehicles, the fishing, agriculture, renewable energy, healthcare sectors, businesses, decarbonization and Olympic-related sector. France has also taken strong action to catalyze public investments towards productivity enhancing reforms through aid benefits and support for disabled workers and the budget for the Olympic Games.

Thus, France receives a score of +1.

Germany has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly, and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity enhancing reforms.

On 22 November 2024, Germany introduced the Tax Reform Act with business-oriented incentives to take effect in 2025.⁶⁶⁷⁹ The Act provides an increase in research funding and improved options for offsetting taxable income, allowing private companies to invest further. “Tax-privileged” non-profit organizations will also have greater flexibility in commenting on current social affairs without risking the loss of the “tax-privileged” status. This action promotes business growth across the country.

On 2 December 2024, the German parliament passed the Annual Tax Act 2024.⁶⁶⁸⁰ The Act instituted wide-ranging reforms on asset transfers, corporate taxes and various other taxes, aiming to safeguard fiscal sustainability through enhanced revenue collection.

On 20 January 2025, Federal Finance Minister Jörg Kukies presented a two-year moratorium providing relief for companies subject to the Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive, notably small and medium-sized enterprises, to research and repeal inconsistencies.⁶⁶⁸¹ This proposal signifies moderate action in maintaining and promoting corporate growth.

On 10 March 2025, Minister Kukies supported a reduction in bureaucracy for “market participants.”⁶⁶⁸² This action verbally reaffirms Germany’s commitment to maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies.

On 25 March 2025, Germany released a fiscal package with accompanying amendments to Germany’s Basic Law that outcomes defence expenditure, special funds for infrastructure development and aligning structural borrowing with federal debt rules.⁶⁶⁸³ The defence expenditure and spending on civil protection, intelligence services, protection of IT systems and support for states attacked in violation of international law, which in total exceeds one per cent of gross domestic product (GDP) as exempt from Germany’s debt brake rules. Further, the package outlines the establishment of a special fund for infrastructure of up to EUR500 billion with investments in key areas such as energy, transport infrastructure and education. In light of higher investment needs and limited fiscal space, the Länder (the constituent federal states of Germany) are granted limited scope for structural new borrowing amounting to 0.35 per cent of the GDP, in line with debt rules applicable to the federal government.

On 14 May 2025, Chancellor Friedrich Merz voiced a plan for Germany’s economic growth through public and private investment.⁶⁶⁸⁴ The Federal Government aims to “reduce bureaucracy quickly and tangibly; simplify the development of start-up [enterprises]; and promote cutting-edge technology.”

On 22 May 2025, the G7 Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors along with representatives from the International Monetary Fund, World Bank Group, Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development and Financial Stability Board reiterated their commitment to addressing the “global economic and financial situation.”⁶⁶⁸⁵ The ministers and representatives further committed to maintaining a “balanced and growth-oriented macroeconomic policy mix” and facilitating private-sector investment for development and economic productivity goals.

On 4 June 2025, Germany adopted a draft law for a tax investment program aiming to provide a boost for “growth-generating investments.”⁶⁶⁸⁶ The law includes the adoption of declining balance depreciation for investments, especially for companies using electric vehicles in business operations, a gradual corporate tax rate reduction and a greater research allowance for corporate research and development. These actions provide incentive for business growth and catalyze both public and private investment in increasing productivity.

On 6 June 2025, Germany agreed to comply with new military capability targets within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), including an increase in defence spending, the expansion of industrial capacity and the acquisition of equipment and weapons systems.⁶⁶⁸⁷ This action catalyzes public investment towards productivity-enhancing reforms in the military defence sector.

On 4 July 2025, the government set a goal to reduce energy prices and electricity taxes for manufacturing, agriculture and forestry companies.⁶⁶⁸⁸ The gradual tax cut, beginning in 2026, allows eligible companies to reallocate revenue towards growth enhancement.

On 16 July 2025, the government officially adopted a medium-term fiscal policy plan highlighting a significant increase in government spending, stronger growth initiatives and a defence spending exemption rule.⁶⁶⁸⁹ This action maintains a growth-friendly environment and catalyzes public investment towards enhancing productivity.

On 30 July 2025, the government adopted the draft for the 2026 budget and the fiscal plan to 2029.⁶⁶⁹⁰ The budget invests EUR126.7 billion and restructures corporate tax policies. The budget also demands stricter review of government functions and spending and requires new projects to be approved based on the availability of funds. The budget aims to boost economic growth while remaining fiscally sustainable.

On 6 August 2025, the government drafted a new law to accelerate national public procurement processes.⁶⁶⁹¹ This law provides companies further incentives to participate in public procurement, thereby increasing the benefits for the companies most hired through procurement, notably small-to-medium enterprises. This supports business growth and catalyzes public and private investment in productivity.

On 10 September 2025, the Federal Cabinet passed the Location Promotion Act, geared towards making Germany a strong business location.⁶⁶⁹² The bill focuses on three areas: easing capital market access for small-to-medium enterprises and start-ups, improving the tax framework to incentivize investment in infrastructure and renewable energies, and reducing unnecessary bureaucratic red tape. These actions stimulate economic participation from businesses and investors, generating increased public and private investment in productivity.

On 17 September 2025, Chancellor Merz emphasized the need for welfare reform, detailing a change from the current unemployment payment model to a new basic income.⁶⁶⁹³ He claims the first steps towards this reform are already in the works. This action supports consumer investment in German businesses by supplementing household income.

On 17 September 2025, Chancellor Merz reaffirmed Germany's commitment to investing, including through a corporate taxation reform to induce investment and promote itself as a growing business hub.⁶⁶⁹⁴ This increases private and public investment in the economy and promotes growth.

On 1 October 2025, the Federal Government passed two important policies regarding energy supply: a fusion energy action plan and the Hydrogen Acceleration Act.⁶⁶⁹⁵ These strategies aim to support the development of fusion energy power plants and decarbonization. This encourages a national shift towards sustainable energy and fosters the longevity of business sectors.

Germany has fully complied with its commitment to safeguarding fiscal sustainability and rebuilding fiscal sustainability buffers, remaining growth-friendly and catalyzing both public and private investment towards productivity-enhancing reforms. Germany has taken strong action to safeguard financial stability through the Annual Tax Act, medium-term fiscal policies, the 2026 budget, the fiscal plan to 2029 and calling for welfare and tax reform. Germany has also taken strong action in maintaining growth-friendly fiscal policies to ensure its economy remains growth-friendly through the Tax Reform Act, the Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive, the Location Promotion Act, reducing bureaucracy and new spending. Germany has also taken strong action to catalyze public and private investments towards productivity enhancing reforms through its new draft tax law and compliance with new NATO capacity targets.

Thus, Germany receives a score of +1.

On 7 August 2025, Coordinating Minister Hartarto stated that the government will maintain economic growth by supporting household consumption and investment.⁶⁷³⁰ He announced the continuation of government-borne value added tax for home purchases up to IDR2 billion until the end of 2025. He also introduced a revolving microcredit scheme to expand housing finance for micro, small and medium enterprise (MSME) contractors.

On 15 August 2025, President Prabowo Subianto presented the 2026 State Budget Bill, projecting a deficit of 2.48 per cent of GDP and pledging to reduce inefficient spending over time.⁶⁷³¹ He outlined plans to increase tax revenue, improve returns on state assets, and reform state-owned enterprises by limiting bonuses and reducing excessive appointments. To support growth and encourage investment in key sectors, he announced IDR402.4 trillion for energy security and IDR335 trillion for the Free Nutritious Meal program, which also benefits farmers, fishers and MSMEs. He added that public investment would be complemented by Danantara and targeted fiscal incentives to strengthen Indonesia's role in global supply chains.

On 2 October 2025, Cabinet Secretary Teddy Indra Wijaya stated that the government will ensure its 2025 economic stimulus package reaches targeted groups and is implemented efficiently across ministries.⁶⁷³² Coordinating Minister for Economic Affairs Airlangga Hartarto announced that additional stimulus will be disbursed in the fourth quarter to boost growth and support over 30 million lower-income families.

Indonesia has partially complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms. Indonesia has taken strong action to safeguard financial stability through VAT reforms, the RKP, growth targets, tax compliance reforms, key budgetary strategies, the 2026 Budget Bill and issuing bonds. Indonesia has also maintained growth-friendly fiscal policies through VAT reforms, fiscal support for the WtE sector, cash transfers, subsidies, infrastructure projects, new strategies from the cabinet and economic stimulus. However, Indonesia has not taken steps to advance rebuilding fiscal buffers and catalyzing public and private investments for productivity enhancing reforms.

Thus, Indonesia receives a score of 0.

On 22 November 2024, the Ministry of Business and Made in Italy announced EUR15 million in grants earmarked for female entrepreneurs leading micro and small business.⁶⁷³³ Supporting underrepresented demographics in business facilitates diversification, innovation and otherwise untapped economic growth.

On 13 December 2024, the Minister of Enterprise and Made in Italy Adolfo Urso signed the decree “Support for industrial research and experimental development projects of strategic importance for the production system,” which allocates EUR400 million towards investment into the technological sector.⁶⁷³⁴ These subsidies will stimulate innovation and economic productivity.

On 20 December 2024, the Council of Ministers approved changes to the financial year 2025’s state budget forecast, including reductions in income tax and increased support for private investment and public infrastructure.⁶⁷³⁵ The measures broadly increase the wealth of consumers and spur investment activity, contributing to greater economic growth.

On 30 December 2024, the Ministry of Business and Made in Italy issued a directive to invest EUR250 million from the Fund for Development and Cohesion into the “Special Economic Zone (ZES Unica), including the territories of the Regions of Abruzzo, Basilicata, Calabria, Campania, Molise, Puglia, Sicily and Sardinia.”⁶⁷³⁶ Resources will support companies in financing projects related to research, development and innovation in order to foster economic development and growth of Southern Italy.

On 14 January 2025, the Council of Ministers approved the first bill on Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs).⁶⁷³⁷ The bill introduces new measures to strengthen Italian micro, small and medium-sized enterprises, incentivize aggregation and innovation of the production system through improving access to credit and reducing tax burdens. This bill aims to ensure the Italian economy remains growth-friendly.

On 26 March 2025, the Department of Treasury released the government bond issuance program for the second quarter of 2025 with updated “public debt issuance, the macroeconomic and public finance frameworks.”⁶⁷³⁸ The scheduled issuance of medium to long-term bonds, manages a debt with a gross volume of EUR225-245 billion, safeguarding financial sustainability and shielding the debt structure from external shocks.

On 23 April 2025, the Ministry of Economy and Finance announced a EUR8.8 billion issuance of BTP Italia (a government bond) with a maturity of seven years, taking place from 27 May 2025 to 30 May 2025.⁶⁷³⁹ The initiative helps stabilize Italy's debt profile and reduces inflation-related risks.

On 22 May 2025, the G7 Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors along with representatives from the International Monetary Fund, World Bank Group, Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development and Financial Stability Board reiterated their commitment to addressing the “global economic and financial situation.”⁶⁷⁴⁰ The ministers and representatives further committed to maintaining a “balanced and growth-oriented macroeconomic policy mix” and facilitating private-sector investment for development and economic productivity goals.

On 23 July 2025, the Interministerial Committee for Economic Planning and Sustainable Development (CIPESS) approved a series of measures focused on cohesion policies.⁶⁷⁴¹ These approved measures included updates to the National Strategy for Internal Areas and amendments to regional operational programmes. In addition, CIPESS allocated resources for the NUVV Fund to support public investment evaluation units in 2025 and updated the criteria governing the fund from 2026 onwards.

On 24 September 2025, the CIPESS approved a series of cohesion-policy measures including funding allocations, transport projects and Revolving Fund resources, raising its overall commitment to EUR425.85 million.⁶⁷⁴²

On 31 October 2025, the government signed seven new agreements with national ministries, unlocking EUR3.4 billion in investments funded through the 2021-2027 Development and Cohesion Fund as well as co-financing to reduce regional disparities and support development in strategic sectors.⁶⁷⁴³ The agreements channel resources into agriculture and innovation, environment and energy projects, cultural heritage, digital infrastructure and tourism as a part of Italy's advancements of its cohesion-policy reform.

Italy has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms. Italy has taken strong action to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers by auctioning bonds. Italy has also taken strong actions to ensure the country remains growth friendly through grants to female entrepreneurs, state budget forecast, SMEs and ZESs. Italy has also taken action to enhance productivity through subsidies for industrial research, experimental development projects and agreements to channel resources into strategic sectors.

Thus, Italy receives a score of +1.

Japan has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly, and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity enhancing reforms.

On 22 November 2024, the Japanese government approved a JPY39 trillion economic stimulus package aimed at boosting individual income and promoting economic growth.⁶⁷⁴⁴ The package provided support for rising energy costs, digital innovation and assisting low-income households, aiming to prevent a deflationary spiral and sustain economic growth.

On 20 December 2024, Prime Minister Shigeru Ishiba announced plans to allocate over JPY10 trillion in public funding to the AI and semiconductor sectors.⁶⁷⁴⁵ This initiative aims to bolster private and public investment, increase economic security and enhance productivity.

On 27 December 2024, the Government of Japan approved a JPY115.5 trillion draft budget for FY2025.⁶⁷⁴⁶ Higher tax revenues will increase new bond issuance, easing reliance on debt and debt financing bonds are set to drop by roughly JPY7 trillion, encouraging fiscal discipline.

On 28 February 2025, Finance Minister Katsunobu Kato delivered a fiscal policy speech introducing the FY2025 tax reform outline, which included targeted changes to the personal income tax system and investment incentives.⁶⁷⁴⁷ These tax policy changes are designed to catalyze public and private investments toward productivity-enhancing reforms, demonstrating compliance with the government's commitment to pairing revenue strategy with growth-supportive measures.

On 12 May 2025, Prime Minister Ishiba publicly rejected proposals to cut Japan's consumption tax rate.⁶⁷⁴⁸ This action aligns with the policy goal of safeguarding fiscal sustainability, as it prioritizes preserving tax revenue to fund critical long-term obligations rather than pursuing politically expedient tax cuts.

On 14 May 2025, Prime Minister Ishiba's panel proposed a JPY60 trillion public-private investment initiative for small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs).⁶⁷⁴⁹

On 20 May 2025, the Japanese government allocated JPY10 billion to enhance nuclear fusion research institutes, aiming to accelerate fusion energy development by the 2030s.⁶⁷⁵⁰ This public investment supports long-term productivity-enhancing reforms.

On 22 May 2025, the G7 Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors along with representatives from the International Monetary Fund, World Bank Group, Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development and Financial Stability Board reiterated their commitment to addressing the "global economic and financial situation."⁶⁷⁵¹ The ministers and representatives further committed to maintaining a "balanced and growth-

On 28 May 2025, the Japanese government outlined its annual economic and fiscal policy guidelines, underscoring its commitment to safeguarding financial sustainability.⁶⁷⁵² The government pledged to take policy actions to address external economic challenges, including U.S. tariffs and rising inflation.

On 26 June 2025, the Japanese government approved a JPY115.5 trillion budget for fiscal 2025, reducing bond issuance by 19.2 per cent to JPY28.6 trillion.⁶⁷⁵³ This aims to rebuild fiscal buffers and enhance the government’s capacity to address potential economic challenges.

On 14 July 2025, the Ministry of Finance adjusted its bond issuance strategy after yields on long-term Japanese government bonds increased.⁶⁷⁵⁴ The Ministry scaled back issuance of long-dated bonds to stabilize fiscal financing conditions.

On 4 August 2025, Prime Minister Ishiba announced that the government was prepared to compile a budget of approximately JPY10 trillion.⁶⁷⁵⁵ The budget was intended to respond to new American tariffs and ensure Japan remains growth-friendly.

On 8 August 2025, the Japanese Cabinet approved new budget request guidelines for fiscal 2026.⁶⁷⁵⁶ The guidelines allow ministries and agencies to request up to 20 per cent more funding than their allocations in the FY2025 initial budget for priority policy measures, including those to cope with rising prices.

On 29 August 2025, the government requested its largest defence budget for the fiscal year 2026.⁶⁷⁵⁷ The defence budget includes an allocation of JPY4 billion for procuring six V-BAT systems for new patrol vessels under the Defence Buildup Program.

On 1 September 2025, Prime Minister Shigeru Ishiba directed cabinet ministers to compile an economic package responsive to current domestic and external challenges.⁶⁷⁵⁸ The instruction was reported as part of efforts to coordinate a fiscal response to weakened growth and external pressures.

Japan has fully complied with its commitment to safeguarding fiscal sustainability and building fiscal sustainability buffers, remaining growth-friendly and catalyzing both private and public investment towards reforms which enhance productivity. Japan has taken steps to ensure the country remains growth-friendly, such as through economic stimulus, raising defense spending and compiling an economic package. On 4 July 2025, the National Assembly finalized Korea's second supplementary budget of the year, increasing the total size from KRW30.5 trillion to KRW31.8 trillion.⁶⁷⁷⁰ Key changes include higher government subsidy rates for local consumption coupons, expanded support for non-capital and depopulating regions, additional funding for disabled persons and farmers, and strengthened wildfire response, while partially offsetting increases with KRW1.1 trillion in spending cuts to limit debt issuance.

On 31 July 2025, the Ministry of Economy and Finance announced the 2025 tax reform plan.⁶⁷⁷¹ The plan raises the corporate tax rate back to 25 per cent, expands tax credits for AI, semiconductors, cultural content and increases deductions for childcare, housing and education costs. These measures aim to boost strategic industries, support low- and middle-income households and secure a sustainable revenue base.

On 20 August 2025, the Korean government announced a comprehensive financing plan to stabilize supply chains across all stages.⁶⁷⁷² The program mobilizes KRW50 trillion in policy finance, including low-interest loans, guarantees, and investment funds, to support critical sectors such as semiconductors, batteries, core minerals, energy, and logistics. Key measures include expanding the Supply Chain Stabilization Fund, extending support periods for resource development and infrastructure projects, and providing targeted subsidies for import diversification and domestic production.

On 22 August 2025, the Ministry of Science and ICT announced the R&D budget, totalling KRW35 trillion after approval by the National Science and Technology Advisory Council.⁶⁷⁷³ The plan focuses on restoring the research ecosystem and promoting technology-led growth through large-scale investments in AI, strategic technologies, and clean energy, along with support for defence, SMEs, basic science, talent development, regional innovation, and disaster safety.

On 29 August 2025, the Ministry of Economy and Finance announced the 2026 national budget and the 2025-2029 fiscal management plan following Cabinet approval.⁶⁷⁷⁴ The KRW728 trillion budget, up 8.1 per cent from the previous year, focuses on driving recovery and growth through performance-based fiscal management, innovation-led industries, inclusive growth, and stronger social foundations.

On 3 September 2025, the Ministry of SMEs and Startups announced support measures for exporting SMEs in response to the U.S. reciprocal tariff.⁶⁷⁷⁵ The plan provides on-site customs help, expands policy finance, including KRW4.6 trillion in loans and guarantees, adds an export voucher of KRW420 billion and a new logistics voucher of KRW10.5 billion with two U.S. beauty logistics centers, and advances market diversification and competitiveness through K-beauty clusters, non-tariff barrier response, IP protection, and an online export plan.

On 12 September 2025, the Government announced the second round of Cost of Living Recovery Vouchers, starting on 22 September.⁶⁷⁷⁶ Each eligible resident will receive KRW100,000, covering about nine tenths of the population, selected using June 2025 household health insurance contributions after excluding high asset households, with applications open through 31 October via cards, local vouchers, or prepaid cards, and the total outlay projected at up to roughly KRW4.6 trillion depending on final eligibility.

Korea has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly, and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity enhancing reforms. Korea has taken meaningful strong to safeguard financial stability and rebuild buffers, including regulations on retail government bonds, amending tax laws, finalizing the second supplementary budget and announcing the 2026 Budget. Korea has also taken action to use its fiscal policies to ensure the country remains growth-friendly by executing the growth-driven national budget, using tax reforms to promote capital market participation, utilizing public investments to facilitate growth in the technological, R&D and science sectors, mobilizing finance to counter trade uncertainties and extending tax cuts and quota tariffs. Korea has also catalyzed public investments towards productivity enhancing reforms, such as the Ministry of Science and ICT 's investments.

Thus, Korea receives a score of +1.

Mexico has partially complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly, and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms.

On 11 December 2024, Economy Secretary Marcelo Ebrard Casubon met with Mexico City's Secretary of Economic Development Manola Zabala to discuss strategies for boosting investment and growth.⁶⁷⁷⁷ Secretary Zabala said she was supportive of the "Made in Mexico" brand and will manage production plans, such as the Mexico City Investment Agency. The meeting aimed to enable the Mexican government to better understand how state-funded projects can be best implemented across Mexico.

On 18 February 2025, Economy Secretary Marcelo Ebrard launched the "Made in Mexico" initiative.⁶⁷⁷⁸ The initiative is part of President Sheinbaum's "Plan Mexico" program which aims to safeguard the economy during global financial uncertainty and promote economic growth and innovation by investing in the national economy through the increase of production and consumption of domestic products.

On 21 February 2025, the Mexican delegation to the G20 Foreign Ministers' Meeting in South Africa reaffirmed Mexico's commitment to economic growth and sustainable development.⁶⁷⁷⁹ The delegation proposed building sustainable industries in line with industrial policies that could balance economic growth and environmental protections.

On 2 April 2024, President Claudia Sheinbaum announced plans to narrow fiscal deficits for the next fiscal year.⁶⁷⁸⁰ The government published a preliminary budget estimate aiming to target a budget gap of 3.2 per cent to 3.5 per cent of gross domestic product and aims to grow the Mexican economy from 1.5 per cent to 2.3 per cent next year.

On 28 May 2025, the Bank of Mexico published a report on federal inflation and economic activity.⁶⁷⁸¹ The report reaffirms the Bank of Mexico's commitment to invest in the resilience and growth of the national economy by facilitating enhanced market competition and national productivity.

On 9 June 2025, the Bank of Mexico published its quarterly "Report on Financial Stability."⁶⁷⁸² The report notes the federal government's commitment to reducing fiscal deficit through prudent macroeconomic policy, to which it attributes an overall favorable external assessment of Mexico's credit and public debt management. The report also highlights a growth in the public sector due to fiscal balancing projections.

On 26 June 2025, President Sheinbaum and Mexican state governors signed the new tax agreement "Economic Development Hubs for Well-being (Podecobis)."⁶⁷⁸³ The incentive aims to facilitate productivity growth through public investment in infrastructure throughout the country and is part of the Mexican government's broader 'Plan México' initiative, which aims to promote long-term economic growth.

On 4 July 2025, members of the Mexican government, together with the United Nations System in Mexico and partners from civil society and the private sector, held a National Multi-Stakeholder Dialogue on building the Sustainable Development Cooperation Framework 2026-2031.⁶⁷⁸⁴ The dialogue aligns with Mexico's commitment to advancing sustainable development goals and building a resilient and modern economy.

Mexico has partially complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly, and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms. Mexico has taken action to ensure its fiscal policies remain growth-friendly through discussions with regional leaders, using the "Made in Mexico" initiative to propel growth through domestic consumption, and Podecobis. Furthermore, Mexico's preliminary budget aims to foster economic growth and safeguard financial stability. Mexico has also taken weak action to catalyze investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms by publishing a report, although this only constitutes weak action, as it has not directly led to the catalyzing of investments.

Thus, Mexico receives a score of 0.

On 18 September 2025, Prime Minister Mikhail Mishustin signed an order allocating RUB500 million in subsidized preferential loans for small-town housing developments.⁶⁸⁰⁹ The program under which these loans fall aims to incentivize and support construction companies building housing infrastructure in small towns and support residents.

On 3 October 2025, Prime Minister Mikhail Mishustin signed an order allocating RUB4 billion in preferential loans, subsidies, and other forms of funding to businesses and entrepreneurs in Belgorod, Bryansk, and Kursk.⁶⁸¹⁰ The move aims to promote job growth in these regions.

Russia has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly, and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms. Russia has also taken steps to safeguard financial stability by deferring tax payments from the Kursk, Krasnodar and Orenburg Regions, as well as the Chuvash and Karachay-Cherkessia Republics, allowing regions to write off debt on budget loans, and simplifying VAT taxes. Russia has also taken steps to catalyze public investments for productivity-enhancing reforms, such as offering preferential loans to agricultural producers. Russia has also maintained growth-friendly fiscal policies by extending Free Economic Zones, funding projects and providing loans and subsidies. However, Russia has not taken action to catalyze public investments for productivity enhancing reforms.

Thus, Russia receives a score of +1.

On 26 November 2024, the Ministry of Finance announced the Fiscal Year 2025 budget, projecting expenditures of SAR1.285 trillion and revenues of SAR1.184 trillion.⁶⁸¹¹ The budget statement affirmed that the government would continue funding Vision 2030 programs and economic transformation projects while upholding spending efficiency and fiscal sustainability over the medium and long term.

On 26 November 2024, at the World Investment Conference in Riyadh, the Global Supply Chain Resilience Initiative (GSCRI) announced that Saudi Arabia signed nine major investment agreements worth over SAR35 billion with foreign companies.⁶⁸¹² These deals aim to boost critical supply chains and advance Vision 2030 economic diversification by attracting substantial foreign investment, thereby ensuring Saudi Arabia remains growth-friendly in the future.

On 24 December 2024, the National Debt Management Center (NDMC) announced the successful closure of the December 2024 domestic sukuk issuance under the Saudi riyal Sukuk Program, raising a total of SAR 11.598 billion.⁶⁸¹³ The issuance was divided into four tranches of varying maturities out to 2034, providing cost-effective financing for government needs while deepening the local debt market.

On 2 January 2025, the NDMC finalized a SAR9.4 billion Shariah-compliant revolving credit facility with three regional and international banks.⁶⁸¹⁴ This three-year facility will finance general budgetary needs and aligns with the Kingdom's medium-term debt strategy to diversify funding sources. It leverages market opportunities to execute alternative government financing that supports economic growth.

On 5 January 2025, Finance Minister Mohammed Al-Jadaan approved the Annual Borrowing Plan for 2025.⁶⁸¹⁵ The plan estimates SAR139 billion in funding needs for 2025 – covering a projected SAR101 billion fiscal deficit and SAR38 billion in maturing debt – and sets a calendar for domestic sukuk issuances. It emphasizes diversifying financing channels under robust risk management frameworks to meet Saudi Arabia's financing needs while sustaining fiscal stability and economic growth.

On 7 January 2025, the NDMC completed a significant international bond offering under the Kingdom's Global Medium-Term Note program, issuing USD12 billion in US-dollar bonds.⁶⁸¹⁶ The triple-tranche issuance was oversubscribed threefold with a USD37 billion order book. This successful sale supports the Kingdom's financing needs in a cost-effective manner.

On 21 January 2025, the NDMC closed the January 2025 domestic sukuk issuance, raising SAR3.724 billion across four tranches.⁶⁸¹⁷ The issued sukuk, with maturities ranging from 2029 to 2039, continue Saudi Arabia's strategy of regular local bond/sukuk issuance to replenish fiscal buffers and finance development projects in a growth-friendly manner. This issuance contributes to meeting the 2025 borrowing plan while managing debt costs and maintaining investor interest in Saudi debt markets.

On 25 February 2025, Saudi Arabia's NDMC raised EUR2.25 billion through a euro-denominated bond issuance, including its first-ever green bond of EUR1.5 billion and a EUR750M tranche.⁶⁸¹⁸ Proceeds from the green bond will fund environmentally aligned projects under Vision 2030, supporting fiscal sustainability and diversification.

On 18 April 2025, Saudi Arabia amended its value-added tax (VAT) regulations to improve non-oil revenue without raising tax rates. Key changes include stricter rules for VAT group eligibility, expanded digital economy obligations and tightened definitions to close tax loopholes.⁶⁸¹⁹ These reforms aim to broaden the tax base, enhance compliance and support fiscal sustainability.

On 8 July 2025, the Cabinet authorized the state-owned Social Development Bank to launch a new program that sponsors the citizens in need to obtain financing for small businesses and personal projects.⁶⁸²⁰ The initiative aims to catalyze productive investment at the grassroots level by enhancing financial inclusion, as it enables vulnerable groups to access credit and economic opportunities in line with Saudi Arabia's sustainable development goals, contributing to long-term economic growth.

On 14 July 2025, the Ministry of Municipalities and Housing issued implementing regulations for the White Land Tax, originally enacted in May 2025.⁶⁸²¹ The policy imposes an annual 2.5 per cent tax on the market value of undeveloped land parcels of 5,000 m² or larger in serviced urban areas. The measure aims to curb land banking, promote efficient land use, and support Vision 2030's fiscal sustainability and growth-friendly urban development objectives.

On 1 August 2025, the NDMC announced the completion of the 2025 Annual Borrowing Plan.⁶⁸²² The Plan aims to cover SAR101 billion in budget deficits and SAR38 billion in principle debt repayments. The completion of the plan aims to ensure fiscal sustainability.

On 11 August 2025, the Capital Market Authority called for feedback on a proposal enabling capital market investors to invest in financing investment funds, which were previously offered only through private placements.⁶⁸²³ The proposal aims to increase financing sources for the funds, thus contributing to fiscal sustainability.

On 3 September 2025, the NDMC completed arranging an international sukuk of USD5.5 billion, the first international issuance based on an Ijarah structure.⁶⁸²⁴ The international sukuk aims to raise funds to meet Saudi Arabia's debt financing needs and ensure fiscal sustainability.

Türkiye has fully complied with its commitment to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, remain growth-friendly, and catalyze public and private investments towards productivity enhancing reforms.

On 12 December 2024, President Recep Tayyip Erdogan raised minimum corporate tax rates from ten to fifteen per cent.⁶⁸³⁶ This measure will safeguard fiscal sustainability by increasing government revenue.

On 23 December 2024, President Erdogan announced intentions to promote positive economic growth in Türkiye through a targeted economic program.⁶⁸³⁷ The economic program aims to increase reserves and a declining unemployment rate and growth, which the President expressed his intention to continue.

On 15 January 2025, Türkiye published the 2025 Public Investment Programme outlining a TRY1.44 trillion allocation for 14,238 projects with strategic sectoral allocations for transportation and communications receiving 30.5 per cent, education receiving 15.1 per cent, agriculture receiving 11.4 per cent, energy and research and development receiving TRY31.7 billion of the budget.⁶⁸³⁸

On 30 January 2025, Treasury and Finance Minister Mehmet Simsek announced the government's intentions to pursue a tighter fiscal policy and continue with disinflation throughout 2025.⁶⁸³⁹ The tighter fiscal policy aims to increase economic resilience, achieve greater, more permanent price stability, and reduce the budget deficit to the national income ratio to 3.1 per cent in 2025.

On 13 April 2025, Minister Simsek emphasized the government's commitment to its economic program at the Antalya Diplomacy Forum.⁶⁸⁴⁰ In particular, he emphasized the role of the government's fiscal policy tools and targets in reaching its inflationary goals, such as achieving fiscal consolidation and a lower fiscal deficit in order to assist the Central Bank in lowering the inflation rate.

On 20 April 2025, the Economy Coordination Board released a statement emphasizing the achievement of the economic program in strengthening financial stability by fighting inflation while simultaneously maintaining a strong fiscal policy.⁶⁸⁴¹

On 26 May 2025, the Development and Investment Bank of Türkiye obtained a USD500 million loan from the World Bank to promote employment in the 11 provinces most affected by the 2023 earthquakes.⁶⁸⁴² Finance Minister Mehmet Simsek announced the government's intention to allocate international aid to support

The United States has taken action to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers by ensuring taxpayer funds are used effectively, implementing the Department of Government Efficiency to overhaul federal spending, creating a sovereign wealth fund, creating the General Services Administration to eliminate waste and inefficiencies and promoting fiscal transparency, establishing the Investment Accelerator, prioritizing cost-effective commercial solutions, terminating federal funding for NPR, reforming Medicare, directly ordering federal agencies to reduce spending and proposing tax reforms. The United States has remained growth-friendly by raising the loan cap for small businesses, boosting domestic timber production, creating jobs, establishing the National Energy Dominance Council, implementing a “fast track” process to attract greater investment and enhancing economic competitiveness in the AI sector. The United States has also taken action to catalyze public and private investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms by leveraging private sector investment for large-scale artificial intelligence infrastructure projects and attracting foreign investment in the manufacturing sector. However, as the Big Beautiful Bill significantly worsened the United States’ fiscal sustainability by increasing the national deficit, the United States has taken action contrary to the commitment despite taking strong action across all three commitment areas.

Thus, the United States receives a score of –1.

ease supply chain bottlenecks, and strengthen Europe's strategic autonomy, thus promoting growth in the European defence sector.

The European Union has fully complied with safeguarding fiscal sustainability and rebuilding fiscal sustainability buffers, remaining growth-friendly and catalyzing both public and private investment towards reforms which enhance productivity. The European Union has taken strong actions to safeguard fiscal sustainability and rebuild buffers, including reforming the EU insolvency law, streamlining VAT and withholding tax procedures, setting fiscal expenditure paths for member states, simplifying VAT collections, adapting a new multigenerational framework and approving funding under NextGenerationEU. The European Union has also maintained a growth-friendly fiscal policy by investing in agriculture, renewable energy, manufacturing, technology and AI sector to propel growth. The European Union has also catalyzed public investments towards productivity-enhancing reforms through its Innovation Fund and the Digital Europe Programme.

Thus, the European Union receives a score of +1.

Background

Since Israel’s creation in 1948, which resulted in the first Arab-Israeli war and Nakba that displaced mass populations of Palestinians, ongoing conflicts have ensued in the region, including major escalations in 1956, 1967, 1973 and 1982.⁶⁹³⁹ The Oslo Accords in 1993 aimed to bring peace to the region through a two-state solution between Palestine and Israel, but were ultimately unsuccessful. A second Israeli-Lebanon war occurred in 2006 “over border disputes and Israel’s detention of Lebanese prisoners.”⁶⁹⁴⁰ Most recently, on 7 October 2023, Hamas launched a coordinated attack on Israel, with Israel declaring a state of war the following day, invading the Gaza Strip and also later targeting Lebanon.⁶⁹⁴¹ This situation has resulted in a catastrophic humanitarian situation in the Gaza Strip and escalation of violence in Lebanon, with G20 leaders emphasizing deep concern for the region at the 2024 Rio de Janeiro Summit. Although the Israel-Palestine situation was not previously a priority area for the G20, G20 members have addressed humanitarian aid and regional security at summits since 2015, highlighting their commitment to providing humanitarian assistance and alleviating the human suffering associated with war.

At the 2015 Antalya Summit, G20 leaders committed to strengthening their support for refugees and internally displaced persons by resettling refugees, providing humanitarian aid and enabling access to “services, education and livelihood opportunities.”⁶⁹⁴² G20 leaders also called for a coordinated effort to address the ongoing refugee crisis.

At the 2016 Hangzhou Summit, G20 leaders reaffirmed their commitment from the Antalya Summit to address the effects and root causes of the refugee crisis.⁶⁹⁴³ They also pledged to prioritize developmental assistance to communities formed due to migration and forced displacement.

At the 2017 Hamburg Summit, G20 leaders committed to strengthening humanitarian engagement and providing rapid funding to save lives in response to famine and famine risks in East African countries, in coordination with the United Nations and other agencies.⁶⁹⁴⁴ G20 leaders also expressed the need for a coordinated and comprehensive response to support sustainable development while addressing the underlying causes of recurrent crises.

At the 2018 Buenos Aires Summit, G20 leaders acknowledged the global concerns associated with large refugee movements and called for collective action to address the underlying factors of displacement and respond to humanitarian needs.⁶⁹⁴⁵

At the 2019 Osaka Summit, G20 leaders reaffirmed that mass refugee migration is an international issue that requires collaborative action and humanitarian support.⁶⁹⁴⁶

At the 2020 Riyadh Summit, G20 leaders highlighted the need for coordinated humanitarian efforts to lessen the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic on forcibly displaced persons and to mitigate the fundamental drivers of displacement.⁶⁹⁴⁷

At the 2021 Rome Summit, G20 leaders committed to supporting the complete integration of pandemic migrants and refugees, recognizing their human rights and fundamental freedoms.⁶⁹⁴⁸ They also acknowledged the importance of sustaining humanitarian efforts and responding to root factors of displacement.

At the 2022 Bali Summit, G20 leaders stressed the importance of adhering to international law and committing to facilitating access to humanitarian supplies in the context the Russia-Ukraine war.⁶⁹⁴⁹

At the 2023 New Delhi Summit, G20 leaders called for adherence to international law principles and the United Nations Charter which condemns “threat or use of force to seek territorial acquisition against the territorial integrity and sovereignty or political independence of any state.”⁶⁹⁵⁰ G20 leaders also reaffirmed their commitment to supporting migrants’ rights, providing humanitarian assistance and addressing the root causes of displacement.

At the 2024 Rio Summit, G20 leaders acknowledged the profound human distress and devastating effects of wars and conflicts worldwide and reasserted the need for compliance with the United Nations Charter and international humanitarian and human rights law obligations.⁶⁹⁵¹ In this context, G20 leaders denounced all attacks on civilians and infrastructure and recognized the catastrophic humanitarian situation in the Gaza Strip and escalation in Lebanon. Affirming Palestine’s right to self-determination and iterating their commitment to a two-state solution for Palestine and Israel, G20 leaders emphasized the need for rapid, increased humanitarian aid and civilian protection as well as the lifting of barriers on the delivery of humanitarian assistance.

Commitment Features

This commitment can be broken down into two overarching dimensions, with sub-parts: 1) expanding the flow of humanitarian assistance and reinforcing the protection of civilians and 2) ensuring actions in Part 1 support Gaza and Lebanon. To achieve full compliance, G20 members must strongly comply across both areas.

Definitions and Concepts

“Gaza Strip” refers to the Palestinian “territory occupying 140 square miles (363 square km) along the Mediterranean Sea just northeast of the Sinai Peninsula.”⁶⁹⁵²

“Catastrophic” is understood to mean “causing sudden and very great harm or destruction.”⁶⁹⁵³

“Humanitarian situation” is understood to mean the ongoing crisis in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon, “characterized by intense hostilities and escalating humanitarian access constraints that have severely impeded the delivery of life saving humanitarian assistance and services.”⁶⁹⁵⁴ Furthermore, 100 per cent of Gaza’s population is experiencing high acute food insecurity, with “famine [being] imminent in Gaza as 1.1 million people – half of Gaza’s population – are facing conditions of catastrophic food insecurity due to the intense conflict and severe limitations on humanitarian access.” This is paired with other humanitarian needs including healthcare and essential services.

“Humanitarian assistance” is understood to mean short-term aid delivered to disaster zones, in response to an incident or event like war or natural disasters.⁶⁹⁵⁵ Humanitarian assistance focuses on emergency relief and life-saving aid such as food, water, shelter and health services.

“Reinforce” is understood to mean “to strengthen by additional assistance, material, or support.”⁶⁹⁵⁶

“Protection” is understood to mean “cover[ing] or shield[ing] from exposure, injury, damage, or destruction.”⁶⁹⁵⁷

“Civilians” is understood to mean “persons who are not members of the armed forces.”⁶⁹⁵⁸

“Barriers” is understood to mean “something material that blocks or is intended to block passage.”⁶⁹⁵⁹ In this context, barriers are any physical access constraints, infrastructure damage and restrictions on humanitarian movement in Gaza by Israeli authorities that limit the access of humanitarian assistance to the Gaza Strip.⁶⁹⁶⁰

“Provision” is understood to mean “to supply with needed materials (such as food).”⁶⁹⁶¹

General Interpretive Guidelines

Full compliance, or a score of +1, will be given to a G20 member that takes strong action across all of Parts 1 and 2 of the commitment. Part 1 requires strong action to a) expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and b) reinforce the protection of civilians. Part 2 requires the aforementioned actions to be taken for a) Gaza and b) Lebanon. Examples of strong action include financial aid for emergency relief operations in the Gaza Strip, food donations for Lebanon, sending medical response teams to address healthcare needs in Gaza and Lebanon, financial contributions to the UN Relief and Works Agency for Palestinian Refugees in the Near East to support civilian protection initiatives and launching or actively supporting international legal action to challenge the blockage of humanitarian assistance into Gaza.

Partial compliance, or a score of 0, will be given to a G20 member that takes strong action across two or three of the four sub-parts of the commitment, including at least one aspect of Part 2, or weak action across all four criteria. Examples of weak action include verbal reaffirmations regarding the importance of civilian protection, taking part in multilateral meetings where the topic is discussed and voting in favour of a non-binding United Nations resolution to allow humanitarian aid into the Gaza Strip.

Non-compliance, or a score of -1, will be given to a G20 member that does not take action towards the commitment, only takes weak action across three or fewer sub-parts, fails to take any action across Part 2 of the commitment, or takes action that is directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment.

Scoring Guidelines

-1	The G20 member fails to take action towards the commitment, only takes weak action in three or fewer sub-parts, fails to take any action across Part 2 or takes action that is directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment.
0	The G20 member takes strong action across two or three of the four sub-parts of the commitment, including at least one aspect of Part 2, or weak action across all four sub-parts.
+1	The G20 member takes strong action across all of Part 1 to a) expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and b) reinforce the protection of civilians and all of Part 2 which requires the aforementioned actions to be taken for a) Gaza and b) Lebanon.

broad support with 142 votes in favour and explicitly condemned attacks on civilians and called for unimpeded humanitarian aid access.

Argentina has not complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. Argentina has not taken any positive actions towards the commitment. However, it has voted against several UNGA resolutions aimed at advancing the commitment.

Therefore, Argentina receives a score of -1 .⁶⁹⁸¹

On 21 August 2025, Australia, alongside members of the Media Freedom Coalition, called for Israel to allow foreign media access and protect journalists working in Gaza.⁷⁰¹⁹ The members highlighted the crucial role journalists and media workers, be they local to Gaza or foreign, play in showcasing the reality of the war. Additionally, the members noted that “international humanitarian law offers protection to civilian journalists during armed conflict” and the call for an immediate ceasefire and “unhindered flow of humanitarian aid” were further reiterated.

On 21 September 2025, Australia announced that it will recognise the independent and sovereign State of Palestine.⁷⁰²⁰ This recognition is in collaboration with Canada and the United Kingdom to “build new momentum for a two-state solution, starting with a ceasefire in Gaza and the release of the hostages taken in the atrocities of October 7, 2023.”

On 22 September 2025, Australia, alongside several member nations, signed the Declaration for the Protection of Humanitarian Personnel.⁷⁰²¹ The signed declaration highlights the commitment towards respecting and upholding international law to protect humanitarian personnel and to safeguard the essential role of principled humanitarian action during times of conflict.

On 9 October 2025, Prime Minister Albanese and Senator Wong released a statement welcoming President Donald Trump’s announcement on the first phase of the peace plan, which was signed by Israel and Hamas.⁷⁰²²

Australia has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. Australia has taken strong action to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance to the Gaza through funding for humanitarian aid. However, it has not taken strong action to reinforce the protection of civilians in Gaza and Lebanon or to support humanitarian assistance in Lebanon.

Therefore, Australia receives a score of 0.

to essential goods and noted that the deliberate obstruction of aid is a grave violation of international humanitarian law.⁷⁰⁴³

On 17 March 2025, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs held the fifth Meeting of the Bilateral Political Consultations Mechanism with Palestine, during which it condemned Israeli violations of the ceasefire, including the suspension of humanitarian aid and electricity to Gaza.⁷⁰⁴⁴ The governments also reaffirmed the urgency of a permanent cessation of hostilities and emphasized the need for unimpeded humanitarian access to the region.

On 18 March 2025, Brazil condemned the indiscriminate Israeli airstrikes in Gaza which hit areas designated as safe zones and underscored Israel's duty as an occupying power to protect civilians.⁷⁰⁴⁵ Brazil urged Israel to lift the restrictions on humanitarian aid and restore the supply of electricity in Gaza, while calling on all parties to respect the ceasefire and establish a robust mechanism to guarantee the unhindered delivery of humanitarian assistance at scale.

On 29 March 2025, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs condemned Israel's bombings in Beirut and southern Lebanon and launch of rockets into Lebanon on 28 March.⁷⁰⁴⁶ The Ministry stressed the importance of complying with UN Security Council Resolution 1701 and called on Israel to withdraw its troops from Lebanon.

On 29 April 2025, Minister of Foreign Affairs Mauro Vieira called for the complete withdrawal of Israeli troops from Gaza to allow for the resumption of full humanitarian aid while speaking at the BRICS summit in Rio de Janeiro.⁷⁰⁴⁷ The statement denounced Israel's continued obstruction of aid and reaffirmed Brazil's demand for unrestricted access to relief supplies for the civilian population.

On 29 April 2025, Brazil submitted a formal request to the ICJ asking it to declare Israel's blockade of Gaza illegal.⁷⁰⁴⁸ The request aims to hold Israel accountable under international law and to support broader global efforts to restore humanitarian access.

On 12 June 2025, Brazil voted in favour of a UNGA resolution that it co-sponsored titled "Protection of civilians and upholding legal and humanitarian obligations" during the 10th Emergency Special Session.⁷⁰⁴⁹ The resolution demanded "an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire," the release of all hostages and condemned the starvation of civilians, while calling on all parties to uphold their international humanitarian obligations. It also called on Israel to stop its blockade on humanitarian aid, endorsed the United Nations-Coordinated Plan to Resume Humanitarian Aid Deliveries to Gaza and reiterated UNGA's support for UNRWA and a two-state solution.

Arabia and Co-Chairs of the relevant Working Groups Brazil, Canada, Egypt, Indonesia, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Jordan, Mexico, Norway, Qatar, Senegal, Spain, Türkiye, the United Kingdom, the European Union and the League of Arab States released a joint statement reaffirming their support for a two-state solution.⁷⁰⁵⁰ The statement called for peace and stability, efforts to end the war in Gaza and a lasting solution to the Palestinian question.

On 30 June 2025, Brazil voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled “Financing of the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon.”⁷⁰⁵¹ The resolution allocated USD605,340,200 for the Interim Force between 1 July 2025-30 June 2026, with UNGA Member States to provide USD100,890,000 between 1 July 2025-31 August 2025.⁷⁰⁵² It also expressed concern regarding Israel’s failure to adhere to numerous UNGA resolutions, calling on it to comply.

On 6 July 2025, President Lula da Silva formally described the situation in Gaza as a “genocide” during his speech the 17th BRICS summit, denouncing the “indiscriminate killing of innocent civilians” and condemning “the use of starvation as a weapon of war.”⁷⁰⁵³ He also reiterated Brazil’s support for international humanitarian law and called for an end to the Israeli occupation and “the establishment of a sovereign Palestinian state within the 1967 borders.”

On 28 July 2025, Minister Vieira condemned the ongoing human rights and humanitarian law violations in Gaza.⁷⁰⁵⁴ Minister Vieira further expanded on Brazil’s support for the UNRWA and an UN-led mission to monitor Israel’s compliance with international law.

On 9 August 2025, Brazil condemned Israel’s decision to expand military operations in the Gaza Strip, warning that the measure would worsen the already catastrophic humanitarian situation.⁷⁰⁵⁵ Brazil renewed its call for the complete and immediate withdrawal of Israeli troops from the territory and reiterated the need for a permanent ceasefire, the release of all hostages and the unimpeded entry of humanitarian aid.

On 11 August 2025, Brazil condemned the murder of six Palestinian journalists from the Al-Jazeera network in Gaza who were killed in an airstrike by Israeli forces near Al-Shifa hospital on 10 August.⁷⁰⁵⁶ Brazil characterized the attack as a flagrant violation of international humanitarian law and a clear display of a lack of civilian protection.

On 25 August 2025, Brazil condemned Israel's bombing of the Nasser Hospital in Khan Younis, which killed at least 20 people including journalists and aid workers.⁷⁰⁵⁷ Brazil reaffirmed that hospitals and medical units have special protection under international humanitarian law and warned that attacks on these facilities constitute war crimes under the Geneva Conventions. Brazil urged the UN to conduct an independent investigation and reiterated its call for an immediate ceasefire, the lifting of restrictions on humanitarian aid and the protection of civilians and journalists in Gaza.

On 1 September 2025, Brazil welcomed the renewal of the mandate of the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon (UNIFIL) and reaffirmed its support for the mission's role in upholding stability in southern Lebanon.⁷⁰⁵⁸ The statement recalled Brazil's past leadership of UNIFIL's Maritime Task Force, noted the continued presence of Brazilian personnel and urged all parties to comply with Resolution 1701 (2006) to uphold the ceasefire and advance lasting peace in Lebanon.

On 16 September 2025, Brazil joined 14 other countries in a joint statement on the Global Sumud Flotilla, a civil-society initiative carrying humanitarian aid to Gaza.⁷⁰⁵⁹ The statement urged respect for international law, demanded that no force or violence be exercised against the flotilla and reaffirmed governments' shared commitment to the peaceful delivery of humanitarian assistance and protection of those involved.

On 16 September 2025, Brazil condemned Israel's ground offensive against Gaza City, describing it as a grave violation of international law that has intensified forced displacement, bombardment and severe restrictions on humanitarian aid, resulting in chronic famine.⁷⁰⁶⁰ Brazil endorsed the UN Commission of Inquiry's finding that Israel has committed acts of genocide, called for accountability and reiterated its demand for an immediate ceasefire, full humanitarian access and the withdrawal of Israeli forces.

On 21 September 2025, Brazil welcomed the recognition of the State of Palestine by Australia, Canada, the United Kingdom and Portugal, reaffirming its conviction that peace and stability in the Middle East is contingent on implementing the two-state solution.⁷⁰⁶¹ The statement indirectly supported the protection of civilians and humanitarian access through political recognition of Palestinian sovereignty.

On 22 September 2025, Brazil alongside several member countries, signed the Declaration for the Protection of Humanitarian Personnel.⁷⁰⁶² The signed declaration highlights the commitment towards respecting and upholding international law to protect humanitarian personnel and to safeguard the essential role of principled humanitarian action during times of conflict.

On 26 September 2025, BRICS ministers issued a joint statement following their annual meeting chaired by India.⁷⁰⁶³ The various parties called for unimpeded access to Gaza and the delivery of humanitarian aid and reiterated their support for UNRWA in its mandate to provide critical services to Palestinians.

On 26 September 2025, Minister Vieira, joined by India's Minister of External Affairs Subrahmanyam Jaishankar and South Africa's Minister in the Presidency for Women, Youth and Persons with Disabilities Sindisiwe Chikunga, delivered a joint statement following their 13th India, Brazil and South Africa Dialogue Forum Trilateral Ministerial Commission Meeting.⁷⁰⁶⁴ With regards to Gaza, the statement called for compliance with international humanitarian and human rights law, the unimpeded access and delivery of humanitarian aid and respect for UNRWA's mandate.

On 2 October 2025, Brazil condemned Israel's interception of the Global Sumud Flotilla and the arbitrary detention of 15 Brazilian nationals delivering humanitarian aid to Gaza.⁷⁰⁶⁵ Brazil demanded their immediate release, urged Israel to end the blockade on Gaza and reaffirmed that humanitarian operations must not be obstructed under international law.

On 6 October 2025, Brazil expressed its position on the US ceasefire plan for Gaza, emphasizing that any accepted agreement should ensure the permanent cessation of hostilities, the unrestricted entry of humanitarian aid and the withdrawal of Israeli troops.⁷⁰⁶⁶ Brazil reiterated its belief that reconstruction of Gaza should occur under Palestinian ownership and UN supervision.

On 9 October 2025, Brazil welcomed the ceasefire agreement between Israel and Hamas as the first phase of a plan to end the hostilities in Gaza.⁷⁰⁶⁷ The government stressed the deal's humanitarian importance, urging the need for immediate, safe and unimpeded access of aid and reaffirming support for a two-state solution.

Brazil has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. Brazil has taken weak action to advance all four commitment components by voting in favour of UNGA resolutions, asking the International Court of Justice to declare Israel's blockade illegal, releasing statements condemning Israel's hostilities against Lebanon, calling on Israel to withdraw from Gaza and allow humanitarian aid to enter and welcoming ceasefires in the region. Brazil has also signed the Declaration for the Protection of Humanitarian Personnel. However, it has not taken strong action towards the commitment.

Thus, Brazil receives a score of 0.

Canada has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon.

On 20 November 2024, Canada modified its vote on the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) resolution on “Palestine refugees’ properties and their revenues,” updating its vote from no to yes.⁷⁰⁶⁸ Canada emphasized that this change reflects its support for the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA), stating that it must be able to carry out its essential role in delivering basic services and humanitarian aid to Palestinian refugees.

On 26 November 2024, G7 Foreign Ministers issued a joint statement reflecting their stance on the ongoing conflict in Lebanon.⁷⁰⁶⁹ The statement expressed alarm about the increasingly dire humanitarian crisis in the region, including Lebanon, endorsed ongoing negotiations for a ceasefire and stressed the need for the uninterrupted delivery of humanitarian aid and essential services.

On 29 November 2024, Minister of International Development Ahmed Hussen announced CAD50 million for humanitarian assistance in Gaza and West Bank.⁷⁰⁷⁰ This funding will help provide emergency medical assistance, food, water, protection services and other life-saving assistance to civilians.

On 3 December 2024, Canada voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled “Peaceful settlement of the question of Palestine.”⁷⁰⁷¹ The resolution reaffirmed support for a two-state solution and called on Israel to cease all settlement activities and acts of violence.⁷⁰⁷² It also urged respect for international humanitarian law, the protection of civilians and renewed negotiations toward a just and lasting peace. The resolution was adopted by majority vote.

On 4 December 2024, Canada voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled “Assistance to Palestine Refugees,” which reaffirmed the critical role of UNRWA.⁷⁰⁷³ The resolution called for continued and expanded support to Palestinian refugees, urged the fulfilment of financial pledges and condemned disruptions to the delivery of essential services, thereby supporting expanded humanitarian assistance to displaced Palestinians.⁷⁰⁷⁴ The resolution was adopted by majority vote.

On 4 December 2024, Canada voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled “Israeli settlements in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem and the occupied Syrian Golan.”⁷⁰⁷⁵ The resolution reaffirmed the illegality of Israel’s settlements in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, called on Israel to abide by the

in the occupied Syrian Golan over their natural resources.”⁷⁰⁸⁵ The resolution reaffirmed the Palestinian people’s right to permanent sovereignty over their land and natural resources and condemned Israeli settlement activities, exploitation of resources and destruction of infrastructure.⁷⁰⁸⁶

On 17 January 2025, G7 leaders issued a joint statement on the ceasefire agreement between Israel and Hamas.⁷⁰⁸⁷ The leaders reaffirmed their commitment to providing humanitarian aid to Gaza and reiterated their demand for the protection of civilians and aid workers, as well as the unhindered flow of humanitarian assistance.

On 20 March 2025, Minister of Foreign Affairs Mélanie Joly announced more than CAD99 million in funding to support the UN, World Bank, Red Cross and other non-governmental organizations in delivering international assistance to Gaza and the West Bank, including the restoration of essential services, life-saving assistance and social assistance.⁷⁰⁸⁸ This funding demonstrates Canada’s continued commitment to supporting the humanitarian response in Gaza and the West Bank and efforts to make life-saving interventions more sustainable. Canada also reiterated its call to allow the free flow of humanitarian assistance to Palestinian civilians and reaffirmed the importance of international humanitarian law and the lifting of all barriers to ease the provision of humanitarian assistance to the Gaza Strip.

On 21 March 2025, Canada announced CAD29.7 million in funding to provide critical humanitarian assistance in Lebanon.⁷⁰⁸⁹ This funding includes food, medical and health services, shelter and clean water for Lebanese citizens. Canada also called for the full implementation of UN Security Council Resolution 2286 to ensure the protection of humanitarian and medical personnel to allow them to continue to deliver life-saving assistance to those in need in Lebanon. Canada illustrated its commitment to allowing humanitarian assistance to Lebanon.

On 25 April 2025, Prime Minister Mark Carney called on Israel to permit the World Food Programme (WFP) to operate in Gaza, emphasizing that food should never be used as a “political tool.”⁷⁰⁹⁰ He added that Palestinian civilians should not suffer the consequences of international war and stressed the importance of allowing the WFP to continue its vital efforts.

On 19 May 2025, Minister of Foreign Affairs Anita Anand, the Foreign Ministers of Australia, France, Germany, Italy, Japan and the United Kingdom and representatives of the European Union denounced Israel’s new plan for humanitarian aid which will restrict the flow of aid into the Gaza Strip and prevent United Nations workers from adequately supporting civilians.⁷⁰⁹¹ They noted that the new model will not follow humanitarian principles and called on Israel to allow humanitarian aid into Gaza and enable UN operations.

and Crisis Management, issued a joint statement regarding the humanitarian situation in Gaza.⁷⁰⁹⁸ In their statement, the ministers strongly condemned the Israeli government's restrictive model for delivering humanitarian aid, describing it as "drip-feeding" of assistance and highlighting reports of more than 800 Palestinians killed while seeking lifesaving aid. The joint statement called on Israel to comply fully with its obligations under international humanitarian law and to ensure unimpeded humanitarian access to the Gaza Strip.

On 24 July 2025, Prime Minister Carney condemned Israel's obstruction of humanitarian aid into Gaza and called on international NGOs to take over aid distribution.⁷⁰⁹⁹ He called the denial of the entry of aid a violation of international law.

On 28 July 2025, Foreign Affairs Minister Anita Anand announced that Canada will contribute an additional CAD30 million in humanitarian funding for Gaza and CAD10 million to accelerate the execution of a two-state solution.⁷¹⁰⁰ Minister Anand noted that the resolution of the "Palestinian question" is necessary to free the area of continuous conflict.

On 30 July 2025, Prime Minister Carney acknowledged the failure of Israel to mitigate the humanitarian crisis in Gaza and announced Canada would recognize the State of Palestine in September, conditional on democratic standards and reforms.⁷¹⁰¹ Prime Minister Carney communicated that a two-state solution creates a viable path to peace and security in the region, safeguarding further lives from harm.

On 4 August 2025, the Canadian Armed Forces airdropped 21,600 pounds of humanitarian aid into the Gaza Strip.⁷¹⁰² Canada also called for the end of restrictions to food and medical assistance in the area by the Israeli government. Canada further reiterated the need for humanitarian assistance infrastructure in Gaza through "safe access for humanitarian organizations," customs approvals for aid workers and the removal of all barriers at crossings. Canada also acknowledged Jordan's work in supporting the delivery of humanitarian aid into Gaza.

On 8 August 2025, Prime Minister Carney condemned the Israeli government's decision to expand military operations into Gaza, citing that it would escalate the humanitarian aid problems in the region.⁷¹⁰³

On 8 August 2025, Canada, alongside Australia, Austria, France, Germany, Italy, New Zealand, Norway, the United Kingdom and the High Representative of the European Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy, condemned Israel's plan for a full offensive into Gaza, noting it would aggravate the humanitarian situation.⁷¹⁰⁴ Additionally, it was noted that "any attempts at annexation or of settlement extension violate international law".

On 9 August 2025, Minister Anand, along with the foreign ministers of Australia, Austria, France, Germany, Italy, New Zealand, Norway, the UK and an EU representative, rejected the Israeli government's decision to continue its full-scale takeover of the Gaza Strip, warning that it would aggravate the humanitarian situation.⁷¹⁰⁵

On 12 August 2025, Minister Anand called for Israel to allow unrestricted aid into the Gaza Strip.⁷¹⁰⁶ This includes medical supplies, food, water and more.

On 23 August 2025, Secretary of State for International Development Randeep Sarai issued a statement highlighting the famine in Gaza caused by the limited access to humanitarian assistance.⁷¹⁰⁷ Secretary Sarai noted the "horrific deteriorating conditions in Gaza" which have led to famine.

On 3 September 2025, the G7 members issued a Joint Foreign Ministers' Statement urging for a ceasefire, a surge of humanitarian aid to Gaza and the release of all hostages, underscoring that alleviating civilian suffering is the immediate priority.⁷¹⁰⁸

On 21 September 2025, Canada announced that it will recognize the independent and sovereign State of Palestine.⁷¹⁰⁹ This recognition is in collaboration with Australia and the United Kingdom to "build new momentum for a two-state solution, starting with a ceasefire in Gaza and the release of the hostages taken in the atrocities of October 7, 2023."

On 21 September 2025, Canada endorsed the Declaration for the Protection of Humanitarian Personnel.⁷¹¹⁰ Spearheaded by Australia, Canada acknowledged that humanitarian workers are facing growing threats, putting their lives at risk and disrupting the delivery of aid. In line with the declaration's goals, it was noted that Canada will remain committed to upholding international humanitarian law and condemn any violations. *Not sure if this still needs to be included – see action below

On 25 September 2025, Minister Anand met with UNRWA Commissioner-General Philippe Lazzarini to discuss the catastrophic situation in Gaza.⁷¹¹¹ Minister Anand reaffirmed Canada's call for an immediate ceasefire, the protection of civilians, the release of Israeli hostages and the increased delivery of aid to Palestinians. Minister Anand and Commissioner-General Lazzarini also highlighted the urgent need for the international community to strengthen efforts toward achieving lasting peace and stability in the region.

On 9 October 2025, following Prime Minister Carney's response to the Israel and Hamas peace plan, Minister Anand urged that humanitarian aid be granted immediate and unrestricted access to Gaza.⁷¹¹² Minister Anand further noted that Canada will support all initiatives aimed at turning this peace plan into lasting peace for both Israelis and Palestinians.

On 13 October 2025, Prime Minister Carney released a statement regarding the release of hostages as part of the ceasefire agreement.⁷¹¹³ Prime Minister Carney urged that all parties involved uphold the ceasefire agreement, including the withdrawal of Israeli forces and allowing the delivery of uninterrupted humanitarian aid across Gaza. Additionally, it was noted that Canada remains committed to sustaining the large-scale delivery of humanitarian aid and is strengthening coordination with international partners.

Canada has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. Canada has taken strong action to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance for Gaza and Lebanon and to protect civilians in Gaza. However, it has not taken action to reinforce civilian protections in Lebanon.

Therefore, Canada receives a score of 0.

calling for civilian protection and humanitarian aid and noting Israel's violation of international humanitarian law in Gaza.⁷¹⁴⁴

On 12 June 2025, China voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled "Protection of civilians and upholding legal and humanitarian obligations" during the 10th Emergency Special Session.⁷¹⁴⁵ The resolution demanded "an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire," the release of all hostages and condemned the starvation of civilians, while calling on all parties to uphold their international humanitarian obligations. It also called on Israel to stop its blockade on humanitarian aid, endorsed the United Nations-Coordinated Plan to Resume Humanitarian Aid Deliveries to Gaza and reiterated UNGA's support for UNRWA and a two-state solution.

On 30 June 2025, China voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled "Financing of the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon."⁷¹⁴⁶ The resolution allocated USD605,340,200 for the Interim Force between 1 July 2025-30 June 2026, with UNGA Member States to provide USD100,890,000 between 1 July 2025-31 August 2025.⁷¹⁴⁷ It also expressed concern regarding Israel's failure to adhere to numerous UNGA resolutions, calling on it to comply.

On 8 August 2025, Spokesperson Guo expressed concern over Israel's plan to seize control of Gaza City, urging Israel to halt the move immediately.⁷¹⁴⁸ The statement reaffirmed that the only path to resolving the conflict and easing the humanitarian crisis is an immediate ceasefire and a two-state solution.

On 11 August 2025, Spokesperson Jian called for full civilian access to humanitarian aid and to avoid a larger-scale humanitarian crisis by calling for adequate protection of civilians in Gaza.⁷¹⁴⁹

On 28 August 2025, China, alongside members of the Security Council, voted in favour of Resolution 2970 (2025) in extending the Mandate of UNFIL in Lebanon until 31 December 2026.⁷¹⁵⁰ Additionally, the Security Council called for the full implementation of resolution 1701 (2006), and reaffirmed its support for the November 2024 ceasefire agreement between Israel and Lebanon.

On 3 September 2025, Deputy Permanent Representative of China to the UN Geng Shuang explained China's vote in favour of Resolution 2970 as calling on Israel to withdraw from occupied areas of southern Lebanon, uphold Lebanon's sovereignty and fully implement the Lebanon-Israel ceasefire.⁷¹⁵¹ The statement warned against early withdrawal of the mission and the neglect of peacekeeping duties in Lebanon.

On 19 September 2025, Minister Wang outlined “Three Imperatives” on the Palestine-Israel conflict.⁷¹⁵² Foreign Minister Wang called for a comprehensive ceasefire and more urgent action from the UN Security Council and humanitarian agencies in their duties to Gaza and in firmly upholding the two-state solution. Furthermore, Foreign Minister Wang urged for Palestine’s membership in the UN as a pathway to advance the two-state solution.

On 23 September 2025, Permanent Representative Geng called for an immediate ceasefire in Gaza, condemning Israel’s continued military offensives and urging it to restore humanitarian access.⁷¹⁵³ Permanent Representative Geng reaffirmed that the two-state solution is the only viable path, stressing that Gaza and the West Bank are inalienable parts of Palestine and that any post-war arrangements must respect Palestinian sovereignty.

On 26 September 2025, BRICS ministers issued a joint statement following their annual meeting chaired by India.⁷¹⁵⁴ The various parties called for unimpeded access to Gaza and the delivery of humanitarian aid and reiterated their support for UNRWA in its mandate to provide critical services to Palestinians.

On 1 October 2025, China condemned the US veto of a UN Security Council draft resolution on Gaza for disregarding calls to end the rampant violence in the area and a failure to uphold international law.⁷¹⁵⁵ China reaffirmed calls for a lasting ceasefire, crucial humanitarian aid distribution and a return to the path of negotiations for a two-state solution for Gaza.

On 10 October 2025, Spokesperson Guo called for progress towards a comprehensive and permanent ceasefire in Gaza and for humanitarian conditions to be improved and regional tensions to be reduced.⁷¹⁵⁶ Reaffirming the principle of “the Palestinians governing Palestine,” Spokesperson Guo reiterated support for the implementation of the two-state solution and pledged to work with the international community towards a full, just and lasting resolution of the Palestinian question.

China has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. China has taken strong action to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance to Gaza through the delivery of food aid. It has also taken strong action for humanitarian assistance and to reinforce civilian protection in Lebanon through the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon. However, it has not taken strong action to reinforce civilian protection in Gaza.

Thus, China receives a score of 0.

France has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon.

On 20 November 2024, France voted in favour of a draft resolution proposed by the ten elected members of the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) calling for an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire in Gaza.⁷¹⁵⁷ This resolution called for immediate humanitarian access, the release of Israeli captives and Palestinian prisoners and recognition of United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) as the cornerstone of aid delivery. The resolution failed to the United States veto.

On 26 November 2024, G7 Foreign Ministers issued a joint statement reflecting their stance on the ongoing conflict in Lebanon.⁷¹⁵⁸ The statement expressed alarm about the increasingly dire humanitarian crisis in the region, including Lebanon, endorsed ongoing negotiations for a ceasefire and stressed the need for the uninterrupted delivery of humanitarian aid and essential services.

On 27 November 2024, France welcomed the ceasefire agreement between Israel and Lebanon, urging both parties to abide by international humanitarian law and seek diplomatic settlement.⁷¹⁵⁹ France also pledged to maintain its political and humanitarian assistance efforts in the region to ensure civilian safety.

On 2 December 2024, Minister for Europe and Foreign Affairs Jean-Noël Barrot reaffirmed France's commitment to supporting civilians in Gaza at the Cairo Ministerial Conference to Enhance the Humanitarian Response in Gaza.⁷¹⁶⁰ He also announced EUR50 million in funding including EUR20 million for the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees (UNRWA). This humanitarian aid will help provide emergency assistance in food, shelter, health and protection, particularly for women and children.

On 3 December 2024, France voted in favour of a United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) resolution titled "Peaceful settlement of the question of Palestine."⁷¹⁶¹ The resolution reaffirmed support for a two-state solution and called on Israel to cease all settlement activities and acts of violence.⁷¹⁶² It also urged respect for international humanitarian law, the protection of civilians and renewed negotiations toward a just and lasting peace. The resolution was adopted by majority vote. The resolution notes that France and Saudi Arabia have been selected as co-chairs for the High-level International Conference to discuss the question of Palestine and two-state solution in June 2025.

On 4 December 2024, France voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled "Assistance to Palestine Refugees," which reaffirmed the critical role of UNRWA.⁷¹⁶³ The resolution called for continued and expanded support to Palestinian refugees, urged the fulfilment of financial pledges and condemned disruptions to the delivery of legal clarification from the ICJ on the consequences of Israel's prolonged occupation of Palestinian territory, including East Jerusalem.⁷¹⁷⁴

On 19 December 2024, France voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled "Permanent sovereignty of the Palestinian people in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem and of the Arab population in the occupied Syrian Golan over their natural resources."⁷¹⁷⁵ The resolution reaffirmed the Palestinian people's right to permanent sovereignty over their land and natural resources and condemned Israeli settlement activities, exploitation of resources and destruction of infrastructure.⁷¹⁷⁶

On 30 December 2024, France condemned Israeli military operations targeting several hospitals in Gaza, particularly Kamal Adwan Hospital.⁷¹⁷⁷ France expressed concern for the situation of the hospital's director, patients and healthcare personnel. France reminded Israel of its obligation to adhere to international humanitarian law, which specifically requires the protection of hospital infrastructure.

On 9 January 2025, France welcomed the election of President Joseph Aoun in Lebanon and urged the authorities to focus on the country's long term-recovery.⁷¹⁷⁸ France hopes that his election will contribute to stability, support the implementation of the Lebanon-Israel ceasefire and strengthen civilian protection.

On 16 January 2025, France participated in a coordinated medical evacuation operation alongside the European Union and the World Health Organization, allowing 12 Palestinian patients to leave Gaza, six of whom were welcomed in France.⁷¹⁷⁹ France also called for the immediate reopening of all Gaza crossing points and urged Israel to facilitate the operations of international organizations and humanitarian agencies, in accordance with international law and the rulings of the International Court of Justice.

On 17 January 2025, G7 leaders issued a joint statement on the ceasefire agreement between Israel and Hamas.⁷¹⁸⁰ The leaders reaffirmed their commitment to providing humanitarian aid to Gaza and reiterated their demand for the protection of civilians and aid workers, as well as the unhindered flow of humanitarian assistance.

On 27 January 2025, the Ministry for Europe and Foreign Affairs announced that it is contributing to the implementation of the ceasefire in Lebanon and shared the extension of the deadline for the full Israeli withdrawal from southern Lebanon to 18 February 2025.⁷¹⁸¹ France urged the Israel Defense Forces to withdraw to south of the Blue Line and transfer control of the northern zone to the Lebanese Armed Forces, with support from the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon (UNIFIL) and the UN ceasefire monitoring mechanism.

On 31 January 2025, France issued a joint statement with Germany and the United Kingdom expressing concern over Israel's decision to prohibit contact between UNRWA and Israeli state officials, as well as its prohibition of UNRWA's work in Israel and East Jerusalem.⁷¹⁸² The ministers reiterated their call for Israel to guarantee the consistent flow of humanitarian aid to Gaza, emphasizing that UNRWA remains the principal provider of humanitarian assistance to Palestinians.

On 31 January 2025, France deployed three gendarmes specialized in border policing to join the European Union Border Assistance Mission for the Rafah Crossing Point.⁷¹⁸³ This initiative strengthens the presence of Palestinian Authority personnel at the crossing and supports the evacuation of several hundred civilians from Gaza for medical treatment, while also facilitating the delivery of humanitarian aid.

On 5 February 2025, France reiterated its opposition to any forced displacement of Gaza's population, which would constitute a serious violation of international law.⁷¹⁸⁴

On 13 February 2025, Minister Barrot met with the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Lebanon Youssef Raggi.⁷¹⁸⁵ Minister Barrot reiterated France's strong commitment to honoring the agreements made by Israel and Lebanon under the ceasefire of 26 November 2024, emphasizing their shared goal of easing the humanitarian situation in Lebanon. He also stressed the importance of deploying Lebanon's armed forces in the area, in line with UNSC resolutions.

On 14 February 2025, France delivered 52 tonnes of humanitarian aid for more than 1,000 civilians in the Gaza Strip, including nearly a ton of medicines donated by the French non-profit organization Tulipe.⁷¹⁸⁶ The shipment was delivered to the Jordan Hashemite Charity Organization, with French non-governmental organizations such as Première Urgence Internationale and Médecins du Monde ensuring its distribution in Gaza through Jordan's humanitarian land corridor. France reaffirmed its full commitment to addressing the humanitarian emergency in Gaza, calling for the opening of all access points and urging the facilitation of humanitarian efforts by international organizations and non-governmental organizations, in accordance with international law.

On 15 February 2025, France condemned the attack on a UNIFIL vehicle and reiterated that UN staff and peacekeeping troops must be protected.⁷¹⁸⁷ France also iterated that attacks on UNIFIL peacekeepers are a violation of international law and UNSC Resolution 1701 and may qualify as war crimes.

On 26 February 2025, France expressed concern over the escalation of Israeli military operations in the Gaza Strip, which resulted in civilian casualties and the displacement of 40,000 Palestinians.⁷¹⁸⁸ France called on Israeli authorities to ensure the protection of civilian populations in accordance with international humanitarian law and emphasized that the forcible displacement of populations violates international law.

On 5 March 2025, France, Germany and the United Kingdom issued a joint statement reaffirming their support for the continued flow of humanitarian aid to Gaza.⁷¹⁸⁹ The statement expressed deep concern over the Israeli government's announcement to halt all entry of goods and supplies into Gaza, warning that such a measure could violate international humanitarian law. France called on Israel to fulfill its international obligations by ensuring the full, rapid, safe and unhindered delivery of humanitarian assistance, including essential medical equipment, shelter items and water and sanitation supplies. It stressed that humanitarian aid must not be contingent on a ceasefire or used as a political tool.

On 20 March 2025, France participated in a joint operation with the EU and the World Health Organization to evacuate 22 Palestinian patients from the Gaza Strip.⁷¹⁹⁰ Three patients, including two children accompanied by their families, are receiving treatment in France. Since the beginning of 2024, French hospitals have treated 25 wounded Palestinian children. France reiterated its call for the immediate reopening of all Gaza crossing points and urged Israel to facilitate the work of international organizations and humanitarian agencies.

On 21 March 2025, France condemned the resumption of Israeli strikes in Gaza, calling it a devastating setback for the people of Gaza.⁷¹⁹¹ France expressed deep concern over the rising civilian casualties and urgently called for an immediate return to a ceasefire. It urged Israel to fully respect international humanitarian law, restore humanitarian access, including water, electricity and medical care, and to facilitate temporary medical evacuations.

On 22 March 2025, France condemned the renewed tensions in southern Lebanon. France called on all parties to honor the commitments made under the November 2024 ceasefire to prevent escalation, which could have serious consequences for the security of Lebanon, Israel and civilians.⁷¹⁹² France reiterated the importance of preserving the significant progress made in recent months to ensure the safety of both Israeli and Lebanese people along the Blue Line.

On 28 March 2025, France strongly condemned the rocket fire aimed at Israel from Lebanese territory, which led to an Israeli retaliation. France urged Israel to exercise restraint in its response and to protect civilian populations.⁷¹⁹³ France also urged all parties to exercise maximum restraint to prevent an escalation that could threaten the stability of the ceasefire agreed on 26 November 2024.

On 1 April 2025, France condemned the killing of 15 Palestinian Red Crescent Society and Civil Defense humanitarian workers during an Israeli military operation and called for a full investigation.⁷¹⁹⁴ France stressed that protecting aid workers is a legal obligation under international law and reaffirmed its support for the Palestinian Red Crescent, a key humanitarian partner.

On 3 April 2025, Minister Barrot and Israel's Minister of Foreign Affairs met Gideon Saar.⁷¹⁹⁵ Minister Barrot condemned attacks on humanitarian personnel, urged Israel to respect the 27 November 2024 ceasefire agreement for Lebanon and reiterated that France supports deploying UNIFIL staff to support the Lebanese Armed Forces in securing the border in areas where Israel has not withdrawn.

On 22 April 2025, France, Germany and the United Kingdom issued a joint statement urging the immediate and unhindered delivery of humanitarian aid to Gaza, citing severe shortages of essential supplies and escalating risks to civilian life.⁷¹⁹⁶ The statement underscored the need to protect humanitarian personnel and infrastructure, ensure medical access and restore coordination mechanisms to facilitate safe aid delivery. It reaffirmed that the provision of humanitarian assistance must comply with international law and remain independent of the conflict.

On 25 April 2025, France facilitated the evacuation of 115 individuals from Gaza in an attempt to support civilian protection for individuals with connections to French residents.⁷¹⁹⁷ France also reiterated the need for unimpeded humanitarian access to Gaza and the urgent resumption of ceasefire negotiations.

On 19 May 2025, Minister Barrot, the Foreign Ministers of Australia, Canada, Germany, Italy, Japan and the United Kingdom and representatives of the European Union denounced Israel's new plan for humanitarian aid which will restrict the flow of aid into the Gaza Strip and prevent United Nations workers from adequately supporting civilians.⁷¹⁹⁸ They noted that the new model will not follow humanitarian principles and called on Israel to allow humanitarian aid into Gaza and enable UN operations.

On 20 May 2025, Permanent Representative Philippe Leglise-Costa attended the EU Foreign Affairs Council where attendees discussed the humanitarian situation in Gaza.⁷¹⁹⁹ Pursuant to these discussions, EU High

On 8 August 2025, France, alongside Australia, Austria, Canada, Germany, Italy, New Zealand, Norway, the United Kingdom and the High Representative of the European Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy, condemned Israel's plan for a full offensive into Gaza, noting it would aggravate the humanitarian situation.⁷²¹⁹ Additionally, it was noted that “any attempts at annexation or of settlement extension violate international law”.

On 12 August 2025, France, alongside 28 international partners, released a joint statement urging the Government of Israel to authorize all international non-governmental organization (NGO) aid shipments to Gaza and to lift restrictions preventing essential humanitarian actors from operating.⁷²²⁰ France stressed the need for immediate and sustained measures to “ensure safe, large-scale access for the United Nations, international NGOs and humanitarian partners.” It called for the unrestricted use of all crossings and routes to deliver vital supplies, such as food, shelter, fuel, clean water and medical assistance. Simultaneously, it emphasized the prohibition of lethal force at distribution points and the necessity of safeguarding civilians, aid workers and medical staff.

On 12 August 2025, President Macron, in line with commitments made at the late-July UN Conference under the New York Declaration, declared that France was working with its partners and the United Nations to establish a temporary international stabilization mission.⁷²²¹ Proposed to operate under a UN Security Council mandate and led by regional partners, the mission aims to advance the two-state solution as a path toward securing lasting peace.

On 21 August 2025, France, alongside members of the Media Freedom Coalition, called for Israel to allow foreign media access and protect journalists working in Gaza.⁷²²² The members highlighted the crucial role journalists and media workers, be they local to Gaza or foreign, play in showcasing the reality of the war. Additionally, the members noted that “international humanitarian law offers protection to civilian journalists during armed conflict” and the call for an immediate ceasefire and “unhindered flow of humanitarian aid” were further reiterated.

On 3 September 2025, the G7 members issued a Joint Foreign Ministers' Statement urging for a ceasefire, a surge of humanitarian aid to Gaza and the release of all hostages, underscoring that alleviating civilian suffering is the immediate priority.⁷²²³

On 12 September 2025, France welcomed the UN General Assembly's adoption of the resolution endorsing the “New York Declaration on the Two-State Solution,” which it prepared in partnership with Saudi Arabia and key international partners.⁷²²⁴ The resolution called for an immediate ceasefire in Gaza, the expansion of humanitarian assistance and the strengthening of civilian protection. France noted that follow-up work will continue in New York on 22 September 2025.

On 16 September 2025, France condemned the expansion and escalation of the Israeli offensive in central Gaza City, resulting in the forced displacement of more than 300,000 people.⁷²²⁵ France denounced the severe humanitarian and health crisis, marked by widespread famine and lack of access to necessities and emergency care, and reiterated its call for Israel to lift all restrictions on humanitarian aid.

On 22 September 2025, President Macron emphasized the urgent need to protect civilians and provide humanitarian assistance at the UN.⁷²²⁶ He called for the immediate cessation of military operations, the release of all hostages held by Hamas and the unimpeded delivery of humanitarian aid to the population, highlighting the widespread displacement, hunger and suffering caused by the ongoing conflict. President Macron underscored that France, alongside international partners, is committed to ensuring massive and unrestricted humanitarian assistance, including medical care, food, water and shelter, while working towards a ceasefire and a stable framework for Gaza's reconstruction.

On 22 September 2025, France, alongside several member countries, signed the Declaration for the Protection of Humanitarian Personnel.⁷²²⁷ The signed declaration highlights the commitment towards respecting and upholding international law to protect humanitarian personnel and to safeguard the essential role of principled humanitarian action during times of conflict.

On 23 September 2025, the G7 foreign ministers, together with the EU High Representative, stressed the urgent need to alleviate the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.⁷²²⁸ They called for an immediate ceasefire, unhindered delivery of humanitarian aid and the release of all hostages. The ministers also expressed readiness to work with Arab partners on reconstruction efforts and to support a durable Israeli Palestinian peace.

On 25 September 2025, France and Saudi Arabia, as Co-Chairs of the High-Level International Conference for the Peaceful Settlement of the Question of Palestine, recognized the State of Palestine and welcomed other UN Member States that did so alongside them, including Australia, Belgium, Canada, Luxembourg, Malta, Portugal, the United Kingdom, Andorra, Monaco and San Marino.⁷²²⁹ The Co-Chairs highlighted the urgent humanitarian situation in Gaza and called for a permanent ceasefire and the unhindered delivery of humanitarian aid.

On 26 September 2025, France and a coalition of UN Member States emphasized the urgent need to scale up medical treatment for patients from Gaza.⁷²³⁰ The signatories committed to providing support through financial contributions, medical staff and equipment to treat patients in the occupied West Bank, including East Jerusalem. They strongly appealed to Israel to restore the medical aid corridor and to lift restrictions on deliveries of medicine and medical equipment to Gaza. They also called for the UN and humanitarian partners to be able to operate fully and safely, in line with international law, including UN Security Council Resolution 2286 (2016), which protects medical personnel and ensures the safe passage of their equipment, transport and supplies.

On 26 September 2025, France, alongside Belgium, Denmark, Iceland, Ireland, Japan, Norway, Saudi Arabia, Slovenia, Spain, Switzerland and the United Kingdom, launched the “Emergency Coalition for the Financial Sustainability of the Palestinian Authority” (PA) to address its urgent financial crisis.⁷²³¹ The coalition aims to stabilize the PA’s finances to ensure it can continue providing essential services, such as healthcare, education and social support.

On 29 September 2025, France welcomed the plan proposed by US President Donald Trump to end the war in Gaza.⁷²³² The French government supports the plan’s principles, which align with the “New York Declaration” of 12 September, initiated by France and Saudi Arabia. These include a permanent ceasefire in Gaza, the massive entry of humanitarian aid under UN supervision and the rejection of any forced population displacement.

On 29 September 2025, the foreign ministers of France, Germany and Poland expressed deep concern over the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.⁷²³³ They called for an immediate ceasefire, the unconditional release of hostages and the unhindered delivery of humanitarian aid in coordination with the UN.

On 9 October 2025, France welcomed the conclusion of a ceasefire agreement in Gaza, which ensures unhindered humanitarian access on a massive scale and paves the way for the future deployment of a UN-mandated international stabilization force.⁷²³⁴ Alongside its European and international partners, France announced that it will convene to mobilize concrete contributions for the second phase of US President Trump’s plan, focusing on security, governance, reconstruction and sustained support for Gaza’s humanitarian stabilization.

On 10 October 2025, France, alongside Germany and the UK, issued a statement regarding news of the ceasefire in Gaza, pledging to support UN agencies’ “substantive humanitarian aid packages” as the ceasefire goes into effect.⁷²³⁵

On 14 October 2025, France urged Israel to abide by the UN Security Council Resolution 1701 following the release of a grenade by an Israeli army drone near a UNIFIL vicinity.⁷²³⁶ France further reiterated that all parties

France has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. France has taken strong action to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance in Gaza and reinforce the protection of civilians through funding for UNRWA, evacuating civilians from Gaza and the delivery of aid in the Gaza Strip. However, it has not taken strong action for Lebanon.

Thus, France receives a score of 0.

Germany has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon.

On 26 November 2024, G7 Foreign Ministers issued a joint statement reflecting their stance on the ongoing conflict in Lebanon.⁷²³⁷ The statement expressed alarm about the increasingly dire humanitarian crisis in the region, including Lebanon, endorsed ongoing negotiations for a ceasefire and stressed the need for the uninterrupted delivery of humanitarian aid and essential services.

On 27 November 2024, Germany and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) launched the “Strengthening Resilience through Local Development” project in Lebanon.⁷²³⁸ The KfW Development Bank and UNDP aim to support civilian peacebuilding, crisis prevention and conflict resolution through this project, targeting Lebanese communities and vulnerable individuals. Over the next three years, the project will receive EUR18 million in grant funding from the Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development.

On 27 November 2024, Germany welcomed the ceasefire agreement between Israel and Lebanon, urging both parties to adhere to international humanitarian law and pursue a diplomatic resolution.⁷²³⁹ Germany reaffirmed its ongoing support for Lebanon, committing to providing humanitarian assistance to the country.

On 1 December 2024, Germany and the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) signed an agreement to provide EUR15 million in funding to support recovery efforts and examine economic potential in the Nahr el-Bared Camp in Lebanon.⁷²⁴⁰ Through this project, Germany aims to create new residential and business premises, a sustainable water supply, and increase access to emerging markets around its surrounding area. Following its destruction in 2007, Palestinians were forced to leave the camp. The restoration of the camp aims to facilitate their return.

On 3 December 2024, Germany voted in favour of a United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) resolution titled “Peaceful settlement of the question of Palestine.”⁷²⁴¹ The resolution reaffirmed support for a two-state

On 21 March 2025, Germany condemned the resumption of Israeli strikes in Gaza, calling it a devastating setback for the people of Gaza.⁷²⁶⁷ Germany expressed deep concern over the rising civilian casualties and urgently called for an immediate return to a ceasefire. It urged Israel to fully respect international humanitarian law and restore humanitarian access, including water, electricity and medical care and to facilitate temporary medical evacuation.

On 23 April 2025, Germany, France and the United Kingdom issued a joint statement urging the immediate and unhindered delivery of humanitarian aid to Gaza, citing severe shortages of essential supplies and escalating risks to civilian life.⁷²⁶⁸ The statement underscored the need to protect humanitarian personnel and infrastructure, ensure medical access to the region and restore coordination mechanisms to facilitate safe aid delivery. It reaffirmed that the provision of humanitarian assistance must comply with international law and remain independent of the conflict.

On 29 April 2025, the Federal Foreign Office reported that the humanitarian situation in Gaza has deteriorated significantly following the resumption of hostilities and the ongoing blockade on aid deliveries.⁷²⁶⁹ Germany has increased its humanitarian assistance, focusing on providing essential food and medical aid, including support for mobile clinics and water treatment facilities.

On 7 May 2025, Chancellor Friedrich Merz voiced concern over Israel's intention to take control of humanitarian aid distribution in Gaza, stressing that aid must be delivered impartially and in accordance with international humanitarian law.⁷²⁷⁰ He announced that the Foreign Minister would travel to Israel to address these concerns and reaffirmed Germany's commitment to ensuring effective, independent humanitarian access to civilians in need.

On 9 May 2025, Minister for Foreign Affairs Johann Wadephul met with Israel's Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Minister of Foreign Affairs Gideon Saar, emphasizing the urgent need address the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.⁷²⁷¹ Germany reiterated its commitment to supporting humanitarian organizations and ensuring the provision of vital aid to the civilian population.

On 19 May 2025, Minister Wadephul, the Foreign Ministers of Australia, Canada, France, Italy, Japan and the United Kingdom and representatives of the European Union denounced Israel's new plan for humanitarian aid which will restrict the flow of aid into the Gaza Strip and prevent United Nations workers from adequately supporting civilians.⁷²⁷² They noted that the new model will not follow humanitarian principles and called on Israel to allow humanitarian aid into Gaza and enable UN operations.

On 21 May 2025, the Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development and KfW Banking Group launched the first phase of the UNRWA Digital Transformation and Basic Care project.⁷²⁷³ The Ministry allocated EUR10 million to strengthen the quality and efficacy of UNRWA's provision of basic services in healthcare, education and data regulation for Palestinian refugees across the West Bank, Lebanon, Jordan and Syria through this project.

On 31 July 2025, Minister Wadehul issued a statement ahead of his visit to Israel and the Palestinian territories, addressing the rapidly worsening humanitarian situation.⁷²⁷⁴ He underscored the necessity for Israel to “enact immediate, comprehensive and sustained measures” to de-escalate the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.

On 1 August 2025, the Ministry of Defence and the Foreign Office issued a joint statement announcing the resumption of humanitarian airdrops into Gaza.⁷²⁷⁵ The first two Luftwaffe flights delivered 34 pallets totaling nearly 14 tonnes of food and medical supplies, provided by the Jordan Hashemite Charity Organization. Defence Minister Boris Pistorius and Minister Wadehul emphasized their continued cooperation with experienced UN organizations to restore established humanitarian land routes, which airdrops cannot replace. They reiterated the urgent call on the Israeli Government to grant the UN and international relief organizations safe access to ensure the secure distribution of aid.

On 8 August 2025, Germany, alongside Australia, Austria, France, Canada, Italy, New Zealand, Norway, the United Kingdom and the High Representative of the European Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy, condemned Israel's plan for a full offensive into Gaza, noting it would aggravate the humanitarian situation.⁷²⁷⁶ Additionally, it was noted that “any attempts at annexation or of settlement extension violate international law.”

On 21 August 2025, Germany, alongside members of the Media Freedom Coalition, called for Israel to allow foreign media access and protect journalists working in Gaza.⁷²⁷⁷ The members highlighted the crucial role journalists and media workers, be they local to Gaza or foreign, play in showcasing the reality of the war. Additionally, the members noted that “international humanitarian law offers protection to civilian journalists during armed conflict” and the call for an immediate ceasefire and “unhindered flow of humanitarian aid” were further reiterated.

On 26 August 2025, Development Minister Reem Alabali Radovan announced Germany's plans under its “Early Recovery” package designed to support the reconstruction in Gaza.⁷²⁷⁸ The plan will include “temporary accommodation, the repair of water pipes and schools, and cash-for-work programs for short-term jobs”. Additionally, it was noted that Germany is currently supporting smaller-scale aid initiatives such as psychological support, disability assistance, water and sanitation programs, and employment schemes.

On 3 September 2025, the G7 members issued a Joint Foreign Ministers' Statement urging for a ceasefire, a surge of humanitarian aid to Gaza and the release of all hostages, underscoring that alleviating civilian suffering is the immediate priority.⁷²⁷⁹

On 12 September 2025, the foreign ministers of France, Germany and the United Kingdom condemned Israel's strikes in Doha, which violated Qatar's sovereignty and risked further escalation in the region.⁷²⁸⁰ They stressed that the priority must remain on addressing the humanitarian crisis in Gaza, ensuring the immediate and unhindered delivery of aid and alleviating famine and civilian suffering. The ministers also called for the safe, large-scale operation of the UN and humanitarian NGOs across Gaza, to protect civilians and restore essential services.

On 21 September 2025, Minister Radovan travelled to New York to participate in the UN General Assembly and Two-State Solution Conference.⁷²⁸¹ It was noted that Germany aims to enhance living conditions in the Palestinian territories and strengthen the development of effective institutions. Additionally, it was highlighted that these efforts are essential foundations for Palestinian statehood within a negotiated two-state solution, allowing both Israelis and Palestinians to live in peace and security.

On 22 September 2025, Germany, alongside several member countries, signed the Declaration for the Protection of Humanitarian Personnel.⁷²⁸² The signed declaration highlights the commitment towards respecting and upholding international law to protect humanitarian personnel and to safeguard the essential role of principled humanitarian action during times of conflict.

On 22 September 2025, Minister Wadephul issued a statement highlighting the urgent need to address the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.⁷²⁸³ He stressed the immediate necessity of a ceasefire, a substantial increase in humanitarian assistance and the unconditional release of hostages. Germany emphasized that the UN must remain a strong and effective forum to address global crises, including international humanitarian emergencies.

On 23 September 2025, the G7 foreign ministers, together with the EU High Representative, stressed the urgent need to alleviate the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.⁷²⁸⁴ They called for an immediate ceasefire, unhindered delivery of humanitarian aid and the release of all hostages. The ministers also expressed readiness to work with Arab partners on reconstruction efforts and to support a durable Israeli Palestinian peace.

On 24 September 2025, Minister Wadephul addressed the Bundestag on the 2026 budget, highlighting the urgent humanitarian crisis in Gaza, which he described as "hell on Earth."⁷²⁸⁵ He reaffirmed Germany's commitment to engaging with Israel, Palestinians and Arab partners to end the conflict and ensure the immediate delivery of humanitarian aid to alleviate suffering. Minister Wadephul emphasized that the international community cannot remain passive and must act to address both the urgent humanitarian needs in Gaza and the broader pursuit of a lasting peace in the area.

On 27 September 2025, Minister Wadephul addressed the General Debate of the 80th UN General Assembly, highlighting the severe humanitarian crisis in Gaza, which he described as “a humanitarian nightmare.”⁷²⁸⁶ He stressed the urgent need for the immediate release of hostages and the rapid delivery of humanitarian aid to alleviate civilian suffering. Minister Wadephul further emphasized Germany’s strong commitment to humanitarian assistance, noting that it is one of the largest donors to the UN system and provides aid to Gaza through well-established partners operating according to humanitarian principles. He also underlined that justice and peace include access to food, clean water, healthcare, and education and that addressing the humanitarian catastrophe is essential for long-term stability in the Middle East.

On 29 September 2025, the foreign ministers of France, Germany and Poland expressed deep concern over the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.⁷²⁸⁷ They called for an immediate ceasefire, the unconditional release of hostages and the unhindered delivery of humanitarian aid in coordination with the UN.

On 29 September 2025, Foreign Minister Wadephul welcomed the US peace plan for Gaza as a significant opportunity to end the war, alleviate the humanitarian suffering of civilians and secure the release of hostages.⁷²⁸⁸ He emphasized the urgency of engaging all parties, including Hamas, to seize this chance for peace. Minister Wadephul reaffirmed Germany’s readiness to support the plan through concrete measures.

On 8 October 2025, Minister Wadephul addressed the Bundestag regarding the humanitarian crisis and conflict in Gaza, noting the suffering of civilians for over two years.⁷²⁸⁹ Minister Wadephul welcomed the 20-Point Plan supported by the US and Arab nations as a concrete framework to end the war, stabilize Gaza and lay the foundations for a future two-state solution. Minister Wadephul further announced Germany’s cooperation with Egypt to co-organize a reconstruction conference for Gaza, underscoring Germany’s commitment to peace, security and humanitarian relief in the region.

On 9 October 2025, Minister Wadephul underlined that humanitarian aid must be accompanied by political and economic prospects in the Gaza Strip to ensure long-term stability.⁷²⁹⁰ Ahead of meetings in Paris with European, Arab and Muslim partners, he reaffirmed Germany’s readiness to contribute to humanitarian assistance, stabilization and reconstruction efforts in Gaza, coordinating closely with international partners to support the successful implementation of the US peace plan.

On 10 October 2025, Germany, alongside France and the UK, issued a statement regarding news of the ceasefire in Gaza, pledging to support UN agencies’ “substantive humanitarian aid packages” as the ceasefire goes into effect.⁷²⁹¹

Germany has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. Germany has taken weak action across all four commitment components through statements welcoming the ceasefire in Lebanon and reaffirming its commitment to providing humanitarian aid to Lebanon, supporting UN General Assembly resolutions, releasing joint statements on the flow of aid and civilian protection in the Gaza Strip and condemning Israel's hostilities in the region. Germany has also taken strong action to provide humanitarian assistance to Palestinian refugees, including Gazans, through agreements with UNRWA and to reinforce the protection of civilians in Lebanon through a partnership with the UNDP. However, it has not taken strong action across all parts of the commitment.

Thus, Germany receives a score of 0.

On 26 September 2025, BRICS ministers issued a joint statement following their annual meeting chaired by India.⁷³²⁵ The various parties called for unimpeded access to Gaza and the delivery of humanitarian aid and reiterated their support for UNRWA in its mandate to provide critical services to Palestinians.

On 26 September 2025, Minister Jaishankar, joined by Brazil's Minister of Foreign Affairs Mauro Vieira and South Africa's Minister in the Presidency for Women, Youth and Persons with Disabilities Sindisiwe Chikunga, delivered a joint statement following their 13th India, Brazil and South Africa Dialogue Forum Trilateral Ministerial Commission Meeting.⁷³²⁶ With regards to Gaza, the statement called for compliance with international humanitarian and human rights law, the unimpeded access and delivery of humanitarian aid and respect for UNRWA's mandate.

On 9 October 2025, Prime Minister Modi and Prime Minister of the United Kingdom Keir Starmer published a joint statement about Gaza as a matter of shared interest.⁷³²⁷ The two leaders reiterated their call for the protection of civilians, compliance with international law and the delivery of humanitarian aid.

India has partially complied with the commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. India has taken weak action towards the commitment through its support for UNGA resolutions, statements calling for humanitarian aid for Gaza, reaffirming its commitment to UNRWA and welcoming the ceasefire in Lebanon. However, it has not taken strong action across the commitment.

Thus, India receives a score of 0.

On 9 October 2025, Indonesia welcomed the initial phase of the ceasefire in Gaza and the permanent halt to violence.⁷³⁸⁷ Indonesia urged the international community to build on this momentum to revive the peace process in Palestine, grounded in the Two-State Solution, and to work toward the creation of a sovereign Palestinian state in accordance with established resolutions and international law.

Indonesia has fully complied with the commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. Indonesia has taken strong action to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance to the Gaza Strip through coordinated fundraising campaigns and the mobilization of resources. Indonesia has also taken strong action to reinforce the protection of civilians through evacuations and through its deployment of peacekeepers to support UNIFIL. The UNIFIL operation also supports the expansion of humanitarian assistance in Lebanon.

Thus, Indonesia receives a score of +1.

On 11 August 2025, Prime Minister Meloni spoke with Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas.⁷⁴⁴⁹ Prime Minister Meloni reaffirmed Italy's support for a two-State solution, its opposition to the forced displacement of civilians in Gaza and its commitment to humanitarian aid and bilateral cooperation, including in the security and health sectors.

On 29 August 2025, Minister Tajani highlighted the need for a ceasefire, the release of hostages and unrestricted humanitarian access in Gaza.⁷⁴⁵⁰ Additionally, it was noted that Italy and Saudi Arabia are committed to building a "stable, peaceful and prosperous Middle East" as stated in the Saudi-Italian Strategic Partnership Council in early 2025.

On 21 August 2025, Italy, alongside members of the Media Freedom Coalition, called for Israel to allow foreign media access and protect journalists working in Gaza.⁷⁴⁵¹ The members highlighted the crucial role journalists and media workers, be they local to Gaza or foreign, play in showcasing the reality of the war. Additionally, the members noted that "international humanitarian law offers protection to civilian journalists during armed conflict" and the call for an immediate ceasefire and "unhindered flow of humanitarian aid" were further reiterated.

On 21 August 2025, Italy, alongside several member countries, released a joint statement condemning a decision made by the Israeli Higher Planning Committee to authorize plans for building settlements in the E1 area, East of Jerusalem.⁷⁴⁵² It was further highlighted that this decision needs to be reversed immediately as it will make the two-state solution impossible and will not bring any benefits to Israel.

On 25 August 2025, Minister Tajani, alongside several European state ministers, held a telephone conversation with the US Secretary of State Marco Rubio.⁷⁴⁵³ During the call, Minister Tajani reiterated Italy's support for the renewal of the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon, highlighting the mission's stabilizing role in Lebanon and the strong trust it continues to receive from the civilian population.

On 3 September 2025, the G7 members issued a Joint Foreign Ministers' Statement urging for a ceasefire, a surge of humanitarian aid to Gaza and the release of all hostages, underscoring that alleviating civilian suffering is the immediate priority.⁷⁴⁵⁴

On 3 September 2025, Minister Tajani met with the US Senior Advisor for Africa and Arab and Middle Eastern Affairs Massad Boulos.⁷⁴⁵⁵ The pair underlined their joint commitment to a ceasefire and increased humanitarian assistance in the Gaza Strip, while Minister Tajani also emphasized the importance of achieving stability in Lebanon.

On 12 September 2025, Italy voted in favor of the UN General Assembly Resolution on the State of Palestine.⁷⁴⁵⁶ The resolution, which Italy co-sponsored, calls for collective action to resolve the ongoing conflict in Gaza, and the implementation of a peaceful two-state solution.

On 22 September 2025, Italy, alongside several member countries, signed the Declaration for the Protection of Humanitarian Personnel.⁷⁴⁵⁷ The signed declaration highlights the commitment towards respecting and upholding international law to protect humanitarian personnel and to safeguard the essential role of principled humanitarian action during times of conflict.

On 23 September 2025, the G7 foreign ministers, together with the EU High Representative, stressed the urgent need to alleviate the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.⁷⁴⁵⁸ They called for an immediate ceasefire, unhindered delivery of humanitarian aid and the release of all hostages. The ministers also expressed readiness to work with Arab partners on reconstruction efforts and to support a durable Israeli Palestinian peace.

On 6 October 2025, the Undersecretary of State Tripodi, participated in the 29th Joint Committee and Ministerial Meeting held between the European Union and the Gulf Cooperation Council.⁷⁴⁵⁹ During the meeting, Italy reinforced its commitment to building peace in the Middle East, focusing on the need to strengthen both institutions and armed forces in Lebanon for the country's security and development.

Italy has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. Italy has taken strong action to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance to Gaza through aid deliveries as part of the Food for Gaza initiative and increased funding for medical efforts. Italy has taken action to reinforce the protection of civilians by supporting the security of the Rafah crossing point and the coordinated evacuation of at-risk civilians. However, Italy has not taken strong actions to support Lebanon.

Thus, Italy receives a score of 0.

Japan has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. Japan has taken strong action to expand humanitarian assistance in Gaza through the UNHCR and weak action across the other three commitment components through support for UNGA resolutions, statements reiterating the need for humanitarian aid and civilian protection and condemning Israel's hostilities in the region.

Thus, Japan receives a score 0.

Korea has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon.

On 20 November 2024, Korea voted in favour of a draft resolution proposed by Korea and the nine other elected members of the United Nations Security Council calling for an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire in Gaza.⁷⁵²² This resolution called for immediate humanitarian access, the release of Israeli captives and Palestinian prisoners and recognition of United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) as the cornerstone of aid delivery. The resolution failed to the United States veto.

On 20 November 2024, Korea contributed KRW20 million to support the United Nations World Food Programme's (WFP) emergency food assistance in the Gaza Strip and West Bank.⁷⁵²³ The funds will support displaced families in Gaza, vulnerable communities in the West Bank and provide electricity for those in need.

On 20 November 2024, Korea allocated USD500,000 to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) to support its humanitarian response for Lebanon.⁷⁵²⁴ This contribution will go towards the provision of basic supplies, improve conditions in emergency shelters and support vulnerable families in the country.

On 27 November 2024, Korea welcomed a ceasefire agreement between Israel and Lebanon.⁷⁵²⁵ Korea emphasized the importance of the restoration of peace in the region for the local civilians.

On 2 December 2024, Korea and Malaysia announced a strategic partnership and jointly condemned the escalation of violence in Gaza and Lebanon and called for a ceasefire and access to humanitarian aid.⁷⁵²⁶ They also jointly emphasized the importance of protecting civilians and called for peace and security in the region.

On 3 December 2024, Korea voted in favour of a United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) resolution titled "Peaceful settlement of the question of Palestine."⁷⁵²⁷ The resolution reaffirmed support for a two-state

Saudi Arabia has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon.

On 2 December 2024, the King Salman Humanitarian Aid and Relief Center (KSrelief) sent a plane to Lebanon with various aid supplies, including medical, shelter and food items, reaffirming Saudi Arabia's commitment to humanitarian aid.⁷⁶⁵⁰

On 3 December 2024, Saudi Arabia voted in favour of a United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) resolution titled "Peaceful settlement of the question of Palestine."⁷⁶⁵¹ The resolution reaffirmed support for a two-state solution and called on Israel to cease all settlement activities and acts of violence.⁷⁶⁵² It also urged respect for international humanitarian law, the protection of civilians and renewed negotiations toward a just and lasting peace. The resolution was adopted by majority vote. The resolution notes that France and Saudi Arabia have been selected as co-chairs for the High-level International Conference to discuss the question of Palestine and two-state solution in June 2025.

On 4 December 2024, Saudi Arabia voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled "Assistance to Palestine Refugees," which reaffirmed the critical role of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA).⁷⁶⁵³ The resolution called for continued and expanded support to Palestinian refugees, urged the fulfilment of financial pledges and condemned disruptions to the delivery of essential services, thereby supporting expanded humanitarian assistance to displaced Palestinians.⁷⁶⁵⁴ The resolution was adopted by majority vote.

On 4 December 2024, Saudi Arabia voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled "Israeli settlements in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem and the occupied Syrian Golan."⁷⁶⁵⁵ The resolution reaffirmed the illegality of Israel's settlements in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, called on Israel to abide by the "Geneva Convention relative to the Protection of Civilian Persons in Time of War" and other legal obligations per the International Court of Justice's advisory opinions and reiterated the need for civilian protection for Palestinians.⁷⁶⁵⁶ The resolution was adopted by majority vote.

sought legal clarification from the ICJ on the consequences of Israel's prolonged occupation of Palestinian territory, including East Jerusalem.⁷⁷³⁷

On 19 December 2024, South Africa voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled "Permanent sovereignty of the Palestinian people in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem and of the Arab population in the occupied Syrian Golan over their natural resources."⁷⁷³⁸ The resolution reaffirmed the Palestinian people's right to permanent sovereignty over their land and natural resources and condemned Israeli settlement activities, exploitation of resources and destruction of infrastructure.⁷⁷³⁹

On 27 February 2025, Permanent Representative Mathu Joyini delivered a comprehensive letter to President of the UN Security Council, China, including a document titled "Public dossier of openly available evidence on the State of Israel's acts of genocide against the Palestinians in Gaza, as of 4 February 2025."⁷⁷⁴⁰ The 227 page letter outlined Israel's acts of genocide against Palestinians in Gaza, including the denial of humanitarian aid and harm to civilians, attacks on UN personnel and institutions and "contempt for the International Court of Justice and the International Criminal Court," calling on the UN Security Council to ensure Israel's compliance with the ICJ's orders.

On 5 March 2025, South Africa condemned the refusal of Israel to allow humanitarian aid into Gaza, as well as the closure of border crossings during the high need for humanitarian aid.⁷⁷⁴¹ South Africa concurred with Qatar that halting the entry of humanitarian aid to Gaza is a breach of the ceasefire agreement and urged all parties to make every effort to prevent a return to hostilities in Gaza. South Africa expressed support for the Arab League's call for a UN international peacekeeping force in both Gaza and the West Bank to ensure security and stability. South Africa also called on the international community to act with urgency and decisive action to address the apparent violations of "international law and international human rights law" in Gaza.

On 18 March 2025, South Africa condemned a massive Israeli airstrike which killed over 350 Palestinians, after the airstrikes raised concerns about the commitment to a permanent ceasefire plan.⁷⁷⁴² South Africa called the airstrikes "a blatant violation of international law, including international humanitarian law".

On 16 April 2025, South Africa condemned the bombing of the al-Ahli Arab hospital in Gaza, as well as the killing of 15 humanitarian personnel in Gaza.⁷⁷⁴³ South Africa also expressed concern over the lack of all aid entering Gaza since 2 March 2025.

On 2 October 2025, President Ramaphosa demanded the immediate release of South Africans and other nationals abducted when Israeli forces intercepted the humanitarian Global Sumud Flotilla.⁷⁷⁵⁹

On 8 October 2025, South Africa welcomed progress towards a Gaza peace agreement, emphasized the urgency of hostage release and political prisoners' return and renewed calls for unhindered humanitarian access.⁷⁷⁶⁰

On 9 October 2025, South Africa welcomed the first phase of the peace plan between Hamas and Israel, urged all parties to commit to agreements and demanded immediate entry of aid into Gaza.⁷⁷⁶¹

South Africa has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. South Africa has condemned the lack of humanitarian aid to the Gaza Strip and to Lebanon; however, it has taken few substantial steps beyond those statements. It has also advocated for the movement of humanitarian aid into the Gaza Strip but has failed to take strong action towards the commitment.

Thus, South Africa receives a score of 0.

The condemnation serves to reaffirm Türkiye's commitment to protecting civilians in Palestine and ensuring the catastrophic humanitarian situation does not worsen.

On 21 March 2025, President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan announced intensified diplomatic efforts to restore a ceasefire in Gaza.⁷⁷⁹¹ He condemned Israel's military campaign as genocide and emphasized Türkiye's ongoing support for Gaza. He pledged to hold Israel accountable in international courts.

On 24 March 2025, Permanent Representative Ahmet Yıldız and representatives from Indonesia, Saudi Arabia, Bahrain, Egypt, Jordan, Nigeria, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates and the State of Palestine wrote a letter to the President of the UN Security Council, Denmark, discussing the situation in Gaza.⁷⁷⁹² The members, part of the Arab-Islamic Ministerial Committee, called for civilian protection, the resumption of humanitarian aid delivery and the "immediate resumption of negotiations" regarding phase two of the ceasefire in Gaza. They also reiterated that preventing humanitarian aid delivery and harming civilians violates international humanitarian law.

On 29 March 2025, Türkiye condemned Israel's airstrikes against Lebanon and reaffirmed its commitment to the people of Lebanon.⁷⁷⁹³ The Ministry of Foreign Affairs emphasized Israel's violation of international law and ceasefire agreements and emphasized the role of the international community to prevent conflict in the region.

On 2 April 2025, Türkiye strongly condemned the storming of Al-Aqsa Mosque by a member of the Israeli government.⁷⁷⁹⁴ Türkiye also criticized the Netanyahu administration's plans to expand military operations in Gaza and continue illegal settlements in the West Bank, emphasizing that this is a violation of international law. Türkiye called on the international community to oppose such actions.

On 3 April 2025, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs criticized Israel's recent unprovoked air and ground attacks on Lebanon, which undermine peace efforts and destabilize the region.⁷⁷⁹⁵

On 29 April 2025, Turkish diplomatic sources announced that Deputy Foreign Minister Nuh Yilmaz is set to address the ICJ on 30 April 2025 regarding “Israel’s responsibilities toward the UN, international organisations, and third countries in the occupied Palestinian territories”.⁷⁷⁹⁶

On 30 April 2025, Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs Nuh Yilmaz addressed the ICJ, reaffirming Türkiye’s “commitment to ensuring that Israel adheres to its international obligations.”⁷⁷⁹⁷ Minister Yilmaz underscored the need for Israel to comply with international obligations including ensuring the unhindered access to humanitarian assistance, essential goods and basic services for civilians in the Occupied Palestinian Territories. Noting Israel’s membership in the UN, Türkiye urged that Israel be required to “act in good faith to fulfil its obligations under the Security Council and UNGA resolutions.”

On 6 May 2025, Türkiye condemned Israel’s actions in the Middle East, accusing it of destabilizing the region through attacks on Syria, Lebanon and Yemen.⁷⁷⁹⁸ It criticized Israel’s decision to expand the occupation of Gaza, called on the international community to stand against Israel’s aggression and reaffirmed its commitment to peace and stability in the Middle East.

On 19 May 2025, Türkiye condemned Israel’s ground operation in Gaza, calling for an end to the operations and resumption of unrestricted humanitarian aid for civilians.⁷⁷⁹⁹ It also called on the international community to act in accordance with humanitarian obligations to ensure regional peace and security.

On 27 May 2025, Minister of Foreign Affairs Hakan Fidan and Russia’s Minister of Foreign Affairs Sergey Lavrov held a joint press conference after talks, emphasizing that Russia and Türkiye agree that the violence in Gaza must end immediately and noting that “prospects for establishing a Palestinian state (as required by a UN resolution) are deliberately destroyed.”⁷⁸⁰⁰ They agreed to cooperate with the Arab League and the Organization of Islamic Cooperation, chaired by Türkiye, to leverage their collective influence to end the humanitarian crisis.

On 12 June 2025, Türkiye voted in favour of a UNGA resolution it co-sponsored titled “Protection of civilians and upholding legal and humanitarian obligations” during the 10th Emergency Special Session.⁷⁸⁰¹ The resolution demanded “an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire,” the release of all hostages and condemned the starvation of civilians, while calling on all parties to uphold their international humanitarian obligations. It also called on Israel to stop its blockade on humanitarian aid, endorsed the United Nations-Coordinated Plan to Resume Humanitarian Aid Deliveries to Gaza and reiterated UNGA’s support for UNRWA and a two-state solution.

On 18 June 2025, Co-Chairs of the United Nations High-Level International Conference on the Peaceful Settlement of the Palestinian Question and the Implementation of the Two-State Solution France and Saudi Arabia and Co-Chairs of the relevant Working Groups Brazil, Canada, Egypt, Indonesia, Ireland, Italy, Japan,

Jordan, Mexico, Norway, Qatar, Senegal, Spain, Türkiye, the United Kingdom, the European Union and the League of Arab States released a joint statement reaffirming their support for a two-state solution.⁷⁸⁰² The statement called for peace and stability, efforts to end the war in Gaza and a lasting solution to the Palestinian question.

On 21 June 2025, President Erdoğan announced that UNRWA will open an office in Ankara to strengthen support for Palestinian civilians.⁷⁸⁰³ He also urged Muslim-majority countries at the Organization of Islamic Cooperation summit to increase financial and moral support for UNRWA, which Israel has banned from Gaza, condemned Israel's genocide in Gaza and explained that banning UNRWA violates international law. Moreover, he explained that the opening of the UNRWA office is part of Türkiye's broader plan to protect Palestinian refugees and maintain humanitarian aid to Palestinian civilians.

On 25 June 2025, President Erdoğan held a meeting with the United Kingdom's Prime Minister Keir Starmer, during which both leaders emphasized the urgent need for an acceleration of aid to Gaza.⁷⁸⁰⁴

On 30 June 2025, Türkiye voted in favour of a UNGA resolution titled "Financing of the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon."⁷⁸⁰⁵ The resolution allocated USD605,340,200 for the Interim Force between 1 July 2025-30 June 2026, with UNGA Member States to provide USD100,890,000 between 1 July 2025-31 August 2025.⁷⁸⁰⁶ It also expressed concern regarding Israel's failure to adhere to numerous UNGA resolutions, calling on it to comply.

On 3 July 2025, Türkiye condemned Israeli statements about annexing the West Bank, warning of the impact of such behaviors on Palestinian civilians.⁷⁸⁰⁷ Türkiye stressed that Israel's forced displacement of Palestinians deepens regional instability. It stated that it recognizes Palestinian rights.

On 20 July 2025, Türkiye reaffirmed its support for Palestinian citizens, rejecting allegations that it was undermining the Palestinian cause.⁷⁸⁰⁸ Türkiye also emphasized its endorsement of the Arab League–Organization of Islamic Cooperation plan for Gaza's reconstruction and support of the genocide case filed against Israel at the International Court of Justice. Türkiye expressed its continued support for the Palestinian people, international law and human rights.

On 23 July 2025, Türkiye condemned the Israeli parliament's resolution, which calls for the annexation of the occupied West Bank.⁷⁸⁰⁹ It declared that this resolution is void under international law and undermines peace efforts. Türkiye expressed concern for the Israeli government's actions, explaining that they pose a threat to the international order and regional security. Türkiye called for immediate measures to prevent the aggression of Israel.

On 24 July 2025, Türkiye condemned Israel's approval of a declaration which calls for Israeli sovereignty over the West Bank.⁷⁸¹⁰ It emphasized that Israeli efforts to gain sovereignty over the Occupied Palestinian Territory create tensions in the region. It also mentioned the humanitarian catastrophe caused by Israel's aggression on the Gaza Strip. Türkiye reaffirmed its commitment to a two-state solution that recognizes an independent Palestinian state.

On 31 July 2025, President Recep Tayyip Erdogan expressed Turkish efforts to prevent a humanitarian disaster in Gaza by increasing pressure on the Israeli government.⁷⁸¹¹ President Erdogan reaffirmed his efforts to deliver humanitarian aid to Gaza and achieve a ceasefire.

On 3 August 2025, Türkiye condemned Israel's storming of the Al-Aqsa Mosque and emphasized that these actions undermine the two-state solution and peace efforts.⁷⁸¹² Türkiye called for an immediate ceasefire.

On 8 August 2025, Türkiye condemned Israel's decision to widen military operations in Gaza, highlighting that this perpetuates genocide.⁷⁸¹³ Türkiye expressed that such actions prevent international peace and security efforts. It called on the international community to prevent these actions to maintain international law and humanitarian values.

On 9 August 2025, Türkiye condemned Israel's intention to impose full military control over the Gaza Strip.⁷⁸¹⁴ Türkiye expressed that this violates international law and that Israel's continued killing and starvation of Palestinians, annexation of Palestinian land and settler terrorism prevent peace. Türkiye explained that Israel's actions violated the Palestinians' rights and called for an immediate cessation of Israeli aggression against the Gaza Strip. Türkiye also called for Israel to allow humanitarian aid to enter Gaza, for support to achieve a ceasefire, for the implementation of the Arab-Islamic reconstruction plan for the Gaza Strip and rejection of attempts to displace Palestinians. Türkiye held Israel responsible for the genocide in Gaza and called for the international community to prevent Israeli aggression.

On 9 October 2025, Minister Fidan attended a meeting on Gaza in France and participated in discussions to implement the US Peace Plan, which aims to end the war in Gaza.⁷⁸²³

Türkiye has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. Türkiye has taken weak action for all four commitment components through support for UNGA resolutions and statements condemning Israel's hostilities in the region and calling for the expansion of humanitarian aid and civilian protection for Gaza and Lebanon. However, it has not taken strong action across the commitment.

Thus, Türkiye receives a score of 0.

The United Kingdom has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon.

On 20 November 2024, the United Kingdom voted in favour of a draft resolution proposed by the ten elected members of the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) calling for an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire in Gaza.⁷⁸²⁴ This resolution called for immediate humanitarian access, the release of Israeli captives and Palestinian prisoners and recognition of United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) as the cornerstone of aid delivery. The resolution failed to the United States veto.

On 26 November 2024, G7 Foreign Ministers issued a joint statement reflecting their stance on the ongoing conflict in Lebanon.⁷⁸²⁵ The statement expressed alarm about the increasingly dire humanitarian crisis in the region, including Lebanon, endorsed ongoing negotiations for a ceasefire and stressed the need for the uninterrupted delivery of humanitarian aid and essential services.

On 2 December 2024, Minister for Development Anneliese Dodds announced GBP19 million in funding for humanitarian relief efforts in Gaza.⁷⁸²⁶ This includes GBP12 million for the World Food Programme and the United Nations' Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs to boost essential health, food, water and protection services provided for Palestinians.

On 3 December 2024, Secretary of State for Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Affairs David Lammy announced that the United Kingdom and Qatar will double their funding for humanitarian assistance projects, bringing the total to GBP79.4 million.⁷⁸²⁷ The funding will aid vulnerable populations, including those in Gaza.

humanitarian support will facilitate the provision of critical medical supplies, safe drinking water and food for tens of thousands of Palestinians.

On 22 May 2025, Prime Minister Starmer held a call with Egyptian President Abdel Fattah El-Sisi, during which the two reaffirmed the need to remove aid restrictions in Gaza.⁷⁸⁷²

On 22 May 2025, Deputy Permanent Representative Kariuki delivered a speech at the UN Security Council meeting on the protection of civilians in armed conflict, including in Gaza.⁷⁸⁷³ He stated that the Security Council must use all available tools to urge parties to conflict to comply with International Humanitarian and Human Rights Law in order to prevent further attacks on civilians and civilian infrastructure, and also reaffirmed the United Kingdom's support for the International Criminal Court in holding perpetrators of violations against civilians accountable.

On 28 May 2025, Deputy Permanent Representative Kariuki delivered a speech at the UN Security Council meeting on the Middle East, noting that the UN's earlier warnings regarding Israel's aid distribution system had materialized and resulted in widespread casualties among aid-seekers.⁷⁸⁷⁴ Deputy Permanent Representative Kariuki stated that 9,000 trucks were waiting at the border to Gaza and called on Israel to facilitate their entry and allow the UN to carry out its humanitarian duties safely.

On 4 June 2025, Minister Falconer addressed the House of Commons regarding the situation in Gaza amid reports of mass casualties in aid sites.⁷⁸⁷⁵ He expressed concern that Israel's new distribution system was endangering civilian lives and urged Israel to allow the UN and humanitarian agencies to deliver assistance to the Gaza Strip safely. Minister Falconer also affirmed that the United Kingdom would continue working with its international partners to address the humanitarian crisis and collectively push for the lifting of aid restrictions.

On 4 June 2025, the United Kingdom voted in favour of a draft UN Security Council resolution co-sponsored by the ten elected members of the UN Security Council.⁷⁸⁷⁶ The resolution called for "an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire in Gaza," the release of all hostages held by Hamas and other groups, the lifting of all humanitarian aid restrictions and the restoration of essential services. The resolution did not pass due to a veto by the United States. Permanent Representative Woodward noted that the United Kingdom's vote reflects its opposition to Israel's aid restrictions and new aid system that has led to Palestinian deaths, calling Israel's actions "inhumane."⁷⁸⁷⁷ should be on allowing a surge of aid into Gaza and called on Israel to permit humanitarian agencies to work safely and cease military action that has caused mass civilian casualties in Gaza City.

On 12 September 2025, Prime Minister Starmer held a meeting with Ireland's Taoiseach Micheál Martin, and the two leaders agreed on the importance of getting humanitarian aid into Gaza.⁷⁹²⁵

On 17 September 2025, Secretary of Health and Social Care Wes Streeting, Secretary Cooper and National Health Service National Medical Director Meghana Pandit announced the arrival of Gazan children to the UK for urgent medical care.⁷⁹²⁶ Secretary Cooper further called for the protection of healthcare infrastructure and workers in Gaza and for the unhindered flow of humanitarian aid into Gaza.

On 18 September 2025, Permanent Representative Woodward delivered a speech explaining the UK's support of the UN Security Council vote on the humanitarian situation in the Occupied Palestinian Territories.⁷⁹²⁷ She called on the Israeli government to immediately remove its restrictions on the delivery of humanitarian aid and permit humanitarian agencies and the UN to do their life-saving work.

On 21 September 2025, Prime Minister Starmer presented a statement regarding the UK's recognition of Palestine.⁷⁹²⁸ During his speech, he noted the insufficient entry of aid to the region and reiterated his call on Israel to remove all border restrictions to permit a surge of humanitarian aid to reach Gaza.

On 21 September 2025, Secretary Cooper delivered a statement regarding the UK's decision to formally recognize Palestine.⁷⁹²⁹ In the speech, she voiced that the Israeli government must "change course" and allow urgently needed humanitarian aid to enter Gaza.

On 21 September 2025, the United Kingdom announced that it will recognise the independent and sovereign State of Palestine.⁷⁹³⁰ This recognition is in collaboration with Australia and Canada to "build new momentum for a two-state solution, starting with a ceasefire in Gaza and the release of the hostages taken in the atrocities of October 7, 2023."

On 22 September 2025, the United Kingdom, alongside several member countries, signed the Declaration for the Protection of Humanitarian Personnel.⁷⁹³¹ The signed declaration highlights the commitment towards respecting and upholding international law to protect humanitarian personnel and to safeguard the essential role of principled humanitarian action during times of conflict.

On 23 September 2025, Secretary Cooper met with the G7 Foreign Ministers on the sidelines of the United Nations General Assembly.⁷⁹³² The ministers emphasized the urgent need for a surge of humanitarian aid into Gaza to provide relief for civilians.

On 23 September 2025, Secretary Cooper delivered a statement at the UN Security Council meeting about the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.⁷⁹³³ She highlighted the blockage of essential medicines to Gazan hospitals and the need for the urgent and complete resumption of humanitarian aid into Gaza.

On 26 September 2025, the United Kingdom, alongside Belgium, Denmark, France, Iceland, Ireland, Japan, Norway, Saudi Arabia, Slovenia, Spain and Switzerland, launched the “Emergency Coalition for the Financial Sustainability of the Palestinian Authority” (PA) to address its urgent financial crisis.⁷⁹³⁴ The coalition aims to stabilize the PA’s finances to ensure it can continue providing essential services, such as healthcare, education and social support.

On 29 September 2025, Permanent Representative Woodward delivered a statement at the UN Security Council meeting on Palestine.⁷⁹³⁵ She urged Israel to permit the unrestricted entry of humanitarian aid into Gaza, including through the complete re-opening of the King Hussein/Allenby Bridge.

On 1 October 2025, Deputy Permanent Representative Kariuki spoke at the UN Security Council meeting on Gaza.⁷⁹³⁶ He reiterated the UK’s call for Israel to promote the protection of civilians, remove all restrictions on the delivery of aid and permit humanitarian organizations to perform their life-saving work.

On 9 October 2025, Prime Minister Starmer delivered a statement regarding the Gaza peace deal.⁷⁹³⁷ He asserted that the deal must now make way for the immediate removal of all restrictions on humanitarian aid to Gaza.

On 9 October 2025, Prime Minister Starmer and Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi published a joint statement about Gaza as a matter of shared interest.⁷⁹³⁸ The two leaders reiterated their call for the protection of civilians, compliance with international law and the delivery of humanitarian aid.

On 10 October 2025, Prime Minister Starmer issued a statement regarding news of the ceasefire in Gaza with the leaders of France and Germany, pledging to support UN agencies' "substantive humanitarian aid packages" as the ceasefire goes into effect.⁷⁹³⁹

The United Kingdom has partially complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. The United Kingdom has taken strong action to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance in Gaza through humanitarian funding, increased funding for UNRWA and a GBP101 million pledge for the Palestinian Authority. It has also supported the protection of civilians in Gaza through support for UNRWA. Additionally, it has taken strong action to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance in Lebanon through the provision of medical aid. However, it has not reinforced the protection of civilians in Lebanon.

Thus, the United Kingdom receives a score of 0.

The United States has not complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon.

On 20 November 2024, the United States vetoed a draft resolution proposed by the 10 elected members of the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) calling for an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire in Gaza, compliance with international law, immediate humanitarian access, the release of Israeli captives and Palestinian prisoners and recognition of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) as the cornerstone of aid delivery.⁷⁹⁴⁰

On 26 November 2024, G7 Foreign Ministers issued a joint statement reflecting their stance on the ongoing conflict in Lebanon.⁷⁹⁴¹ The statement expressed alarm about the increasingly dire humanitarian crisis in the region, including Lebanon, endorsed ongoing negotiations for a ceasefire and stressed the need for the uninterrupted delivery of humanitarian aid and essential services.

On 3 December 2024, the United States voted against a UNGA resolution titled "Peaceful settlement of the question of Palestine."⁷⁹⁴² The resolution reaffirmed support for a two-state solution and called on Israel to cease all settlement activities and acts of violence.⁷⁹⁴³ It also urged respect for international humanitarian law, the protection of civilians and renewed negotiations toward a just and lasting peace.

On 4 December 2024, the United States abstained from voting on a UNGA resolution titled "Assistance to Palestine Refugees" which reaffirmed the critical role of the UNRWA.⁷⁹⁴⁴ The resolution called for continued and expanded support to Palestinian refugees, urged the fulfilment of financial pledges and condemned disruptions to the delivery of essential services, thereby supporting expanded humanitarian assistance to displaced Palestinians.⁷⁹⁴⁵

On 4 December 2024, the United States voted against a UNGA resolution titled “Israeli settlements in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem and the occupied Syrian Golan.”⁷⁹⁴⁶ The resolution reaffirmed the illegality of Israel’s settlements in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, called on Israel to abide by the “Geneva Convention relative to the Protection of Civilian Persons in Time of War” and other legal obligations per the International Court of Justice’s advisory opinions and reiterated the need for civilian protection for Palestinians.⁷⁹⁴⁷

On 11 December 2024, the United States voted against two UNGA resolutions during the 10th Emergency Special Session, one reaffirming support for UNRWA and the other calling for a ceasefire in Gaza.⁷⁹⁴⁸ The second resolution advocated for the release of hostages, full humanitarian access and a two-state solution.⁷⁹⁴⁹ Both resolutions passed without the US’ support.

On 17 December 2024, the United States voted against a UNGA resolution titled “The right of the Palestinian people to self-determination.”⁷⁹⁵⁰ The resolution reaffirmed the Palestinian people’s right to self-determination, including the establishment of an independent State of Palestine.⁷⁹⁵¹ The resolution prioritized the protection of civilians through self-governance.

On 19 December 2024, the United States voted against a UNGA resolution titled “Request for an advisory opinion of the International Court of Justice (ICJ) on the legality of the Israeli occupation.”⁷⁹⁵² The resolution sought legal clarification from the ICJ on the consequences of Israel’s prolonged occupation of Palestinian territory, including East Jerusalem.⁷⁹⁵³

On 19 December 2024, the United States voted against a UNGA resolution titled “Permanent sovereignty of the Palestinian people in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem and of the Arab population in the occupied Syrian Golan over their natural resources.”⁷⁹⁵⁴ The resolution reaffirmed the Palestinian people's right to permanent sovereignty over their land and natural resources and condemned Israeli settlement activities, exploitation of resources and destruction of infrastructure.⁷⁹⁵⁵

On 17 January 2025, G7 leaders issued a joint statement on the ceasefire agreement between Israel and Hamas.⁷⁹⁵⁶ The leaders reaffirmed their commitment to providing humanitarian aid to Gaza and reiterated their demand for the protection of civilians and aid workers, as well as the unhindered flow of humanitarian assistance.

On 20 January 2025, President Joe Biden announced a ceasefire and hostage-exchange deal between Israel and Hamas.⁷⁹⁵⁷ The Department of Defense and the Department of State collaborated with Qatari and Egyptian mediators to facilitate the deal and safeguard civilians. Although the deal addressed immediate hostilities, it did not include specific provisions to ensure expanded humanitarian access or the lifting of barriers in Gaza or Lebanon.

On 3 February 2025, President Donald Trump signed an executive order preventing the resumption of US funding to UNRWA, citing allegations of infiltration by terrorist groups.⁷⁹⁵⁸ The order also withdrew support from the UN Human Rights Council and launched a comprehensive review of all U.S. support to international organizations.

On 4 February 2025, President Trump, during a White House news conference with Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, announced a plan to seize control of Gaza, displace the Palestinian population and rebuild the territory into "the Riviera of the Middle East."⁷⁹⁵⁹

On 4 February 2025, President Trump announced that the United States will cease its participation in the UN Human Rights Council (UNHRC), reevaluate its participation in UN Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and cease all funding for UNRWA, citing unverified connections to terrorists and "anti-Israel sentiments" by the organizations.⁷⁹⁶⁰ This action is directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment as UNRWA is the UN's core agency for humanitarian aid for Palestinians.

On 21 February 2025, the Office of the Inspector General (OID) for the US Agency for International Development (USAID) released a readout summarizing the visit of USAID Inspector General Paul Martin to Israel.⁷⁹⁶¹ During this visit, Inspector General Martin met with USAID and US Embassy staff, representatives from international humanitarian organizations and local partners to assess the delivery of humanitarian aid to Gaza and the West Bank. The report highlighted ongoing challenges in delivering assistance due to security concerns and movement restrictions but emphasized USAID's efforts to increase the flow of humanitarian assistance, monitor program compliance and mitigate fraud and diversion risks. Additionally, the OIG reiterated the importance of maintaining safeguards to protect civilians and ensure accountability in aid distribution.

On 25 February 2025, World Health Organization (WHO) Representative for the Occupied Palestinian Territory Rik Peepkorn stated that the United States' elimination of funding for the WHO has resulted in a freeze of USD46 million intended for WHO's humanitarian operations in the Occupied Palestinian Territories.⁷⁹⁶² The freeze has disrupted essential health services, including emergency medical teams, facility rehabilitation and medical evacuations.

On 2 March 2025, in coordination with the Trump administration, Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu's office imposed a blockage on all humanitarian aid entering the Gaza Strip.⁷⁹⁶³ This action was taken following the expiration of Phase One of the Israel-Hamas ceasefire deal and ongoing negotiations regarding Phase Two.

On 3 March 2025, Secretary of State Marco Rubio spoke with Oman's Foreign Minister Sayyid Badr Albusaidi about regional developments, including the situation in Gaza and Lebanon.⁷⁹⁶⁴ According to a State Department readout, the two officials discussed the Gaza ceasefire agreement, the need to release hostages, sustaining humanitarian assistance into Gaza and ending hostilities in Lebanon.

On 5 March 2025, President Trump issued an ultimatum to Hamas in a post on X, demanding the immediate release of all hostages and return of deceased individuals, warning that failure to comply would result in severe consequences for Gaza's civilian population and potential collective punishment by the US.⁷⁹⁶⁵

On 14 March 2025, US and Israeli officials contacted the governments of Sudan, Somalia and Somaliland to discuss using their territories as potential destinations for relocating Palestinians from the Gaza Strip under President Trump's postwar plan.⁷⁹⁶⁶

On 25 April 2025, the Department of Justice filed a letter in federal court reversing the government's longstanding position that UNRWA was immune from civil litigation.⁷⁹⁶⁷ The filing, submitted in a case brought by families of Israeli victims of the October 7 Hamas attack, argued that UNRWA was not entitled to immunity and must answer allegations in American courts. The lawsuit accuses UNRWA of supporting Hamas operations, including storing weapons in its schools and clinics. The lawsuit impedes the key work of UNRWA in the region and takes key funding away from its purpose.

plan, the Israeli military will secure the perimeter of distribution zones, while aid will be handed out to pre-screened individuals on foot. United Nations agencies including the United Nations Children Fund have rejected this plan, highlighting that it will violate humanitarian principles and lead to displacement and death.⁷⁹⁶⁹

On 13 May 2025, UN Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs and Emergency Relief Coordinator Tom Fletcher addressed the UN Security Council, noting that the US and Israeli-backed Gaza aid distribution model is contrary to the principles of international law as it makes aid conditional, “makes starvation a bargaining chip” and restricts aid to only one area of Gaza.⁷⁹⁷⁰ He also noted that it excludes vulnerable groups like “people with disabilities, women, children, the elderly [and] the wounded,” while furthering displacement.

On 30 May 2025, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation reported that the United States proposed a plan for Gaza including a 60-day ceasefire and the immediate release of 28 Israeli hostages in exchange for 1,236 Palestinian prisoners and the remains of 180 Palestinians.⁷⁹⁷¹ Additionally, the agreement would enable the rapid delivery of humanitarian aid by the United Nations, the Red Crescent and other agreed channels upon signature by Hamas. The White House reported that Israel has agreed to the ceasefire.

On 31 May 2025, the United States dismissed Hamas’s requested revisions to the US-brokered Gaza ceasefire plan, including proposals related to American assurances, the timeline for hostage exchanges, humanitarian aid deliveries and the withdrawal of Israeli troops.⁷⁹⁷² Special Envoy to the Middle East Steve Witkoff criticized the response as unacceptable and urged Hamas to adopt the 60-day framework established by the US.

On 4 June 2025, the United States vetoed a draft UN Security Council resolution co-sponsored by the ten elected members of the UN Security Council, effectively blocking the resolution from passing. The resolution called for “an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire in Gaza,” the release of all hostages held by Hamas and other groups, the lifting of all humanitarian aid restrictions and the restoration of essential services.⁷⁹⁷³ Secretary Rubio released a statement explaining the veto, stating that the United States will not “support any measure that fails to condemn Hamas, does not call for Hamas to disarm and leave Gaza, draws a false equivalence between Israel and Hamas, or disregards Israel’s right to defend itself.”⁷⁹⁷⁴ He also called the UN’s actions “performative,” while shifting blame to Hamas and away from Israel.

On 12 June 2025, the United States voted against a UNGA resolution titled “Protection of civilians and upholding legal and humanitarian obligations” during the 10th Emergency Special Session.⁷⁹⁷⁵ The resolution demanded “an immediate, unconditional and permanent ceasefire,” the release of all hostages and condemned the starvation of civilians, while calling on all parties to uphold their international humanitarian obligations. It also called on Israel to stop its blockade on humanitarian aid, endorsed the United Nations-Coordinated Plan to Resume Humanitarian Aid Deliveries to Gaza and reiterated UNGA's support for UNRWA and a two-state solution.

On 24 June 2025, State Department Spokesperson Tammy Bruce confirmed that the Israeli-backed Gaza aid distribution model, the Gaza Humanitarian Foundation (GHF), had distributed approximately 44 million meals across four sites to date.⁷⁹⁷⁶ Spokesperson Bruce reiterated US support for the GHF as part of President Trump's push for "new ideas" to address the crisis in Gaza, while noting that the US had not funded the group to date.

On 26 June 2025, State Department Principal Deputy Spokesperson Thomas Pigott announced that the State Department will allocate USD30 million in funding for the GHF, marking the US' first financial contribution to the organization.⁷⁹⁷⁷ Spokesperson Pigott stated that the funding aims to support the delivery of aid to Gaza's population while protecting Israel. This action comes amidst scrutiny by the United Nations and other international organizations, with UN Human Rights Spokesperson Thameen Al-Keetan noting that the GHF has seriously violated humanitarian principles, potentially committed a war crime due to the restriction of life-saving services and food for civilians and led to violence against civilians by the Israeli Defense Forces.⁷⁹⁷⁸

On 27 June 2025, Gaza's Government Media Office issued a statement accusing the GHF and Israeli-supported distribution centers of distributing flour bags containing narcotic pills, specifically Oxycodone.⁷⁹⁷⁹ The statement alleged that some pills may have been ground or dissolved into the flour, potentially targeting public health. If substantiated, this would constitute a severe violation of obligations to protect civilians and uphold the integrity of humanitarian assistance. These allegations have not been confirmed true or false by the United Nation as of 30 June 2025.⁷⁹⁸⁰

On 30 June 2025, the United States voted against a UNGA resolution titled "Financing of the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon."⁷⁹⁸¹ The resolution allocated USD605,340,200 for the Interim Force between 1 July 2025-30 June 2026, with UNGA Member States to provide USD100,890,000 between 1 July 2025-31 August 2025.⁷⁹⁸² It also expressed concern regarding Israel's failure to adhere to numerous UNGA resolutions, calling on it to comply.

On 30 June 2025, Spokesperson Bruce stated, during a press briefing in Washington D.C., that the United States would not reconsider funding for the GHF despite by the Israeli military's acknowledgement of harm to Palestinian civilians at aid distribution sites and a related investigation into possible war crimes.⁷⁹⁸³ Spokesperson Bruce emphasized that the GHF had distributed nearly 51 million meals and described it as part of a "new approach" for Gaza supported by President Trump. While acknowledging reports of violence, she maintained that Hamas bore responsibility for the crisis, that Israel was conducting appropriate investigations and that the United States would continue supporting humanitarian operations and efforts to secure a ceasefire.

On 2 July 2025, Spokesperson Bruce announced that US representatives had reached an agreement with Israel on the conditions for a 60-day ceasefire in Gaza to be delivered to Hamas by Qatar and Egypt.⁷⁹⁸⁴ Spokesperson Bruce reiterated the GHF's role in delivering 56 million meals in the enclave. She also confirmed that previously announced USD30 million funding for humanitarian assistance to Gaza had been approved but not yet disbursed and acknowledged ongoing challenges in getting aid through due to Hamas's actions.

On 8 July 2025, Spokesperson Bruce reiterated the US commitment to expanding humanitarian assistance to civilians in the Gaza Strip.⁷⁹⁸⁵ She highlighted that the GHF had delivered over 66 million meals through three distribution centers and announced plans to increase this capacity.

On 8 July 2025, the CNN reported that the approval of USD30 million to GHF came despite a USAID internal review that raised critical concerns about the group's capacity, safety protocols and oversight.⁷⁹⁸⁶ The review described GHF's application as incomplete and lacking required risk management and distribution details, yet the funding was fast-tracked by political appointees, including Secretary Rubio. This decision bypassed normal vetting procedures and came amid mounting criticism over GHF's militarized operations and civilian deaths near its aid sites.

On 10 July 2025, Spokesperson Bruce reported that the GHF had delivered 69 million meals through four distribution centers while preventing looting by armed groups and urged other aid agencies and the UN to adopt similar delivery mechanisms.⁷⁹⁸⁷ Spokesperson Bruce rejected Hamas's calls to end GHF operations, framing their opposition as proof of the system's effectiveness. She also reiterated US support for Lebanese Armed Forces efforts to disarm Hizballah as part of broader measures to reinforce civilian protection in both Gaza and Lebanon.

On 17 July 2025, Spokesperson Bruce restated the US priority of protecting civilians in Gaza including Christian minorities following an Israeli strike on the Holy Family Church in Gaza City that killed three civilians.⁷⁹⁸⁸ Spokesperson Bruce also noted that the GHF had delivered over 70 million meals and stressed that Hamas was obstructing relief and holding hostages.

On 22 July 2025, Spokesperson Bruce announced that the United States will withdraw its participation from UNESCO, noting that the organization is contrary to American interests.⁷⁹⁸⁹ Spokesperson Bruce also stated that "UNESCO's decision to admit the "State of Palestine" as a Member State is highly problematic, contrary to US policy, and contributed to the proliferation of anti-Israel rhetoric within the organization."

On 22 July 2025, Spokesperson Bruce stated that President Trump and Secretary Rubio were pursuing arrangements for a new ceasefire in Gaza alongside the creation of a humanitarian aid corridor which had been agreed, in principle, by both sides.⁷⁹⁹⁰ Spokesperson Bruce emphasized that the corridor would allow multiple entities to deliver aid without diversion by Hamas and that the GHF had so far delivered nearly 85 million meals through existing distribution centers. She stressed the US goal of increasing aid sites beyond Rafah to improve civilian access and reduce risks from IDF confrontations.

On 24 July 2025, Special Envoy Steve Witkoff noted that the US' ceasefire negotiating team will be recalled from Doha, Qatar.⁷⁹⁹¹ He states that amidst Hamas' "lack of desire to reach a ceasefire," the United States has decided to explore alternatives to release hostages and work toward fostering greater stability for Gaza.

On 24 July 2025, Special Envoy to the Middle East Steve Witkoff noted that the US' ceasefire negotiating team will be recalled from Doha, Qatar.⁷⁹⁹² He states that amidst Hamas' "lack of desire to reach a ceasefire," the United States has decided to explore alternatives to release hostages and work toward fostering greater stability for Gaza.

On 24 July 2025, Deputy Spokesperson Pigott cited the provision of nearly 90 million meals to Gaza through GHF.⁷⁹⁹³ Deputy Spokesperson Pigott acknowledged widespread reports of starvation, calls from over 100 humanitarian organizations to restore unrestricted UN-led aid and that GHF's four distribution points are concentrated in southern Gaza leaving northern areas underserved. He called on other entities to support GHF operations to increase the aid flow while maintaining safeguards against diversion.

On 26 July 2025, the American Broadcasting Company reported on the USAID analysis that examined over 150 alleged incidents of theft or loss of US-funded humanitarian aid in Gaza and found no evidence of widespread diversion by Hamas.⁷⁹⁹⁴ The internal presentation compiled covered cases reported between October 2023 and May 2025 and concluded that in most instances the perpetrator could not be definitively identified. The findings appeared to undercut the US government's claims that Hamas routinely interfered with aid distribution which was cited as evidence for limited aid via other routes and justified support for GHF.

On 29 July 2025, Spokesperson Bruce defended GHF's operations despite UN reports of more than 1,000 Palestinians killed at or near its aid sites since late May.⁷⁹⁹⁵ Spokesperson Bruce acknowledged that aid remained insufficient given the scale of need, citing calls from President Trump, Secretary Rubio and GHF itself for new methods including additional airlifts, aid corridors and the establishment of new food centers. She confirmed ongoing US funding for GHF while noting that further contributions from other countries were encouraged to expand operations.

On 31 July 2025, Spokesperson Bruce stated that the GHF had delivered 100 million meals.⁷⁹⁹⁶

On 31 July 2025, Al Jazeera reported allegations from Anthony Aguilar, a former GHF contractor and US Army veteran, that the GHF aid distribution process has directly resulted in civilian deaths.⁷⁹⁹⁷ Anthony Aguilar claimed that a young boy was shot and killed by Israeli forces moments after receiving a small food allotment from a GHF site.

On 1 August 2025, Anthony Aguilar asserted in an interview with the Public Broadcasting Service that he witnessed a fatal incident in which a UG Solutions contractor threw a stun grenade into a crowd at another aid site, striking a woman in red on the head with the grenade's metal fuse and rendering her unconscious.⁷⁹⁹⁸ Anthony Aguilar stated he checked her pulse and found none before local workers removed her from the scene.

On 1 August 2025, the Cable News Network reported that Special Envoy Witkoff and Ambassador Huckabee went to the GHF aid distribution site in Rafah.⁷⁹⁹⁹ Special Envoy Witkoff said he spent over five hours in Gaza to assess humanitarian needs and relay them to President Trump. During Witkoff's visit to the GHF aid distribution site in Rafah, eyewitnesses told the Cable News Network that Israeli forces opened fire on civilians waiting for aid, killing and injuring multiple people while the US embassy said it had received no such reports, showing a failure to protect civilians.

On 1 August 2025, UN News reported that Israeli forces continued attacking food convoy routes and US backed GHF aid sites, despite Israel's pledge of daily military pauses in western Gaza.⁸⁰⁰⁰ The Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights stated that since 27 May at least 1,373 Palestinians had been killed while seeking food, mostly by Israeli forces and emphasized that such attacks may constitute war crimes or crimes against humanity. The agency called for independent investigations and urgent measures to prevent recurrence. The incidents also highlight the US inability to protect civilians near its own humanitarian aid sites. UNRWA warned that airdrops are costly and insufficient, urging the opening of road crossings to deliver aid at scale with 6,000 trucks currently awaiting entry into Gaza.

On 7 August 2025, during the State Department press briefing, Deputy Spokesperson Pigott noted that the GHF had delivered 110 million meals.⁸⁰⁰¹

On 12 August 2025, during the State Department press briefing, Spokesperson Bruce stated that the GHF had delivered nearly 120 million meals and confirmed that over half of the pledged US funding to GHF had already been disbursed.⁸⁰⁰²

On 3 September 2025, the G7 members issued a Joint Foreign Ministers' Statement urging for a ceasefire, a surge of humanitarian aid to Gaza and the release of all hostages, underscoring that alleviating civilian suffering is the immediate priority.⁸⁰⁰³

On 13 September 2025, Secretary Rubio departed for a diplomatic trip to Israel, Qatar and the UK, which continued until 18 September.⁸⁰⁰⁴ The visit focused on advancing negotiations toward a ceasefire in Gaza and coordinating with regional partners to secure the release of hostages.

On 23 September 2025, the G7 foreign ministers, together with the EU High Representative, stressed the urgent need to alleviate the humanitarian crisis in Gaza.⁸⁰⁰⁵ They called for an immediate ceasefire, unhindered delivery of humanitarian aid and the release of all hostages. The ministers also expressed readiness to work with Arab partners on reconstruction efforts and to support a durable Israeli Palestinian peace.

On 8 October 2025, President Trump announced that Israel and Hamas had agreed to the first phase of a ceasefire deal under the US-brokered 20-point peace framework.⁸⁰⁰⁶ The ceasefire plan included the reopening of the Rafah crossing and the entry of humanitarian aid into Gaza. However, it lacked binding guarantees for unrestricted humanitarian access, long-term protection of civilians and the lifting of Israel's blockade.

On 11 October 2025, Special Envoy Witkoff confirmed that he had traveled to Gaza alongside the head of Central Command and Senior Advisor Jared Kushner to verify Israel's compliance with the hostage-release phase of President Trump's ceasefire plan.⁸⁰⁰⁷ Special Envoy Witkoff noted that the delegation was briefed in detail on humanitarian aid delivery, deconfliction efforts and overall security conditions.

The United States has not complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. The United States has taken significant action that is directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment including voting against UNGA and UNSC Resolutions, the latter of which would become binding if not vetoed by the United States. It has also announced plans to displace Palestinians in Gaza and has confirmed that it is implementing a new aid strategy that is deemed to be contrary to humanitarian principles. Furthermore, the United States has also failed to take unilateral action to improve the flow of humanitarian aid in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon and has not acknowledged the barriers to humanitarian assistance currently in place beyond joint statements.

Thus, the United States receives a score of -1 .⁸⁰⁰⁸

The African Union has not complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon.

On 26 November 2024, Chairperson of the African Union Commission Moussa Faki Mahamat voiced concerns over the Gaza Strip during a UN meeting for the International Day of Solidarity with Palestinians.⁸⁰⁰⁹ Mahamat called for an immediate ceasefire in the Gaza Strip, the release of all Palestinian prisoners in Israeli jails and detention centers and the release of Israeli hostages. This call for action seeks to reinforce the protection of civilians and condemns the ongoing humanitarian catastrophe in Gaza.

On 16 January 2025, Chairperson Mahamat welcomed a ceasefire agreement between Israel and Hamas.⁸⁰¹⁰ Mahamat represented the African Union's concern over the humanitarian situation in Gaza by calling for an immediate and full implementation of the ceasefire agreement.

On 25 February 2025, the Pan-African Parliament (PAP) renewed its resolve to collaborate with global and regional bodies to encourage humanitarian relief in the Gaza Strip.⁸⁰¹¹ The PAP members called upon the international community to implement a ceasefire agreement and denounced any attempts to further displace the Palestinian population. The PAP's urgent statement reinforces the protection of civilians in the Occupied Palestinian Territories.

On 5 March 2025, African Union President João Lourenço of Angola voiced explicit support for Egypt's plan for Gaza during an extraordinary summit of the Arab League in the New Administrative Capital.⁸⁰¹² The plan includes a USD53 billion investment over five years to clear rubble and restore or construct housing units for the safety of the Palestinian population.

On 3 May 2025, Legal Counsel Hajer Gueldich and member of the Permanent Court of Arbitration Mamadou Hébié delivered the African Union's statement concerning Israel's legal obligations in Gaza at the International Court of Justice.⁸⁰¹³ The AU stressed that Israel's obstruction of humanitarian assistance and restrictions on the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) operations violated Article 2(5) of the UN Charter and the Convention on the Privileges and Immunities of the UN.

On 3 July 2025, the African Union, the League of Arab States and the Organization of Islamic Cooperation issued an emergency humanitarian appeal for Gaza during a meeting with UNRWA in Cairo.⁸⁰¹⁴ The joint statement called on Israel to immediately open all land and sea crossings to enable humanitarian aid delivery and urged "full political, financial and legal support" for UNRWA's operations.

On 30 July 2025, the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights (ACHPR) strongly condemned Israel's ongoing apartheid policies in Gaza and the Occupied Palestinian Territories during its virtual 84th Ordinary Session.⁸⁰¹⁵ The ACHPR cited Israel's committing of a massacre against civilians and the use of starvation and siege as weapons of war. The ACHPR also encouraged State Parties to the African Charter to refrain from any actions that could be perceived as supporting or cooperating with human rights violations in the Palestinian Occupied Territories. This action aims to ensure State Parties are consistently adhering to standards of international law.

The African Union has not complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. The African Union has taken weak action to support humanitarian assistance and the protection of civilians in Gaza through verbal reaffirmations, welcoming the ceasefire agreement and supporting Egypt's plan for Gaza. However, it has not taken action to support Lebanon.

European Union: +1

The European Union has fully complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon.

On 26 November 2024, G7 Foreign Ministers issued a joint statement reflecting their stance on the ongoing conflict in Lebanon.⁸⁰¹⁷ The statement expressed alarm about the increasingly dire humanitarian crisis in the region, including Lebanon, endorsed ongoing negotiations for a ceasefire and stressed the need for the uninterrupted delivery of humanitarian aid and essential services.

On 27 November 2024, the EU welcomed the ceasefire agreement between Israel and Lebanon, following mediation efforts.⁸⁰¹⁸ The EU urged all parties to implement the ceasefire as agreed and called for the full and symmetric implementation of UN Security Council Resolution 170, which highlights the fundamental stabilization role of the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon in southern Lebanon.

On 16 January 2025, during the visit of Palestinian Prime Minister Mohamed Mustafa to Brussels, the European Commission announced a new humanitarian aid package worth EUR120 million for Gaza.⁸⁰¹⁹ The aid focused on addressing urgent needs such as food security, water, sanitation, healthcare and shelter for displaced populations.

On 17 January 2025, G7 leaders issued a joint statement on the ceasefire agreement between Israel and Hamas.⁸⁰²⁰ The leaders reaffirmed their commitment to providing humanitarian aid to Gaza and reiterated their demand for the protection of civilians and aid workers, as well as the unhindered flow of humanitarian assistance.

On 21 January 2025, the Council of the EU announced EUR60 million for the Lebanese Armed Forces through the European Peace Facility.⁸⁰²¹ This will aid in reinforcing civilian protection in Lebanon, aligned with United Nations Security Council Resolution 1701.

On 31 January 2025, the European Union Border Assistance Mission (EUBAM) at the Rafah Crossing Point redeployed personnel to support and facilitate the movement of over 4000 civilians out of Gaza, including

On 23 June 2025, the European Commission announced EUR202 million in funding for Palestine as part of the “Comprehensive and Multiannual Programme for Palestine’s Recovery and Resilience.”⁸⁰³⁶ This includes EUR52 million to support United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA) in providing critical aid, including healthcare, relief assistance and education to Palestinian refugees in Gaza, the West Bank, Jordan and Lebanon.

On 26 June 2025, the European Council released a statement urging “an immediate ceasefire in Gaza and the unconditional release of all hostages, leading to a permanent end to hostilities.”⁸⁰³⁷ This statement comes amidst the deteriorating humanitarian situation in Gaza, condemns civilian casualties and starvation and demands that Israel allow unimpeded humanitarian access to Gaza.

On 26 June 2025, the Council of the EU renewed the EUBAM at the Rafah Crossing Point and the EU Police Mission in the Palestinian Territories until 30 June 2026.⁸⁰³⁸ These missions will support civilian protection in Gaza.

On 10 July 2025, the EU and Israel agreed on measures aimed at improving humanitarian conditions in Gaza, including increasing daily aid deliveries, opening additional crossings, reopening aid routes from Jordan and Egypt, resuming fuel supplies for humanitarian facilities and protecting the flow of aid.⁸⁰³⁹ Additionally, the EU pledged to coordinate implementation with humanitarian partners and reiterated calls for a ceasefire.

On 12 August 2025, European Commission senior officials and 24 foreign ministers signed a joint statement pledging urgent action to stop starvation and malnutrition in Gaza.⁸⁰⁴⁰ The statement addressed concerns about adequate flows of humanitarian aid deliveries to civilians from international aid agencies. Furthermore, it addressed the need to ensure the unblocking of humanitarian actors’ operations to reinforce the protection of civilians in maintaining the flow of food, shelter, clean water and medicine.

On 10 September 2025, the European External Action Service (EEAS), led by High Representative Kallas, convened a meeting regarding the US Peace Plan aimed at ending the war in Gaza.⁸⁰⁴¹ In her remarks, High Representative Kallas reaffirmed the need for an immediate ceasefire, full humanitarian access to the region and adherence to international law by all parties.

delivery of humanitarian aid and the release of all hostages. The ministers also expressed readiness to work with Arab partners on reconstruction efforts and to support a durable Israeli Palestinian peace.

On 24 September 2025, the European Commission released an additional EUR50 million in humanitarian assistance to Gaza.⁸⁰⁴³ The funding aims to help humanitarian partners in Gaza to deliver life-saving assistance.

On 25 September 2025, the EEAS, represented by High Representative Kallas at the G20 Foreign Ministers' meeting, reaffirmed the EU's commitment to multilateralism, rules-based international order and respect for the UN Charter to highlight Gaza among global conflict zones demanding urgent attention.⁸⁰⁴⁴ She invoked the EU's role as the largest humanitarian donor and asserted that peace requires both political will and sustained support for humanitarian and conflict-prevention efforts.

On 1 October 2025, the EU delegation via EEAS, at the UN General Assembly's First Committee on the Security Council's use of veto powers, strongly condemned vetoes that block action in conflict zones in Gaza and Lebanon.⁸⁰⁴⁵ The statement emphasizes that the vetoes undermine accountability and civilian protection.

On 8 October 2025, the EU delegation to the UN General Assembly's First Committee, delivered a general statement to reaffirm the EU's commitment to humanitarian principles, international law and the protection of civilians in Gaza.⁸⁰⁴⁶

The European Union has fully complied with its commitment to expand the flow of humanitarian assistance and to reinforce the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon. The European Union has expanded the flow of humanitarian assistance in Gaza and Lebanon through funding announced by the European Commission for Palestine and the European Investment Bank and WHO's grant for healthcare recovery in Lebanon. Additionally, it has reinforced the protection of civilians in the Gaza Strip and Lebanon through EUBAM Rafah and funding for the Lebanese Armed Forces.

Thus, the European Union receives a score of +1.

Background

Although first mentioned in the 2012 Los Cabos Summit, fertilizer shortages were reintroduced 10 years later at the 2022 Bali Summit.⁸⁰⁴⁷ Since then, G20 leaders have acknowledged the critical role of fertilizers in global food production and highlighted the need to address these shortages to support efforts in increasing food security and mitigating malnutrition.⁸⁰⁴⁸ According to the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), the demand for nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium in fertilizers has steadily increased from 2016 to 2022.⁸⁰⁴⁹ The G20 leaders recognize that addressing fertilizer shortages is crucial for boosting agricultural productivity and ensuring food security. By enhancing local production, improving trade and optimizing fertilizer use, the G20 aims to build on its past commitments to sustainable agricultural development and global food security. That said, the G20 has supported initiatives aimed at supporting food security since 2009.⁸⁰⁵⁰

At the 2009 Pittsburgh Summit, G20 leaders recognized the importance of sustained funding and targeted investments needed to improve food security.⁸⁰⁵¹

At the 2010 Toronto Summit, G20 leaders reaffirmed their commitments to funding and investments to improve long-term food security.⁸⁰⁵² G20 leaders also called for financing to improve agricultural productivity in low-income countries.

At the 2011 Cannes Summit G20 leaders launched the Agricultural Market Information System, aimed at increasing transparency in agricultural markets.⁸⁰⁵³ G20 leaders also reaffirmed their commitment to financial support for agriculture in low-income countries.

At the 2012 Los Cabos Summit, G20 leaders recognized the intersection between sustainable agriculture and climate change, affirming their support for available technologies, such as soil fertility enhancement.⁸⁰⁵⁴ G20 leaders also called for an increase in the world's food supply, through adherence to the Agricultural and Food Strategic Plan.

At the 2013 St. Petersburg Summit, G20 leaders affirmed the St. Petersburg Development Outlook, which included actions to promote food security and sustainable food production.⁸⁰⁵⁵ In line with previous G20 summits, G20 leaders called for greater support to the Secure Nutrition Knowledge Platform and advocated for results-based agricultural research in subsequent years.

At the 2014 Brisbane Summit, G20 leaders called for “facilitating responsible investment in agriculture and food systems,” by emphasizing the importance of the Committee for World Food Security’s Principles for Responsible Investment in Agriculture and Food Systems.⁸⁰⁵⁶ G20 leaders also underscored the crucial role of the private sector in food distribution, stressing that investment in this sector is essential for strengthening global food security.

At the 2015 Antalya Summit, G20 leaders announced the G20 Action Plan on Food Security and Sustainable Food Systems.⁸⁰⁵⁷ The Action Plan emphasized the importance of increasing the global food supply.

At the 2016 Hangzhou Summit, G20 leaders reiterated their commitment to strengthening food security and advancing sustainable agricultural development.⁸⁰⁵⁸

At the 2017 Hamburg Summit, G20 leaders supported sustainable agriculture, with a focus on rural areas.⁸⁰⁵⁹ G20 leaders also urged the enhancement of the Agricultural Market Information System to improve transparency in global food markets, as well as protecting and managing water-related ecosystems.

At the 2018 Buenos Aires Summit, G20 leaders emphasized their commitment to the G20 Food Security and Nutrition Framework, encouraging collaboration between public and private stakeholders to propel agricultural efficiency.⁸⁰⁶⁰

At the 2019 Osaka Summit, G20 leaders highlighted the importance of utilizing technologies such as information and communications and AI to improve agricultural productivity and sustainability.⁸⁰⁶¹

At the 2020 Riyadh Summit, G20 leaders reaffirmed their commitment to sustainable agriculture by endorsing the G20 Riyadh Statement to Enhance Implementation of Responsible Investment in Agriculture and Food Systems.⁸⁰⁶²

At the 2021 Rome Summit, G20 leaders committed to innovating agricultural solutions intended to end hunger and poverty while promoting long-term sustainable agriculture.⁸⁰⁶³

At the 2022 Bali Summit, G20 leaders committed to developing further measures toward food security, which included fertilizer shortage.⁸⁰⁶⁴ G20 leaders mentioned groups such as the Agricultural Market Information System, FAO and the World Bank Group to better enact commitments towards improving the supply and demand of fertilizers in the market.

At the 2023 New Delhi Summit, G20 leaders emphasized the importance of fertilizers in agricultural productivity, especially in efforts towards eliminating hunger and malnutrition.⁸⁰⁶⁵ G20 leaders looked towards encouraging equitable access to fertilizers through policies informed by the World Trade Organization's rules and regulations.

At the 2024 Rio de Janeiro Summit, G20 leaders committed to addressing fertilizer shortages as part of their commitment to agriculture and food production.⁸⁰⁶⁶ G20 leaders emphasized the importance of looking at fertilizer shortage through “strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.”

Commitment Features

This commitment's overarching welfare target is to address the challenges of global fertilizer shortages and affect food production and prices, and thus quality of life. The commitment identifies instruments by which the G20 aims to achieve this goal, while also addressing environmental concerns about soil health and water efficiency.

Definitions and Concepts

“Address” is understood to mean giving attention to a matter or deal with a problem.⁸⁰⁶⁷

“Challenge” refers to “something needing great mental or physical effort in order to be done successfully, or the situation of facing this kind of effort.”⁸⁰⁶⁸

“Fertilizer” refers to “a natural or chemical substance that is spread on the land or given to plants, to make plants grow well.”⁸⁰⁶⁹

“Shortage” refers to “a situation where there is not enough of something.”⁸⁰⁷⁰

“Strengthening” is understood to mean to “make or become stronger.”⁸⁰⁷¹ In the context of this commitment it refers to improving fertilizer production efforts, trade, and efficiency.

“Local” is understood to mean existing in a particular area.⁸⁰⁷² In the context of the commitment it refers to fertilizer production within the area of use.

“Increase” refers to “additional efforts to an old commitment” and not “adding new efforts in new ways.”⁸⁰⁷³

“Efficiency” is understood to mean achieving the largest amount of useful work with as little quantity as possible.⁸⁰⁷⁴

“Utilize” refers to “use something in an effective way.”⁸⁰⁷⁵

“Biofertilizers” is understood to mean the application of microorganisms as fertilizer.⁸⁰⁷⁶

“Need to” refers to an obligation; to have to have something, or to want something very much.⁸⁰⁷⁷

“Improve” is defined as “to get better, or to make something better.”⁸⁰⁷⁸ In a G20 context, when a commitment states that it will “improve” it should be interpreted to mean that old initiatives will be updated. It should not be interpreted to mean a new initiative.⁸⁰⁷⁹

“Soil health” is defined as the continued capacity for soil to function as an ecosystem that sustains plant life.⁸⁰⁸⁰

“Minimize” refers to reducing “something to the least possible level or amount.”⁸⁰⁸¹

“Water pollution” is defined as the “contamination of fresh water by pollutants, i.e., human and/or animal wastes, agricultural pesticides and fertilizers, industrial toxic waste, etc.”⁸⁰⁸²

General Interpretive Guidelines

This commitment identifies six criteria by which the G20 aims to address the challenges of global fertilizer shortages by 1) strengthening local production of fertilizers; 2) engaging in international fertilizer trade; 3) increasing fertilizer efficiency; 4) using biofertilizers; 5) addressing environmental concerns about soil health; and 6) addressing concerns about water efficiency.

Full compliance, or a score of +1, will be given to a G20 member that takes strong actions five or more of the criteria. Strong actions include policy, legal, financial/fiscal/monetary, human resources support, and active international cooperation.

Partial compliance, or a score of 0, will be assigned to a G20 member that takes strong action in three of the six criteria, or weak action in at least four criteria. Weak actions include attendance without evidence of active participation in international forums, verbal or written reiteration of support, and signing memorandums of understanding with no tangible backing such as funds.

Non-compliance, or a score of –1, will be assigned to a G20 member that takes action two or fewer criteria, or takes actions directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment. Antithetical actions include halting funding schemes for fertilizer research, rescinding support for previous verbal or written initiatives, and withdrawing from agreements involving implementation plans for the use of fertilizers or bio fertilizers.

Scoring Guidelines

–1	The G20 member took strong action to address fertilizer challenges in two or fewer or weak action in three of the six criteria: 1) strengthening local production of fertilizers; 2) engaging in international fertilizer trade; 3) increasing fertilizer efficiency; 4) using biofertilizers; 5) addressing environmental concerns about soil health; and 6) addressing concerns about water efficiency; or taken actions directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment.
0	The G20 member took strong action in three criteria or weak action in at least four of the six criteria.
+1	The G20 member took strong action in five or more criteria.

Argentina: 0

Argentina has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 17 February 2025, the Ministry of Agriculture, Livestock and Fisheries of the Ministry of Economy of Argentina announced a comprehensive update of the provisions governing fertilizers and agricultural amendments within the framework of Law No. 20,466.⁸⁰⁸³ This update makes importing certified products easier by simplifying the registration procedures, facilitating a greater integration in the international fertilizer trade.

On 10 March 2025, Secretary Sergio Iraeta of the Secretariat of Agriculture, Livestock, and Fisheries announced the reduction of import tariffs on fertilizers at ExpoAgro.⁸⁰⁸⁴ This action aims to strengthen the existing international fertilizer trade relations between Argentina and foreign countries, increasing the supply of cost-effective fertilizers available to Argentina's agriculture industry.

On 3 April 2025, the Ministry of Deregulation and State Transformation announced the simplification of import and export rules for fertilizers under the National Service of Agrifood Health and Quality.⁸⁰⁸⁵ This measure aims to enhance the quality of agricultural products and facilitate Argentina's integration into the international fertilizer market.

On 7 May 2025, the National Agricultural Technology Institute, under the Ministry of Economy, announced that it was working on the development of a new biofertilizer.⁸⁰⁸⁶ The new biofertilizer, developed in cooperation with the Ovobrand Biogas Plant, promotes the development of sustainable agriculture.

Argentina has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages. It has taken action in four of the six criteria through exhibiting commitments regarding facilitating international fertilizer trade, making fertilizers available for local agricultural production, and the domestic production of a new biofertilizer for domestic use. Argentina has significantly simplified the process of importing fertilizers into the country, thus increasing its presence in the global fertilizer trade. Its partnership with private sector companies in the production of biofertilizers also helps to alleviate fertilizer shortages within the country. However, Argentina has not taken action on other important commitment criteria, increasing fertilizer efficiency while taking strong action to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

Thus, Argentina receives a score of 0.

Australia: 0

Australia has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 3 January 2025, the Albanese Labor Government and the Tasmanian Government invested AUD2.43 million to promote better land use of Australia's carbon-rich soil.⁸⁰⁸⁷ The funding ties to the commitment as carbon-rich soil promotes the fertilization of arable land. This promotes sustainable agriculture and reduces fertilizer shortages through natural alternatives.

On 1 March 2025, Australia's Grains Research Development Corporation commenced the "Addressing emerging nutrient limitations in the Australian grains industry for improved fertilizer management of potassium (K)" project which supports improved fertilizer efficiency.⁸⁰⁸⁸

On 4 March 2025, the Australian Bureau of Agricultural and Resource Economics and Sciences (ABARES) held ABARES's Outlook Conference 2025 where a session was held on discussing the security and availability of essential inputs including fertilisers for bolstering the resilience of farming communities and securing them for long-term development.⁸⁰⁸⁹ The conference also featured speakers from government ministers as well as private partners. This initiative advances Australia's commitment to strengthening local supply chains.

On 1 April 2025, Australia began the "Fostering the adoption of variable rate fertilizer application for improved nutrient use efficiency" project.⁸⁰⁹⁰ This project improves nutrient use efficiency through the adoption of Variable Rate technology (VRT).

On 30 April 2025, the Grains Research Development Corporation began the development of an integrated "Soil Health Framework" alongside the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization.⁸⁰⁹¹ This project seeks to provide a standardized framework for Australian producers to quantify, monitor and report soil health against relevant benchmarks, in order to provide data to inform future policies and practices aimed at optimizing soil health.

On 21 July 2025, the Australian Government Grains Research and Development Corporation announced a new AUD39 million initiative into low-emission farming.⁸⁰⁹² This funding is part of the five-year national Low Emissions Intensity Farming System (LEIFS) program. Among its sustainability goals, LEIFS aims to improve nitrogen and other fertilizer efficiency.

On 25 August 2025, Agricultural Innovation Australia (AIA) received an AUD6.4 million grant to improve agricultural greenhouse gas emissions calculators.⁸⁰⁹³ These calculators are vital tools in managing emissions from agricultural inputs such as nitrogen fertilizers. This action utilizes technologies to promote sustainable fertilizer usage.

On 1 September 2025, Minister for Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry Julie Collins sent an address to farmers expressing gratitude for the significant progress the country has made in implementing environmentally sustainable practices in local agriculture.⁸⁰⁹⁴ In the address, Collins mentions Australia's lower use of fertilizer relative to other nations. The use of less fertilizers encourages sustainable agriculture by decreasing carbon emissions.

Australia has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. Australia has taken action through the ABARES Outlook Conference to facilitate discussion on bolstering local production of fertilizers. It has also taken action in the form of government policies, actions or agreements implemented towards soil improvement domestically. However, it has not taken action to engage in international fertilizer trade, promote the use of biofertilizers or address concerns about water efficiency.

Thus, Australia receives a score of 0.

Brazil: +1

Brazil has fully complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 3 December 2024, President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva announced a BRL546.6 billion investment to boost sustainable agro-industrial chains for food, nutritional and energy security.⁸⁰⁹⁵ This initiative aims to boost agribusiness by three per cent per year from 2024-2026, including strengthening and modernizing of fertilizer and biofertilizer production chains.

On 6 December 2024, a MAPA-led Brazilian mission to Angola, coordinated by Minister of Agriculture and Livestock Carlos Fávaro, ended with two bi-lateral instruments signed. Both countries formally agreed to cooperation in agricultural research and strengthening relations in the agricultural and agro-industrial sectors between both government and private-sector partners.⁸⁰⁹⁶ The Brazilian delegation highlighted Angola's potential in producing nitrogen fertilizers and their interest in acquiring it as well as Angola's benefit from usage of Brazilian agricultural technology and research.

On 12 December 2024, the Brazilian Ministry of Agriculture and Livestock (MAPA) and the Government of the province of Mendoza, Argentina sign an agreement to foster cooperation in strategic areas of agribusiness and optimizing trade between the two countries.⁸⁰⁹⁷ This agreement took place during a seminar hosted by the Inter-American Institute for Cooperation on Agriculture, where Brazilian and Argentine representatives reinforced their commitment to regional cooperation in agricultural inputs and fertilizers made during the 2024 G20 Summit.

On 12 February 2025, Minister of Agriculture and Livestock Carlos Fávaro received a Russian delegation under the International Municipalities of BRICS forum to discuss agriculture, food security and fertilizers.⁸⁰⁹⁸ Both countries discussed cooperation in the fertilizer sector, with a focus on new Russian technologies and the need for fertilizer cooperation given Russia's role as Brazil's main supplier of fertilizers.

On 16 April 2025, Minister Fávaro participated in a bilateral meeting with the Minister of Agriculture of Iran Gholamreza Nouri Ghezeljeh.⁸⁰⁹⁹ The primary topic of the meeting was bilateral trade, with both delegations discussing the expansion of trade in fertilizers, especially urea.

On 21 April 2025, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Agriculture and Livestock took part in the 17th edition of the Salon International de l'Agriculture au Maroc, a large agricultural fair in Morocco.⁸¹⁰⁰ The Brazilian stand, which included partners from the fertilizer industry, aimed to strengthen its position in the North African agricultural market and create new opportunities for Brazilian exports.

On 5 May 2025, MAPA seized 336 tons of illegally distributed organic fertilizers.⁸¹⁰¹ Distributing organic fertilizers without registration from the Ministry is harmful to soil health, as they may have imbalanced formulations that can harm soil health and contain biological contaminants. The suspension of the company that distributed the illegal organic fertilizers helps strengthen local production of fertilizers, ensuring the quality of products distributed to local producers while addressing environmental concerns to soil health due to the potential for biological contaminants in the fertilizer.

On 30 June 2025, the Minister of Agriculture and Livestock Carlos Fávaro met with the Governor of the Argentine province of Mendoza Alfredo Cornejo to discuss the trade of fertilizers between Argentina and Brazil, especially potassium fertilizers.⁸¹⁰² The meeting reinforces both countries' commitments to the fertilizer trade, reiterating Argentina's strategic importance to Brazil and Mendoza's interest in international investment to develop its potassium production. The partnership represents a concrete initiative toward reducing Brazil's external dependence on potassium and stabilizing agricultural production costs.

On 30 June 2025, the Brazilian Federal Government presented the Plano Safra da Agricultura Familiar (Family Farming Harvest Plan), allocating BRL89 billion toward rural credit, public procurement, agricultural insurance, technical assistance, minimum price guarantees and other programs.⁸¹⁰³ Part of the plan includes the Programa Nacional de Redução de Agrotóxicos (National Pesticide Reduction Program), seeking to promote safer and healthier agricultural practices. Included is a commitment toward expanding the use of bio-inputs, such as biofertilizers. The plan aims to reduce costs for agricultural producers and promoting sustainable bio-inputs.

On 1 July 2025, the Brazilian Federal Government launches the Plano Safra (Harvest Plan) 2025/2026, which allocates BRL516.2 billion to boost Brazilian agriculture.⁸¹⁰⁴ The plan primarily focuses on expanding access to credit for rural producers, seeking to reduce agricultural production costs. The plans include lower interest for producers who adopt sustainable practices, such as adopting bio-inputs and biofertilizers.

On 1 September 2025, the Ministry of Agrarian Development and Family Farming (MDA) participated in the Expointer agriculture fair, seeking to promote the MDA's agricultural production policies, encourage innovation, and connect producers.⁸¹⁰⁵ During the fair, the MDA held meetings titled "Scenarios and Opportunities in Bioinputs," where discussions were held on encouraging greater sustainability and less external dependence in bio-inputs.

On 9 September 2025, the MDA coordinated a large meeting of Brazilian cooperatives, associations, and centres linked to family farming to discuss various topics, including bio-inputs.⁸¹⁰⁶ During the meeting, the Government announced several bio-input initiatives: the signing of Decentralized Execution Terms with universities under the Bio-inputs Strategy and Network and the launch of the Manual of Good Practices in Bio-inputs. The announcements reinforce the Brazilian Government's commitment to bio-input innovation and sustainable practice, as well as its coordination with cooperatives and other agricultural partners.

On 10 September 2025, Deputy Agricultural Minister Cleber Oliveira Soares and the UK Special Representative for Nature Ruth Davis developed a memorandum of understanding that aims to enhance fertilizer production by making it more efficient and sustainable.⁸¹⁰⁷ The partnership aims to do so through collaborative research and development of fertilizers.

On 26 September 2025, the Secretariat of Family Farming and Agroecology (SAF) held meetings with civil society organizations under the "From Land to Table Brazil" call for proposals.⁸¹⁰⁸ The meetings are part of a larger framework of 45 initiatives now entering the implementation phase, including projects to multiply native bio-inputs. The meetings are aimed to ensure civil society organizations, originating from across Brazil and include cooperatives, associations, and collectives, are included in agricultural policy discussions. They also reinforce SAF's commitment to strengthening the agroecological transition in Brazil.

Brazil has fully complied with its commitment to combat fertilizer shortages through efforts to strengthen local production, engage in trade, increase fertilizer efficiency and encourage biofertilizer usage while protecting soil health and minimize water pollution. Brazil has taken steps to improve fertilizer relations and exchange fertilizer research with various countries that are, or potentially can become, large fertilizer producers. It has put great effort in expanding local production and research and development of fertilizers through investments and financial incentives, which also encourages biofertilizer as an alternative to traditional fertilizers. To complement this push, Brazil has put effort into regulating biofertilizer production, distribution and usage, with the aim of accounting for environmental impacts.

Thus, Brazil receives a score of +1.

Canada has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 22 November 2024, Minister of Agriculture and Agri-Food Lawrence MacAulay announced CAD7.2 million into four AgriInnovative Program projects.⁸¹⁰⁹ The investment aims to aid strengthen local production of fertilizers and facilitate the production of innovative and more sustainable alternatives.

On 15 January 2025, Minister MacAulay and Saskatchewan's Minister of Agriculture Daryl Harrison announced CAD9.4 million in funding for crop-related research.⁸¹¹⁰ Funded research includes research into fertilizer management.

On 19 February 2025, Minister MacAulay and Saskatchewan Agriculture Minister Daryl Harrison reaffirmed their support for the Saskatchewan Crop Insurance Corporation (SCIC) through continued funding for their 2025 Crop Insurance Program.⁸¹¹¹ The SCIC-led Program aims to aid farmers with policy and program offerings to improve the livestock sector of Canada. In particular, the SCIC is working on remote sensing technologies allowing farmers to measure soil moisture and plant growth.

On 26 February 2025, the Canadian Food Inspection Agency released a list of amendments to the inspection process.⁸¹¹² Among the amendments were clarifications on the conditions for exporting fertilizer and fertilizer supplements. By clarifying regulations, Canada can better participate in the international fertilizer market.

On 7 March 2025, Minister MacAulay announced an interest-free limit on the Advance Payments Program at CDN250,000 for 2025.⁸¹¹³ The initiative aims to support farmers in purchasing agriculture inputs such as fertilizers and fuels.⁸¹¹⁴

On 16 June 2025, Canada unveiled Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada's 2025–26 Departmental Plan.⁸¹¹⁵ As part of the new plan, the Department will continue its work with the agricultural sector to reduce fertilizer emissions, thus promoting clean and efficient fertilizers.

On 23 July 2025, Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada Director General Sophie Beecher attended the Soil for our Future conference in Winnipeg.⁸¹¹⁶ The conference invited professionals with an interest in soil such as scientists and policy makers to listen to Beecher talk about the soil health strategy that is in its early days of development.

On 3 September 2025, Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada invested CAD14.6 million to help farmers fund improvements to their farmlands.⁸¹¹⁷ The funding received by farmers as part of the Resilient Agricultural Landscape Program can be used to gain access to fertilizers or technologies to improve soil quality.

On 8 September 2025, Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada invested CAD4.77 million to support the 48 research and innovation projects of 20 companies through the Ontario Agri-Food Research Initiative.⁸¹¹⁸ The research projects that are funded can utilize technology to nourish crops accurately in arable land. These projects aim to help agricultural industries grow despite the U.S. tariffs.

Canada has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. Canada has taken strong action in strengthening local production of fertilizers, increasing fertilizer efficiency and in addressing environmental concerns about soil health through investments, payment programs and verbal affirmations. However, it has not taken action in the other components of the commitment being engaging in international fertilizer trade, using biofertilizers and addressing concerns about water efficiency.

China has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 9 December 2024, the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Affairs announced the completion of the third national soil census.⁸¹¹⁹ This soil census plays a role in supporting China's agricultural modernization and ecological sustainability, identifying soil degradation issues and supporting measures to protect the ecological functions of soil and mitigate the impact of urbanization and industrialization on agricultural land.

On 14 February 2025, the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Affairs issued a notice on agricultural technology innovations set from 2024-2028.⁸¹²⁰ The innovations aim to advance biotechnology and information technology, improve the quality of soil health, to cultivate self-reliance in the agricultural sector of the nation.

On 17 February 2025, Vice Premier Liu Guozhong underscored the importance of farmland management including managing water and fertilizers scientifically in preparation for spring farming.⁸¹²¹ In addition, he stressed the need to ensure the supply of agricultural inputs including fertilizers.

On 24 February 2025, the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Affairs unveiled a policy blueprint for rural development.⁸¹²² The blueprint aims to revitalize the rural agricultural scene, fortify food security and cultivate agricultural productivity by empowering local farmers, expanding infrastructure, developing efficient harvesting machinery, and cultivating the seed industry to breed more high yield seeds.

On 11 June 2025, Vice Minister of Agriculture and Rural Affairs Zhang Zhili met with Grégoire Mutshail Mutomb Kangaji, Minister of Agriculture and Food Security of the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC).⁸¹²³ The representatives discussed deepening collaboration between the two nations regarding agricultural endeavours through a Memorandum of Understanding. The cooperation between China and the DRC aims to promote soil health and utilize fertilizers to enhance soil productivity in the DRC and its neighboring countries.

On 27 July 2025, China released a joint guideline to boost consumption of agricultural products through efforts to advance the combination of agriculture, culture and tourism to inspire new consumption spaces.⁸¹²⁴ The efforts include using agricultural products effectively to meet demand, elevate standards for domestic food production and boosting production, supply and marketing of agricultural products.

China has partially complied with the commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. While China has taken moderate action in strengthening the local production of fertilizers, enhancing fertilizer efficiency and addressing concerns about soil health and water efficiency, it has not taken strong action in the other components of the commitment.

France has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages through strengthening local production, engaging in international trade, take efforts to increase fertilizer efficiency, encourage the domestic use of biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 16 December 2024, France published several national analysis highlighting tools such as impact-linked loans, carbon credit programs and payments for environmental services.⁸¹²⁶ These mechanisms support adopting sustainable agricultural practices and contribute to improved soil health and resource efficiency for agricultural inputs including fertilizers across the sector.

On 18 February 2025, the Council of State announced that it recognized the new standard for High Value Evaluation.⁸¹²⁷ As part of the new standard, farms are encouraged to adopt environmentally friendly practices in several areas, including fertilization.

On 10 March 2025, France launched its third Plan for National Adaptation and Climate Change to prepare for a +4 °C scenario by 2100.⁸¹²⁸ The plan includes concrete actions across territories, with an emphasis on adaptation in sectors like agriculture and land management. It highlights sustainable water use, the protection of soil health and the financing of local climate resilience efforts, supporting long-term strategies to mitigate water pollution and preserve natural resources. The initiative builds on existing actions including a climate diagnostic tool for organic farming and the use of organic fertilizers, and a national strategy supporting plant-based protein sectors aligning with ecological planning objects including the reduction of nitrogen fertilizers.

On 17 March 2025, France reinforced its national strategy for securing supplies of critical metals, which are essential to the energy and digital transitions.⁸¹²⁹ This includes international partnerships focused on sustainable and ethical extraction practices, such as the Centenario lithium extraction project in Argentina and the Caremag rare earth separation plant. The strategy also promotes recycling and ESG standards, indirectly contributing to reduced environmental harm, improved resource efficiency and sustainable industrial inputs, including in sectors like fertilizer production that depend on such critical minerals.

On 17 April 2025, the Agence Française de Développement (AFD) Group and the OCP Group signed an agreement to finance a multistakeholder platform to strengthen African agricultural value chains.⁸¹³⁰ The initiative further supports the production of green fertilizers in Morocco.

On 2 July 2025, the Ministry of Agriculture and Food Sovereignty awarded EUR8.6 million in public funding to seven territorial projects under its ecological planning initiative.⁸¹³¹ Among the selected actions, the Terralaine project in Occitanie will transform wool into pellets that enhance water retention and fertilize crops, supporting the use of biofertilizers and contributing to more sustainable soil management.

France has partially complied its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. France committed to new tools for sustainable agriculture finance, international cooperation on water, updated national indicators on soil drought and pollution, climate adaptation plans, expanded mineral diplomacy to support sustainable inputs and promoting public education through initiatives. It has taken strong action in three of the components being strengthening local production of fertilizers, addressing environmental concerns about soil health and addressing concerns about water efficiency. However, France did not take steps to engage in international fertilizer trade, increase fertilizer efficiency or use biofertilizers.

detoxygenation – aiming to support small farmers with ecological and technological solutions.⁸¹³³ The initiative promotes sustainable local food systems and improved soil management practices under changing climate conditions.

On 13 December 2024, Germany’s Commission on the Future of Agriculture issued a strategic report recommending reforms to fertilization policy to improve environmental performance and farm viability.⁸¹³⁴ Key recommendations include developing a farm-wide nutrient balance system for nitrogen and phosphorus, tailoring adjustments to fertilizer rules in nitrate-sensitive zones and promoting precision agriculture to reduce fertilizer use and environmental impacts. These measures aim to increase fertilizer efficiency, support soil health and reduce water pollution risks.

On 2 January 2025, the government of Germany reaffirmed its support for sustainable agriculture by funding projects through its Bilateral Trust Fund with the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations.⁸¹³⁵ Among the initiatives are efforts to promote sustainable soil management for nutrition-sensitive agriculture and ensure responsible governance of tenure in the water management sector. These actions aim to improve soil health and reduce the risk of water pollution from agricultural sources.

On 11 January 2025, the Federal Ministry of Food and Agriculture released the “Policy for our cooperation with African countries and regions” to facilitate joint efforts with African partners to promote sustainable agriculture.⁸¹³⁶ As a part of its Action Area 1, the policy outlines a plan to “base fertiliser supply on a sustainable, circular system,” improve soil health due to under-fertilization, use organic fertilisers to build resilient and regenerative systems.

On 18 January 2025, Germany hosted the 17th Berlin Agriculture Ministers’ Conference during the Global Forum for Food and Agriculture where participants committed to promoting sustainable agriculture systems.⁸¹³⁷ The ministers reaffirmed their commitment to using sustainable fertilizers and bolstering local fertilizer production, and underscored the importance of innovative technologies in enhancing fertilizers. Further, ministers also highlighted the need for coordinated efforts on biofertilizers.

On 29 January 2025, the Government of Germany committed USD900,000 to support emergency spring crop production in southern Ukraine through the FAO.⁸¹³⁸ The funding provides vouchers for fertilizers and other inputs to 250 smallholder farmers and 1,000 vulnerable households, aiming to restore agricultural livelihoods. This initiative strengthens local fertilizer use and efficiency in conflict-affected regions. It also supports food security by enabling continued crop production amidst disrupted supply chains.

stakeholders to discuss sustainable land use, including the interaction between agriculture and renewable energy. Participants explored practical and policy solutions to advance sustainable rural development, with implications for improving soil health and resource use in agricultural regions.

On 22 April 2025, Germany's draft coalition agreement reaffirmed its commitment to sustainable agriculture and land use as part of its broader climate and environmental agenda.⁸¹⁴⁰ The incoming government pledged to strengthen organic farming through a new strategy significantly, improve the framework for climate-resilient forests, and implement priority measures from the national water strategy. These efforts support improved soil health and water resource management through incentive-based approaches and environmental standards in the agricultural sector.

On 26 June 2025, the German CDU-SPD coalition announced the repeal of the agricultural raw materials balance law, which had required farmers to track fertilizer inputs and outputs to monitor nitrate pollution.⁸¹⁴¹ This rollback marked a deliberate shift away from regulatory oversight of fertilizer use, reducing pressure on farmers to limit nitrogen runoff. The decision signals a weakening of fertilizer efficiency measures and poses risks to soil and water protection commitments under EU law.

On 3 July 2025, the German government implemented strengthened regulations under its Fertiliser Application Ordinance to mandate rapid incorporation of urea into soil and ban surface-level spreading on grasslands and arable land.⁸¹⁴² These measures were designed to sharply reduce ammonia emissions, protect water resources, and ensure more efficient nutrient uptake through stricter control of nitrogen fertilizer application. This action demonstrates Germany's efforts to increase fertilizer efficiency and take strong steps to improve soil health and minimize water pollution, though it does not address domestic fertilizer production, international fertilizer trade, or biofertilizers.

Germany has fully complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages through strengthening local production, engaging in international trade, take efforts to increase fertilizer efficiency, encourage the domestic use of biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. It has taken strong action in strengthening local production of fertilizers, increase fertilizer efficiency addressing environmental concerns about soil health and addressing concerns about water efficiency through amendments to the Fertilizer Act, funding schemes, stricter nitrate pollution controls and support for low-emission nutrient application.

Thus, Germany receives a score of +1.

On 19 March 2025, the Union Cabinet approved a proposal to develop a new Ammonia-Urea complex within the existing premises of Brahmaputra Valley Fertilizer Limited.⁸¹⁴³ This project will increase the domestic production of urea fertilizers and help address the growing demand nationwide.

On 28 March 2025, the Union Cabinet approved the Department of Fertilizer's Nutrient Based Subsidy rates for Phosphatic and Potassic (P&K) fertilizers.⁸¹⁴⁴ This funding applies for the Kharif 2025 season, from 1 April to 30 September 2025. The INR37,216 funding aims to promote the accessibility of P&K fertilizers for farmers despite potential global price fluctuations.

On 1 August 2025, the Government of India launched a campaign to ensure the quality and quantity of fertilizers across the country.⁸¹⁴⁵ The campaign aims to enforce the Fertilizers Control Order, which strictly prohibits the distribution of fertilizers that do not meet the standards prescribed by the government. The government has taken measures to investigate the conduct of manufacturers in the period of April 2025 to 25 July 2025.

On 11 September 2025, Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi announced a crackdown on the fertilizer black market, ordering stricter inspections and the redirection of seized stock.⁸¹⁴⁶ This initiative addresses challenges associated with fertilizer shortages, ensuring proper distribution through cooperative outlets.

On 30 October 2025, the Ministry of Ayush, IARI-R1, the National Bank of Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD) in partnership with the Patanjali Organics Research Institute organized a two-day workshop on the "Cultivation of High-Quality Medicinal Plants through Soil Health Monitoring and Management."⁸¹⁴⁷ The event raised awareness on the importance of healthy soil, soil management techniques and soil fertility. Further, representatives reiterated their commitment to leveraging organic compost in agricultural practices.

India has partially complied with its commitment to addressing the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. India has taken moderate action in strengthening the local production of fertilizers, promoting fertilizer efficiency and biofertilizers as well as addressing environmental concerns on soil health. However, it has not taken action to address the other components of the commitment.

Thus, India receives a score of 0.

Indonesia: +1

Indonesia has fully complied with its commitment to addressing the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 25 December 2024, Indonesia allocated approximately USD2.9 billion worth, 9.55 million tonnes of subsidized fertilizers to be distributed domestically.⁸¹⁴⁸

On 1 January 2025, Indonesia distributed 9.55 million tons of subsidized fertilizers.⁸¹⁴⁹ This includes 4.6 million tons of urea fertilizer; 4.2 million tons of nitrogen, phosphorous, potassium-based fertilizer; 147,000 tons of cacao fertilizers and 500,000 tons of organic fertilizer. This initiative improves on Indonesia's agriculture sector, allowing for better absorption and future food security.

On 6 March 2025, Senior Minister Airlangga Hartarto and France's Ambassador of International Investments Pascal Cagni discussed collaborating on green technology, prior to the implementation of the European Union's carbon border adjustment mechanism.⁸¹⁵⁰ The green technology would include further developing low carbon industries for fertilizer.

On 11 March 2025, Coordinating Minister for Food Zulkifli Hasan formed a group "to supervise and evaluate the implementation of subsidized fertilizers."⁸¹⁵¹ The group would be responsible for creating and managing policies for subsidized fertilizers, to avoid irregular distribution in subsidized fertilizers in an effort to achieve food self-sufficiency.

On 15 April 2025, Indonesia and Jordan signed three memorandums of understanding (MoU) and a cooperation pact to establish a strategic partnership in the agricultural sector.⁸¹⁵² Under the partnership, the two countries commit to collaborating on fertilizer production, supporting agricultural trade and private sector investment.

On 17 April 2025, Minister of Agriculture Andi Amran Sulaiman, following a meeting with Jordanian Ambassador Sudqi Atallah Al Omoush, proposed the establishment of a joint fertilizer corporation that would supply both nations, as well as markets in Southern Asia and Asia.⁸¹⁵³ The partnership reduces fertilizer costs, utilize water management and irrigation systems modeled after Jordan's practices and implement drone technology as farming tools for the distribution of fertilizer, pesticides and herbicides.

On 21 April 2025, Minister of Public Works Dody Hanggodo instructed the implementation of water-saving rice irrigation technology at all regional centers.⁸¹⁵⁴ The technology would enable accurate and efficient water management, reducing water consumption to enhance crop quality and quantity.

On 26 May 2025, Prime Minister Prabowo Subianto asked Laotian Prime Minister Sonexay Siphandone to explore opportunities of increasing potential trade and cooperation in agriculture, the fertilizer industry and mineral exploration.⁸¹⁵⁵

On 6 June 2025, Foreign Affairs Minister Sugiono announced that Indonesia hopes to strengthen cooperation with Belarus in developing a potash fertilizer that can further enhance food security.⁸¹⁵⁶ The minister also expressed a desire to expand exports and market access to Belarus. This partnership expands business contacts and market access between Indonesia and Belarus. The development and use of potash fertilizer provides nutrients to plants that support better harvest quality, flavour, and water retention.

On 11 June 2025, Agriculture Minister Sulaiman announced that President Prabowo Subianto has approved the allocation of approximately USD2.45 billion to support the national goal of sugar self-sufficiency within three years.⁸¹⁵⁷ The funds are allocated explicitly for fertilizer subsidies, procuring high-quality sugar cane, as well as other production inputs.

On 21 June 2025, Indonesia and the Eurasian Economic Union (EAEU) announced the conclusion of negotiations on the Indonesia-Eurasian Economic Union Free Trade Agreement (I-EAEU FTA).⁸¹⁵⁸ The I-EAEU FTA would increase commodities from the EAEU, including chemical fertilizer raw materials, wheat and other resources, as well as open new export avenues and foster better trade relations in Southeast Asia.

On 4 July 2025, the National Food Agency announced the government would be strengthening the Merah Putih Village/Urban Cooperatives with basic food outlets and operating business units that include fertilizer agents.⁸¹⁵⁹

On 14 October 2025, Director General of Economic and Fiscal Strategy at the Finance Ministry Febrio Kacaribu delivered a statement announcing several strategic measures including the streamlining of regulations and easing rules that hinder business development to attract more investors.⁸¹⁶⁰ This initiative advances efforts early in the year whereby the government removed 145 regulations on fertilizer distribution. Overall, these combined efforts boost the agricultural sector.

On 22 October 2025, Indonesia announced the construction of seven new fertilizer factories over a five-year period to boost national fertilizer self-sufficiency and reduce production costs through energy-efficiency technology.⁸¹⁶¹ The project is expected to increase subsidized fertilizer production by 700,000 tons. It reflects the government's commitment to strengthening local fertilizer production.

On 23 October 2025, Indonesia announced its decision to cut subsidized fertilizer prices by up to 20 per cent and streamline distribution channels, ensuring timely access for fertilizers to prevent price violations.⁸¹⁶² The policy also includes a planned increase of 700,000 tons of subsidized fertilizer by 2029, aligning with Indonesia's long-term fertilizer strategy.

On 25 October 2025, Indonesia increased its annual subsidized fertilizer quota from four million to 9.5 million tons and cuts prices by up to 20 per cent to support local farmers.⁸¹⁶³ Due to below target fertilizer distribution and gaps in resource allocation and absorption, these measures aim to strengthen local production.

On 5 November 2025, under President Subianto's direction, Indonesia cut subsidized fertilizer prices by up to 20 per cent, with urea capped at IDR90,000 and NPK at IDR92,000.⁸¹⁶⁴ These policies aim to enhance budget efficiency and support the construction of new fertilizer factories, addressing challenges in fertilizer shortages and strengthening local fertilizer production.

Indonesia has fully complied its commitment to addressing the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. Indonesia has taken strong action towards strengthening local production, increasing fertilizer efficiency and using biofertilizers, through increasing access and distribution of fertilizers. Indonesia has further taken action with increased engagement in international fertilizer trade through partnerships and implemented new technology addressing use of water in the agriculture sector.

Thus, Indonesia receives a score of +1.

launched the “Lab Innova for Africa Kenya” project, aimed to support African companies in the agribusiness sector.⁸¹⁶⁷ The initiative aims to strengthen Kenya’s production of fruits and vegetables by increasing the production of organic fertilizers and biofuels, while also fostering stronger bonds between Italy and Kenya.

On 16 April 2025, Ambassador to El Salvador Paola Emanuele Rozo Sordini, Vice President of the Republic of El Salvador Félix Ulloa and President-elect of Honduras Doris Gutiérrez inaugurated a soil and water analysis laboratory in El Salvador donated by Italy.⁸¹⁶⁸ The laboratory will provide soil and water health analysis services, enabling farmers to access data on soil fertility, which will facilitate more optimal fertilizer use and promote more sustainable agricultural practices.

On 29 May 2025, Italy financed EUR365 million to the Moroccan company Office Cherifien des Phosphates (OCP), the third largest fertilizer company in the world.⁸¹⁶⁹ The financing provides more opportunities for Italian companies in relevant sectors, strengthens ties between Italy and Morocco and creates more economic collaboration between the two states.

On 16 June 2025, the Italian National Agency for New Technologies, Energy and Sustainable Economic Development (ENEA) announced the ‘Bioses’-BIOgas SOSTenibile’ project, aimed to filter water, dilute fertilizers and irrigate fields.⁸¹⁷⁰ The project’s filtration process extracts nutrients and elements that can be used as agricultural fertilizers, helping Italy work towards its goal of a 20 percent reduction in synthetic fertilizers by 2030.

On 27 June 2025, Minister of Agriculture, Food Sovereignty and Forestry Francesco Lollobrigida and Minister of Agriculture and Irrigation of Somalia Mohamed Abdi Hayir met at the 6th African Union-European Union Ministerial Conference on Agriculture and confirmed the excellent relations between the two states and their desire to strengthen cooperation in the agri-food sector.⁸¹⁷¹ Areas for strategic collaboration in regard to irrigation and sustainable water management, promotion of agricultural research and climate adaptable agriculture were discussed, with Lollobrigida expressing interest in developing a Memorandum of Understanding with Somalia to further strengthen relations.

Italy has partially complied with commitment to undertake work on addressing fertilizer shortages through strengthening local production and local production. Italy has taken strong action to address environmental concerns about soil health and water efficiency and has taken weak action in engaging in international fertilizer trade and usage. However, it has not taken steps to strengthen local production of fertilizers.

Thus, Italy receives the score of 0.

Japan: +1

Japan has fully complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 21 February 2025, the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) and the World Food Programme (WFP) signed a grant agreement to provide aid up to JPY951 million for the Project for Strengthening the Wheat Value Chain.⁸¹⁷² This project targets the Republic of the Sudan, and seeks to distribute wheat seeds and fertilizers, provide equipment and foster effective wheat production management expertise. The goal is to contribute to food security and agricultural development in Sudan.

On 25 February 2025, JICA and the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) signed a grant agreement to provide aid up to JPY1.093 billion for the Project for Promoting Climate-resilient Agricultural Management through the Establishment of the Farmers Field School in the Conflict-affected Communities in Northern Regions.⁸¹⁷³ This project targets key regions in Ethiopia and initiatives to improve agricultural productivity by disseminating useful knowledge, practices and skills and rehabilitating irrigation infrastructure to improve soil health and address water efficiency.

On 28 February 2025, JICA and the Government of Egypt established a research partnership for the Project for Utilization of Agricultural Wastes for Plastic Alternative Productions to Establish a Circular Economy.⁸¹⁷⁴ This project intends to research and develop alternatives to plastic which may be produced using agricultural waste. The adoption of such plastic alternatives aims to reduce plastic/microplastic waste and, improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 6 March 2025, the Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries inducted new members into its National Promotion Council for Expanding the Use of Domestic Fertilizer Resources. Members include fertilizer raw material production companies, fertilizer manufacturing companies, farms and other consumers of fertilizer resources, research institutes and other related organizations and parties.⁸¹⁷⁵ This council facilitates both the promotion of domestic fertilizer utilization and the sharing of information and resources between council members.

On 9 April 2025, JICA and the Government of the Dominican Republic signed a loan agreement providing up to JPY10.93 billion for the Project to Improve Agricultural Financing for Strengthening the Food Value Chain.⁸¹⁷⁶ This project aims to improve access to finances in the agricultural sector of the Dominican Republic, primarily by providing loans to agricultural enterprises and cooperatives. In providing these loans, this project strengthens both local fertilizer production and trade in the Dominican Republic.

On 28 May 2025, JICA signed an investment agreement with Agrolend, a Brazilian digital bank, for their Project for Improving Efficiency in Agricultural Finance.⁸¹⁷⁷ Agrolend finances more than 3,700 small and medium-sized farmers across Brazil by providing loans to help them purchase seeds, fertilizers, pesticides and other essential agricultural inputs. By investing in Agrolend, Japan contributes to Brazil's agricultural development and strengthen local fertilizer production and trade.

On 29 August 2025, the Japanese Ministry of the Environment announced the adoption of a project proposal submitted earlier in the year by the Oji Materia corporation under the “Decarbonized Circular Economy System Construction Promotion Project.”⁸¹⁷⁸ The project aims to demonstrate the viability of a novel, marine-degradable resin made from wood and pulp fibers for use in the manufacturing of slow-release fertilizer. As existing resins are prone to become microplastics, this project aims to both reduce water pollution and encourage the production and use of fertilizer by lessening the environmental impact of fertilizer production.

Japan has fully complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. Japan has taken strong action in strengthening local production of fertilizers, increasing fertilizer efficiency, addressing environmental concerns about soil health and addressing concerns about water efficiency through its National Promotion Council, financial aid and research partnerships.

Thus, Japan receives a score of +1.

Korea has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages through strengthening local production, engaging in international trade, taking efforts to increase fertilizer efficiency, encourage the domestic use of biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 14 February 2025, the Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs (MAFRA) released its 2025 Agricultural Work Plan, outlining its agricultural policy goals for the year 2025.⁸¹⁷⁹ Planned measures include the lowering of tariffs for fertilizer and livestock feed, the lowering of interest rates for agricultural loans, the expansion of multi-firm cooperative purchases of fertilizer products, and the expansion of direct subsidy payments for environmentally friendly practices.

On 12 March 2025, Korean agricultural input companies, supported by the MAFRA, opened booths in Asian agricultural trade exhibitions in Thailand, Vietnam and China to court potential buyers.⁸¹⁸⁰ The objective is to promote Korean eco-friendly fertilizers among Asian markets to encourage exports, with a focus on the three aforementioned countries.

On 23 June 2025, the MAFRA sent a delegation of 15 Korean exporters to Thailand to showcase Korean-made agricultural inputs, including Korean fertilizer products, to buyers from Thailand, Vietnam and other Southeast Asian countries.⁸¹⁸¹

On 22 July 2025, the MAFRA held a buyers-exporters meeting for agricultural inputs, with attendance of buyers from 27 countries and 113 Korean exporters.⁸¹⁸² The meeting will include 588 one-on-one business meetings between both sides, with a total of 75 buyers present. The meeting also includes follow-up meetings to ensure contracts are signed. The MAFRA aim to encourage contracts between Korean exporters and overseas markets to expand agricultural input exports.

On 21 September 2025, the MAFRA sent a trade delegation of 12 Korean agricultural exporter to the United Arab Emirates.⁸¹⁸³ The delegation showcased Korean-made agricultural input products to prospective buyers, including fertilizer products. The MAFRA also provided support by meeting with local government officials, setting up meetings, and investigated local market trends. The export delegation seeks to provide opportunities for Korean agricultural exporters to enter overseas markets and increase exports.

Korea has partially complied with its commitment to combat fertilizer shortages though efforts to strengthen local production, engage in trade, increase fertilizer efficiency and encourage biofertilizer usage while protecting soil health and minimize water pollution. Korea has made strides to encourage exports of its eco-friendly variations of agricultural fertilizers among African and Asian markets and plans to implement measures to increase the affordability of fertilizer products among farmers. It also plans to introduce financial incentives for the usage of more eco-friendly fertilizers. However, Korea has not focused on addressing concerns about soil health or water efficiency.

Thus, Korea receives a score of 0.

Russia has not complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages by strengthening local production and trade, increasing fertilizer efficiency, and utilizing biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 1 December 2024, Russian set export quotas for mineral fertilizers to be in effect until 31 May 2025.⁸²¹⁰ The export quota for nitrogen fertilizers is set at approximately 11.2 million tonnes, and for compound fertilizers, 8 million tonnes. The Ministry of Industry and Trade has been tasked with distributing these quotas among foreign trade participants.⁸²¹¹ In accordance with President Vladimir Putin's instructions, this decision aims to ensure that an adequate volume of fertilizers remains available for the domestic market and deprioritizes international fertilizer trade.

On 23 April 2025, an international press conference hosted by the Media Group "Rossiya Segodnya" in Moscow presented a study by the consulting firm Implementa titled "Russian Mineral Fertilizers: In Search of an Optimal Path to Market."⁸²¹² This research focused on Russia's mineral fertilizer sector, including the country's position as a global leader in fertilizer exports. It discussed opportunities for expanding exports, driven by rising global demand and shortages, especially in Latin America and South Asia, highlighting the role of low production costs in Russia's competitive edge. The study predicts an increase in Russia's fertilizer production by 2030, with a projected rise of more than 15 million tonnes, particularly in urea and potassium chloride.

On 8 May 2025, the Government of the Russian Federation issued Decree No. 601 introducing a temporary quantitative restriction through non-tariff export quotas on the export of certain types of mineral fertilizers, total approximately 19.96 million tonnes.⁸²¹³ The measure aims to stabilize domestic fertilizer availability, prices and food security by prioritizing supply for Russian agricultural producers.

On 23 May 2025, the Federal Antimonopoly Service (FAS) approved the trade policies of mineral fertilizer producers, confirming that domestic fertilizer prices will not exceed September 2022 levels; producers were

On 22 August 2025, Deputy Prime Minister Dmitry Patrushev announced that state support for Russia's agricultural sector in 2025 will exceed RUB0.5 trillion, maintaining all major subsidy programs and adding RUB2 billion for new loan subsidies.⁸²¹⁵ He noted that a new federal project, Development of Small Agrobusiness, will launch in 2026 to consolidate support for farmers and small enterprises, aiming to achieve the goal of increasing agricultural production by 25 per cent by 2030.

Russia has not complied with its commitment to addressing the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. Although Russia made efforts to financially invest in agricultural development, the country has not conducted sufficient action to merit partial compliance.

Thus, Russia receives a score of -1 .⁸²¹⁶

Saudi Arabia has not complied with its commitment to combat fertilizer shortages though efforts to strengthen local production, engage in trade, increase fertilizer efficiency and encourage biofertilizer usage while protecting soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 6 December 2024, Saudi Arabia announced that they would be increasing recycled water for agriculture from 500,000 to two million cubic meters, targeting 90 per cent of treated water.⁸²¹⁷ Increasing the use of recycled water is able to minimize water pollution and improve water efficiency in agriculture-related initiatives.

Saudi Arabia has not complied with its commitment to combat fertilizer shortages though efforts to strengthen local production, engage in trade, increase fertilizer efficiency and encourage biofertilizer usage while protecting soil health and minimize water pollution. Although Saudi Arabia has taken action towards reducing water pollution, further action in the area of strengthening local production of fertilizers, engaging in international fertilizer trade, increasing fertilizer efficiency, using biofertilizers and addressing environmental concerns about soil health is needed to fulfill the requirements of full compliance.

Thus, Saudi Arabia receives a score of -1 .⁸²¹⁸

South Africa: 0

South Africa has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages by strengthening local production and trade, increasing fertilizer efficiency, and utilizing biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 10 January 2025, Agriculture Minister John Steenhuisen stated South Africa's ongoing efforts to balance the fertilizer manufacturing industry by promoting organic fertilizers and discouraging inorganic fertilizer user, in addition to bolstering supply chains and distribution channels to facilitate affordable access to quality fertilizers during a side event on African Fertiliser and soil health (AFSH).⁸²¹⁹ Minister Steenhuisen also reaffirmed the commitment to restoring and scaling soil health through institutionalizing regenerative agriculture.

On 24 March 2025, the Department of Science, Technology and Innovation recognized a pioneering hydroponic farming system that reduces fertilizer use by 40 per cent by awarding the innovator, Mogale Maleka, the first prize at the Global Cleantech Innovation Programme – South Africa Awards.⁸²²⁰ This action tackles the challenge of climate change by nurturing cleantech enterprises and supporting resource-scarce regions in their agricultural production with sustainable solutions.

On 27 March 2025, President Cyril Ramaphosa announced the commencement of the Climate Change Act.⁸²²¹ The Act facilitates the development of effective climate change responses and promotes a transition towards a climate-resilient economy. The Act addresses issues within the broader theme of sustainable agriculture, which includes fertilizer challenges; however, it fails to directly tackle the issue of fertilizer shortages.

On 24 April 2025, President Ramaphosa met with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy to discuss strengthening bilateral ties across trade and agriculture, including proposals for a joint mineral hub to produce and transport fertilizers for South Africa.⁸²²²

On 12 June 2025, President Ramaphosa noted Africa's green hydrogen potential to support sustainable agriculture and land use, highlighting projects that link hydrogen production to green fertilizers and industrial applications.⁸²²³ He emphasized that integrating renewable energy with agriculture can drive soil-friendly and climate-resilient farming practices.

On 19 September 2025, Minister Steenhuisen reaffirmed South Africa's support for the G20 Agriculture Ministers' adoption of the Food Security Task Force Declaration, which emphasized leveraging soil-water analytics and efficient irrigation to advance climate-smart and resilient agriculture.⁸²²⁴

South Africa has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages by strengthening local production and trade, increasing fertilizer efficiency, and utilizing biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. It has taken moderate action in increasing fertilizer efficiency, broadly affirmed actions that address fertilizer challenges and reiterated ongoing efforts to strengthen local production of fertilizers, using biofertilizers and address environmental concerns about soil health. South Africa has not strong taken steps to engage in international fertilizer trade or address concerns about water efficiency.

Thus, South Africa receives a score of 0.

Türkiye has not complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increasing fertilizer efficiency, and utilizing biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 25 July 2025, the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry announced a list of agricultural support payments totaling TRY827 million to be made to farmers.⁸²²⁵ This included roughly TRY1.5 million toward diesel and fertilizer support.

On 8 August 2025, On 25 July 2025, the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry announced a list of agricultural support payments totaling TRY116 million to be made to farmers.⁸²²⁶ This included roughly TRY40 million toward diesel and fertilizer support.

Türkiye has not complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increasing fertilizer efficiency, and utilizing biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. Türkiye has not taken any tangible actions or steps that advance the key components of the commitment.

Thus, Türkiye receives a score of -1.⁸²²⁷

nitrous oxide emissions resulting from excess nitrogen use. Additionally, the toolkit encourages farmers to improve sustainability practices within their supply chains that enhance carbon storage in soils.

On 20 February 2025, the UK Environment Agency called on farmers in Devon and Cornwall to take immediate action to prevent soil run-off incidents, which have doubled compared to the same period last year.⁸²²⁹ The agency identified that soil compaction and lack of crop cover were major contributing factors. Farmers have been advised to use proper cultivation equipment, assess land risks and install preventive measures to reduce the impact of run-off on watercourses and properties.

On 17 March 2025, the UK government's Biodiverse Landscapes Fund took action to address fertilizer sustainability by inaugurating biofactories in Guatemala and El Salvador.⁸²³⁰ These biofactories, located in Aldea El Rincón and El Llano respectively, will produce biofertilizers using mountain microorganisms. This initiative supports sustainable agriculture by reducing reliance on chemical fertilizers and reducing their environmental impact through the switch to biofertilizers.

On 7 May 2025, Minister for Food Security and Rural Affairs Daniel Zeichner announced the launch of GBP50 million of grants to improve agricultural productivity through technologies that aid farmers.⁸²³¹ The technologies aim to reduce reliance on chemical fertilizers whilst increasing the efficiency of agricultural practices and maintaining soil health.

On 30 June 2025, the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs announced that funding for farm inspections had doubled as part of a broader drive to reduce agricultural pollution.⁸²³² The department claims that prior inspections allowed farmers to improve fertilizer use, such benefits are expected to continue.

On 15 July 2025, Ambassador Juliana Correa met with Guatemalan Minister of Agriculture, Livestock and Food María Fernanda Rivera to discuss opportunities offered by the UK in the agri-tech sector.⁸²³³ In the meeting, the representatives discussed British solutions for fertilizers, water conservation and agricultural technologies that can aid agriculture in Guatemala. This action reaffirms the UK's commitment to international agricultural trade and sustainable agriculture.

On 10 September 2025, Special Representative for Nature Ruth Davis and Brazilian Deputy Agricultural Minister Cleber Oliveira Soares and the developed a memorandum of understanding that aims to enhance fertilizer production by making it more efficient and sustainable.⁸²³⁴ The partnership aims to do so through collaborative research and development of fertilizers.

United States: +1

The United States has fully complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages through strengthening local production, engaging in international trade, increasing fertilizer efficiency, encouraging the domestic use of biofertilizers, and addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution.

On 18 December 2024, the Department of Agriculture introduced new subsidy programs for small and medium-sized farms to encourage the adoption of biofertilizers.⁸²³⁵ These programs provide financial incentives, training and technical support to farmers transitioning to sustainable agricultural practices.

On 19 December 2024, Department of Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced USD300 million in funding towards 67 partners in the Regional Agricultural Promotion Program (RAPP), investing in export development in Africa, Southeast Asia and Latin America.⁸²³⁶ RAPP aims to strengthen global agricultural supply chains through the exchange of innovative solutions such as improved fertilizer technologies and sustainable inputs.

On 15 January 2025, the Department of Agriculture announced new guidelines for Technical Guidelines for Climate-Smart Agriculture Crops Used as Biofuel Feedstocks, a standardized template for assessing greenhouse gas emissions from agricultural practices in the United States.⁸²³⁷ This rule allows for more climate-smart agriculture within the United States, emphasizing the need for agrarian practices such as reduced till and no-till, cover cropping and the use of nitrification inhibitors in farming.

On 6 March 2025, President Donald Trump announced adjustments to tariffs on Canada and Mexico, including a reduction from 25 per cent to 10 per cent in tariffs on potash (an ingredient in fertilizers) imports.⁸²³⁸ This adjustment supports domestic farmers secure agricultural input costs, strengthening the local production of fertilizers.⁸²³⁹

On 1 December 2024, the African Union released the draft version of its Comprehensive Africa Agriculture Development Programme (CAADP) Strategy and Action Plan: 2026-2035.⁸²⁴¹ The plan includes significant commitments to strengthen and enhance access to and use of fertilizers, especially for marginalized groups.

On 20 March 2025, Ambassador Moses Vilakati of the Agriculture, Rural Development, Blue Economy and Sustainable Environment (ARBE) stated at the 14th Africa Fertilizer Financing Mechanism (AFFM) Governing Council Meeting that the department will increase support for the continent's fertilizer industry with tailored financing mechanisms.⁸²⁴² This action increases fertilizer use by improving efficiency across the fertilizer supply chain and improves farming conditions in Africa.

On 25 March 2025, a delegation from the Forum for Agricultural Research in Africa met with the African Union Commissioner for Agriculture, Rural Development, Blue Economy and Sustainable Environment, Moses Vilakati.⁸²⁴³ During the meeting, Commissioner Vilakati reaffirmed his plan to increase fertilizer production and use within Africa, pledging to the full implementation of the Africa Fertilizer and Soil Health Action Plan.

On 7 April 2025, the African Union co-hosted the 6th Africa Climate Talks & SDGs Forum to bolster a unified strategy to finance sustainable green growth and development in Africa.⁸²⁴⁴ This action facilitates member-to-member cooperation on the trade, supply and distribution of fertilizers and other crucial goods for farming.

On 19 June 2025, the African Union Semi-Arid Food Grain Research and Development (AU-SAFGRAD) organized a four-day workshop to support the implementation of the 10-year CAADP Strategy and Action Plan.⁸²⁴⁵ This action enhances the efficiency of fertilizer usage by promoting collaboration on technology and the inclusion of underprivileged groups.

On 27 June 2025, Commissioner Vilakati met with European Union Commissioner for Agriculture and Food Christophe Hansen at the sixth African Union-European Union Agriculture Ministerial Conference in Rome.⁸²⁴⁶ Commissioner Vilakati announced that during the meeting, he had signed the EU Mission Soil Manifesto, building on work undertaken at the 2024 Africa Fertiliser and Soil Health Summit. Among other things, this manifesto aims to ensure that Africa can produce regional fertilizers tailored to local soil conditions.

On 1 September 2025, the African Union Development Agency-NEPAD (AUDA-NEPAD), the African Union Commission (AUC), AGRA, the Forum for Agricultural Research in Africa (FARA) and the Coalition of Implementors for Fertilizer and Soil Health (CIFSH) launched the Africa Fertilizer Industry Development Association on the sidelines of the Africa Food Systems Forum 2025.⁸²⁴⁷ This initiative marks a step towards improving soil health and fertilizer access for smallholder farmers across the African subcontinent.

The African Union has partially complied with its commitment to address the challenges of fertilizer shortages, including through strengthening local production, trade, increase fertilizer efficiency, and utilize biofertilizers while addressing the need to improve soil health and minimize water pollution. It has taken action in strengthening the local production of fertilizers through financing mechanisms and investments in technology, promoting fertilizer efficiency and addressing environmental concerns about soil health. However, it has not taken strong action in the other components of the commitment.

Thus, the African Union receives a score of 0.

Background

In 2024, the Chair’s Statement for the G20 Gender Equality and Empowerment of Women Ministerial Meeting recognized persistent gender inequalities that limit equal economic rights, participation and leadership for women around the world.⁸²⁵⁵ The International Labour Organization’s (ILO) reiterates these inequalities, noting that while gender equality in employment has improved over the last thirty years, there is still a 23.1 per cent gap in the employment rate for men and women, only 30 per cent of managerial positions worldwide are held by women and women are paid “77.4 cents for every dollar earned by men in 2024.”⁸²⁵⁶ The ILO also notes that women continue to be overrepresented in low-paying sectors, informal employment and unpaid care work, with structural barriers, discrimination and gender-blind economic policies contributing to unequal employment and work opportunities for women. Given the significance of these issues, the G20 has prioritized addressing gender inequality in labour markets since the 2009 London Summit where G20 leaders pledged to build “a fair and family-friendly labour market for both women and men.”⁸²⁵⁷

At the 2011 Cannes Summit, G20 leaders agreed to enhance the “medium-term foundations for growth” in the Action Plan for Growth and Jobs.⁸²⁵⁸ In part, the leaders committed to structural reforms and labour market policies that encourage women’s workforce participation.

At the 2012 Los Cabos Summit, G20 leaders committed to advancing economic opportunities for women and supporting gender equality in employment through skills training, salaries, treatment and distribution of care-work.⁸²⁵⁹ They also acknowledged the importance of financial education and access to financial services for women.

At the 2013 St. Petersburg Summit, G20 leaders committed to enhancing labour market participation for women and disadvantaged groups.⁸²⁶⁰ The leaders also supported financial inclusion for women by endorsing the International Network for Financial Education and World Bank’s progress report on financial education and services for women and girls and launching the Women Finance Hub with the International Financial Corporation.

At the 2014 Brisbane Summit, G20 leaders reiterated the importance of addressing barriers to employment, committing to reducing the gendered gap in labour market participation by 25 per cent by 2025.⁸²⁶¹ The G20 also launched the Brisbane Action Plan for economic growth and jobs, noting that all members will take action to increase women’s employment and recognizing the need for better quality jobs.⁸²⁶²

At the 2015 Antalya Summit, G20 leaders reiterated their commitment to improving labour market participation and quality jobs for women as part of their Action Plan for economic growth.⁸²⁶³ The leaders also acknowledged the establishment of Women-20, a G20 engagement group supporting gender equality and economic empowerment for women.

At the 2016 Hangzhou Summit, G20 leaders committed to inclusive economic growth that enables opportunities and benefits for women and disadvantaged groups.⁸²⁶⁴ The leaders also agreed to invest in skills training to increase employment opportunities for women in science, technology and innovation and support women entrepreneurs and women-led businesses to access global value chains.

At the 2017 Hamburg Summit, G20 leaders focused on the importance of women’s empowerment, noting progress on their Brisbane Summit commitment to reduce the gender gap in labour force participation.⁸²⁶⁵ In addition, they committed to addressing gender pay gaps, employment discrimination and violence against women while increasing women’s opportunities in the Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) fields. G20 leaders also endorsed the World Bank’s Women Entrepreneurs Financing Initiative to advance financial inclusion and economic opportunities for women.

At the 2018 Buenos Aires Summit, G20 leaders reaffirmed their commitment to ensuring gender equality in the economic sector through women's empowerment.⁸²⁶⁶ They noted the importance of “quality and affordable care infrastructure and parental leave” to advance this objective.

At the 2019 Osaka Summit, G20 leaders reiterated their commitment to increasing women's labour force participation and economic empowerment including by addressing unpaid care work responsibilities.⁸²⁶⁷ They also reaffirmed the importance of addressing gender pay gaps and employment discrimination alongside increasing access to education and skills training for women and girls, especially in the STEM and digital technology sectors.

At the 2020 Riyadh Summit, G20 leaders recognized the disproportionate impact of COVID-19 on employment opportunities for women and committed to continue promoting gender equality in the labour market.⁸²⁶⁸ The G20 also recognized the launch of the Private Sector Alliance for the Empowerment and Progression of Women's Economic Representation to support women in leadership.

At the 2021 Rome Summit, G20 leaders committed to supporting gender equality and women's empowerment by improving social services including healthcare and education, addressing uneven care work responsibilities, tackling gender-based violence and stereotypes and increasing the number of quality jobs available to women.⁸²⁶⁹

At the 2022 Bali Summit, G20 leaders called for international efforts to support the digital transition, with a particular focus on women.⁸²⁷⁰ They also reiterated their commitment to gender equality and women's empowerment, including by increasing STEM opportunities and leadership positions for women, supporting rural and disabled women and ensuring quality education for women and girls.

At the 2023 New Delhi Summit, G20 leaders reaffirmed the importance of economic equality and empowerment and noted the need for women's meaningful participation in the labour market.⁸²⁷¹ To this end, they agreed to continue supporting women and girls' education, particularly for STEM and digital technologies, increasing equitable and decent employment opportunities, ensuring social services and addressing gender-based violence.

At the 2024 Rio de Janeiro Summit, G20 leaders reiterated their commitment to supporting the “full, equal, effective and meaningful participation and leadership of women,” recognizing the importance of gender equality in paid and unpaid work.⁸²⁷² They also committed “to implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal” to achieve women's empowerment and economic equality.

Commitment Features

The G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal includes six key objectives, with specific sub-areas of action.⁸²⁷³ With these objectives in mind, this commitment can be broken down into the following components: 1) increasing the quantity and quality of women's employment, 2) ensuring equal opportunities and achieving better outcomes in the labour market, 3) promoting a more even distribution of women and men across sectors and occupations, 4) tackling the gender pay gap, 5) promoting a more balanced distribution of paid and unpaid work between women and men and 6) addressing discrimination and gender stereotypes in the labour market. Strong actions for complying with the commitment include actions that align with any of the sub-areas of action for the six components, as listed in the G20 Roadmap document. Actions that contribute to the six components but are not aligned with the sub-areas of action will count towards a score of partial compliance.

Definitions and Concepts

"Commit" is understood to mean "to do or perform, to pledge or bind (a person or an organization) to a certain course or policy."⁸²⁷⁴

"Implementing" is interpreted "to mean taking steps forward. While the commitment may be a part of a longer-term initiative and actions on it may continue into the prolonged future, steps need to be taken in the near future to be considered implementation. This should not, therefore, be interpreted to mean only prolonged or delayed action."⁸²⁷⁵

The "G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal" refers to the Action Plan for "more, better and equally paid jobs for women" adopted during Italy's G20 Presidency in 2021.⁸²⁷⁶ This roadmap builds on the G20's pledge at the 2014 Brisbane Summit "to reduce the gap in labour force participation rates between men and women by 25[per cent] by 2025, with the aim of bringing 100 million women into the labour market, increasing global and inclusive growth, and reducing poverty and inequality." It also incorporates elements from "the G20 Policy Priorities for Boosting Female Participation, Quality of Employment and Gender Equity (Australia, 2014) and the G20 Policy Recommendations to Reduce Gender Gaps in Labour Force Participation and Pay by Improving Women's Job Quality (Germany, 2017)." In sum, it aims to achieve "full gender equality in the labour market and in our societies" through policy measures to improve the opportunities, quality and quantity of women's employment, while addressing the gender pay gap, disproportionate distribution of care work and discrimination in the labour market.

"Gender equality" is understood to mean "the equal rights, responsibilities and opportunities of women and men and girls and boys."⁸²⁷⁷ "Gender equality implies that the interests, needs and priorities of both women and men are taken into consideration, recognizing the diversity of different groups."

⁸²⁷⁷ Concepts and Definitions, United Nations Women (New York) n.d. Access Date: 3 April 2025. <https://www.un.org/womenwatch/osagi/conceptsanddefinitions.htm>

“Labour market” is understood to mean “the supply of people in a particular country or area who are able and willing to work.”⁸²⁷⁸

“Employment” refers to “any activity to produce goods or provide services for pay or profit.”⁸²⁷⁹

“Work” is understood to mean “any activity performed by persons of any sex and age to produce goods or to provide services for use by others or for own use.”⁸²⁸⁰ Forms of work include “own-use production work: production of goods and services for own final use; employment work: work performed for others in exchange for pay or profit; unpaid trainee work: work performed for others without pay to acquire workplace experience or skills; volunteer work: non-compulsory work performed for others without pay; and other work activities.” This commitment outlines different objectives to address employment and to address paid and unpaid work.

In the context of this commitment, “discrimination” is understood to mean “any distinction, exclusion or preference made on the basis of race, colour, sex, religion, political opinion, national extraction or social origin (among other characteristics), “which has the effect of nullifying or impairing equality of opportunity and treatment in employment or occupation.”⁸²⁸¹ “Discrimination can occur at every stage of employment, from recruitment to education and remuneration, occupational segregation and at time of lay-offs.” Sex discrimination targeting women is the most common form of discrimination, resulting in higher unemployment rates, pay gaps and less secure jobs.

A “gender stereotype” refers to “a generalized view or preconception about attributes or characteristics, or the roles that are or ought to be possessed by, or performed by, women and men. A gender stereotype is harmful when it limits women’s and men’s capacity to develop their personal abilities, pursue their professional careers and/or make choices about their lives.”⁸²⁸² Full compliance, or a score of +1, will be given to a G20 member that takes strong action across at least five of the six components: 1) increasing the quantity and quality of women’s employment, 2) ensuring equal opportunities and achieving better outcomes in the labour market, 3) promoting a more even distribution of women and men across sectors and occupations, 4) tackling the gender pay gap, 5) promoting a more balanced distribution of paid and unpaid work between women and men and 6) addressing discrimination and gender stereotypes in the labour market.

Examples of strong actions include investing in initiatives to improve decent work opportunities for women, implementing policies to prevent gender-based violence or discrimination in the workplace, increasing parental leave or unemployment benefits, providing skills training to women for digital technologies or STEM, investing in quality and affordable childcare services, encouraging flexible work arrangements and supporting women-led small and medium-sized enterprises to access the global economy. To achieve full compliance, strong actions must be aligned with the sub-areas of action listed under each of the six objectives in the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal.

Partial compliance, or a score of 0, will be given to a G20 member that takes strong action aligned with the sub-areas of action on three to five of the six components, weak action aligned with the sub-areas of action on at least four of the six components or strong action that does not align with the sub-areas of action on at least four or more components. Examples of weak actions include hosting seminars for women entrepreneurs, publishing non-binding advisory documents that address how to reduce gender pay gaps, attending bilateral meetings where labour force participation for women is discussed or verbally reaffirming support towards the commitment.

Non-compliance, or a score of -1 , will be given to a G20 member that fails to take action on the commitment, only takes weak action across three or fewer commitment components or takes action that is directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment.

Scoring Guidelines

-1	The G20 member fails to take action on the commitment, only takes weak action across three or fewer of the six components of the commitment to 1) increasing the quantity and quality of women's employment, 2) ensuring equal opportunities and achieving better outcomes in the labour market, 3) promoting a more even distribution of women and men across sectors and occupations, 4) tackling the gender pay gap, 5) promoting a more balanced distribution of paid and unpaid work between women and men and 6) addressing discrimination and gender stereotypes in the labour market; or takes action that is directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment.
0	The G20 member takes strong action aligned with the sub-areas of action on between three to five of the six components, weak action aligned with the sub-areas of action on at least four of the six components or strong action that does not align with the sub-areas of action on at least four or more components.
$+1$	The G20 member takes strong action that is aligned with the sub-areas of action for at least five of the six components of the commitment.

Argentina: -1

Argentina has not complied with its commitment to implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal.

On May 16, 2025, Minister of Justice and Public Instruction Mariano Cúneo Libarona announced the elimination of 13 social programs, justifying the decision as a cut to “ideological spending.”⁸²⁸³ In a statement on X, the Ministry claimed the move would save over AR6 billion annually “for all good Argentines.” Several of the dismantled programs supported labor inclusion for trans people and provided economic aid to women affected by gender inequality in the workforce.

Argentina has not complied with its commitment implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal. Argentina has not taken action to address any of the six components of the commitment.

Thus, Argentina receives a score of -1 .⁸²⁸⁴

Brazil has fully complied with its commitment to implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal. Brazil has taken strong action to increase the quality of women's employment, address the gender pay gap, address discrimination in the labour market, promote equal opportunities for women in the labour market and promote a more even distribution of women and men across sectors and occupations through the Monitoring Committee for the Pro-Gender and Race Equity Program, Reception Room enabling women to report discrimination, Movement for Equality in the Workplace, National Care Policy, funding for a public laundry facility, training women suffering from addiction to enter the workforce and mandating that 30 per cent of board members must be women for public companies.. It has also taken weak action to ensure equal opportunities for women in the labour market.

Thus, Brazil receives a score of +1.

On 28 April 2025, the China Council for the Promotion of International Trade and the China Chamber of International Commerce hosted the 2025 BRICS Women's Leadership Forum.⁸³⁷² The event focused on empowering women across BRICS countries and promoted innovation and cooperation among businesses.

On 30 July 2025, China's Ministry of Finance announced CNY90 billion in funding for childcare subsidies within the annual budget. The funding will help local governments provide up to CNY3,600 per child under three, covering nearly 90 per cent of the total cost.⁸³⁷³ Families can apply online or in person, ensuring access across urban and rural areas. The initiative supports early childhood development, expands maternity protections and promotes family well-being nationwide.

On 12 August 2025, China adopted a joint statement on expanding women's economic participation for sustainable growth at the 2025 Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) Women and the Economy Forum.⁸³⁷⁴ The statement reaffirmed APEC member commitments to the La Serena Roadmap and outlined measures to close the gender wage gap, increase women's leadership and expand participation in the science, technology, engineering and mathematics and artificial intelligence industries. It also committed to strengthening victim support services to address gender-based violence and to investing in care infrastructure and childcare services to build a gender-equal care system.

On 12 September 2025, China announced the introduction of a national childcare subsidy system to strengthen childbirth support and encourage population growth.⁸³⁷⁵ Under the policy, families receive an annual subsidy of CNY3,600 per child until age three, alongside expanded income tax deductions, maternity and parental leave, and inclusion of assisted reproductive technologies in medical insurance, marking a key step in China's efforts to promote family welfare and high-quality population development.

China has not complied with its commitment to implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal. China has taken weak action to support equal opportunities for women through the BRICS Women's Leadership Forum. It has also taken strong action to promote a more balanced distribution of paid and unpaid work between women and men through its allocation of funding for childcare. However, it has not taken sufficient action to qualify for partial compliance.

Thus, China receives a score of -1.⁸³⁷⁶

On 8 May 2025, Secretary Streeting shared that the Plan to Make Work Pay passed in the House of Commons in April 2025.⁸⁵⁷⁰ Make Work Pay, or the Employment Rights Bill, aims to boost the economy, uplift living standards and create work opportunities across the nation to help the low-paid population and address the gender pay gap. It will need to be passed by the House of Lords to become law.

On 12 May 2025, the Department for Education announced that eligible working parents can apply for up to GBP7,500 in funding to support 30 hours of childcare per week.⁸⁵⁷¹ This initiative aims to support mothers who are unable to return to employment due to lack of childcare.

On 15 May 2025, the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government introduced a public service pension scheme to make maternity, shared parental and adoption leave pensionable.⁸⁵⁷² This pension reform aims to end the inequality of the pension received by a man and a woman which previously occurred due to maternity leave. The reform also promises to eliminate all sex-based discrimination to close the pension pay gap.

On 21 May 2025, British International Investment and the Standard Chartered Bank announced USD100 million in co-financing for the Trade Finance Programme in Kenya and Tanzania which aims to support businesses through local and international trade.⁸⁵⁷³ At least 30 per cent of the program will support women's employment and leadership opportunities for women.

On 22 May 2025, the United Kingdom and Australia reaffirmed their commitment to the Women, Peace and Security agenda in a joint statement following the second UK-Australia Strategic Dialogue on Gender Equality. The statement emphasized exploring innovative ways to support women's rights organizations and promote women's leadership.

On 1 July 2025, the Department of Work and Pension issued a call for evidence on the paternal leave and pay system.⁸⁵⁷⁴ The objective is to gather new information from a broad audience that was not previously shared with the government regarding matters of maternal health, consistent labor participation, good start in life and childcare.

On 7 July 2025, the United Kingdom announced an amendment to the Employment Rights Bill that grants families experiencing pregnancy loss before 24 weeks a legal right to bereavement leave.⁸⁵⁷⁵ The reform is to

On 8 July 2025, the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government and the Department for Business and Trade announced a ban on Non-Disclosure Agreements preventing employees from exposing harassment and abuse faced in workplaces, as part of the amendments to the Employment Rights Bill.⁸⁵⁷⁶ The reform ensures that employees and witnesses can speak out without fear of legal repercussions, ending a practice that shielded abusive employers.

On 10 July, the United Kingdom announced a GBP500 million investment to expand opportunities for underrepresented entrepreneurs and fund managers.⁸⁵⁷⁷ Targeting women, ethnic minorities, people with disabilities and those from disadvantaged backgrounds the plan aims to reduce funding gaps in venture capital and ensure at least 50 per cent of investments go to female fund managers. The initiative includes a GBP400 million programme through the British Business Bank to back diverse fund managers, micro-funds and new entrants into venture capital alongside an additional GBP50 million for female-led venture capital funds.

On 28 July, the Department for Culture, Media and Sport announced new measures to boost women's and girls' football by doubling grassroots football pitch access and launching a Women's Sport Taskforce.⁸⁵⁷⁸ The taskforce will focus on strengthening the sports workforce by addressing challenges such as female athlete health, diversity, and pathways for women in coaching, leadership, and governance aiming to make the United Kingdom a global leader in women's sport both on and off the field.

On 11 August 2025, the Department of Health and Social Care announced more jobs will be available for newly qualified nurses and midwives.⁸⁵⁷⁹ New support measures are coming up to remove barriers of trust and easier access to jobs as many people chose to study nursing during the pandemic with poor job prospects in the future.

On 21 August 2025, the United Kingdom and Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) announced the 2025 ASEAN–UK SAGE Women in STEM Scholarships, awarding 11 women from eight ASEAN countries and Timor-Leste fully funded master's opportunities at the University of Warwick and the University of Manchester.⁸⁵⁸⁰ The scholarships aim to address gender gaps in STEM education and careers and empower future women leaders in fields such as renewable energy, precision medicine, artificial intelligence and humanitarian engineering.

On 1 September 2025, Prime Minister Keir Starmer and Education Secretary Bridget Phillipson announced the rollout of 30 hours of funded childcare per week across England, saving parents up to GBP7,500 a year per child.⁸⁵⁸¹ Backed by GBP9 billion in total funding, the policy will benefit over half a million children, help

On 8 September 2025, the Department of Culture, Media and Sports established the Women's Sports Taskforce to deliver equal access, improved facilities and better protection for female athletes against online abuse as part of the Plan for Change initiative.⁸⁵⁸² The taskforce focuses on inspiring and increasing participation of young women in sports, serving as a guide to the 2035 FIFA Women's World Cup.

On 9 September 2025, the government announced a refreshment of the Women's Business Council through new member appointments to strengthen its commitment to Our Plan to Change, which aimed to improve working conditions for women.⁸⁵⁸³ The initiative sought to bring women leaders from various industries together to represent working women and address gender equality barriers such as the gender pay gap, menopausal provisions, and workplace harassment.

On 10 September 2025, Special Envoy for Women and Girls Harriet Harman delivered the keynote address at the Berlin Process Gender Equality Forum in Sarajevo.⁸⁵⁸⁴ Speaking on the UK's commitment to embedding women's rights in the Berlin Process, she emphasized women's roles in security, economic growth and reconciliation across the Western Balkans, highlighting initiatives on online safety, women's entrepreneurship and international cooperation for gender equality.

On 30 September 2025, Secretary for Health and Social Care Wes Streeting announced GBP500 million investment to establish the UK's first-ever fair pay agreement for adult care workers in England.⁸⁵⁸⁵ The initiative will create a new negotiating body of employers and trade unions to improve pay and conditions across the sector by 2028, marking a major step toward professionalising care work, boosting recruitment and retention and ensuring long-term wage growth for social care staff.

The United Kingdom has fully complied with its commitment to implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal. The United Kingdom has taken strong action to increase the quantity and quality of women's employment, promote a more even distribution of women and men across sectors and occupations, promote a more balanced distribution of paid and unpaid work between women and men, help women gain equal opportunities and achieve better outcomes in the labour market and tackle the gender pay gap through STEM scholarships for women, increased childcare funding, supporting women's employment and leadership opportunities through the Trade Finance Programme, skills training for girls to address the digital divide, supporting the development of a cotton processing facility which will employ 50 per cent women and the Employment Rights Bill.

Thus, the United Kingdom receives a score of +1.

United States: –1

The United States has not complied with its commitment to implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal.

On 10 December 2024, the Department of Labor and International Labour Organization announced a renewed Memorandum of Understanding to address gender-based violence and harassment in the world of work.⁸⁵⁸⁶ The partnership will focus on implementing the US National Plan to End Gender-Based Violence from 2023.

On 21 January 2025, President Donald Trump signed executive order 14173, “Ending Illegal Discrimination and Restoring Merit-Based Opportunity.”⁸⁵⁸⁷ The order ended affirmative action in the United States federal government, which had been in place since the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The executive order immediately ordered the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs in the US Department of Labor to stop “promoting diversity” and engaging in hiring that accounted for “race, color, sex, sexual preference, religion, or national origin.”

On 26 February 2025, Attorney General Pam Bondi announced that the Department of Justice dismissed its pending lawsuits against police and firefighting departments that were sued for racial and gender discrimination.⁸⁵⁸⁸ This included United States v. City of South Bend, in which it was alleged the department’s physical fitness tests disproportionately prevented women from becoming police officers.

On 19 March 2025, President Trump signed the “Removing Discrimination and Discriminatory Equity Ideology from the Foreign Service” memorandum.⁸⁵⁸⁹ The memorandum directed the Secretary of State to remove criteria for foreign service tenure and promotion related to diversity, equity, inclusion and accessibility. It also states that an individual’s sex and any other “discriminatory equity ideology” should not be considered in hiring decisions for the foreign service.

On 23 April 2025, President Trump signed the executive order “Restoring Equality of Opportunity and Meritocracy.”⁸⁵⁹⁰ This executive order directed federal agencies not to pursue discrimination claims based on disparate impact liability which suggests that neutral policies can have a disproportionate effect on protected groups such as women. The order also allows agencies to dismiss pending claims of that nature.

On 9 May 2025, President Trump issued a statement that celebrated women on Mother’s Day.⁸⁵⁹¹ He also pledged to ensure that American families can enjoy a standard of living on a single income.

On 9 July 2025, Secretary of Labor Lori Chavez-DeRemer announced USD5 million in Women in Apprenticeship and Nontraditional Occupations grants, supporting up to 14 projects countrywide.⁸⁵⁹² The program will help community-based organizations recruit, train and retain women in Registered Apprenticeships and high-growth fields such as manufacturing, construction, infrastructure and cybersecurity.

On 12 August 2025, The United States adopted a joint statement on expanding women's economic participation for sustainable growth at the 2025 Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) Women and the Economy Forum.⁸⁵⁹³ The statement reaffirmed APEC member commitments to the La Serena Roadmap and outlined measures to close the gender wage gap, increase women's leadership and expand participation in the science, technology, engineering and mathematics and artificial intelligence industries. It also committed to strengthening victim support services to address gender-based violence and to investing in care infrastructure and childcare services to build a gender-equal care system.

The United States has not complied with its commitment to implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal. The United States has taken weak action to address gender-based violence and harassment in the world of work, aligned with the sub-actions to increase the quantity and quality of women's employment. However, the US has also taken actions that are directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment through executive orders that undermine existing equity and inclusion initiatives in the federal government and foreign service, dismissing gender-based lawsuits and making it more difficult to file discrimination lawsuits based on gender. The United States has also failed to take positive action across at least four of the six commitment components.

Thus, the United States receives a score of -1 .⁸⁵⁹⁴

African Union: 0

The African Union has partially complied with its commitment to implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal.

On 20 December 2024, the African Union Commission's Women, Gender and Youth Directorate launched the Women and Youth Financial and Economic Inclusion Initiative called Afri'Talent.⁸⁵⁹⁵ Afri'Talent aims to empower women entrepreneurs to enter the creative sector and unlock USD100 billion to support 10 million African women and youth by 2030. Members of the program's pilot phase will receive leadership, entrepreneurship and business-related training to increase their labour market opportunities.

On 28 February 2025, the African Union approved the AU Convention on Ending Violence Against Women and Girls during its 38th Ordinary Session.⁸⁵⁹⁶ The convention aims to address the causes of gender-based violence, "strengthen legal and institutional mechanisms, and promote a culture of respect for human rights, gender equality and the dignity of women and girls." This includes a focus on the world of work amongst other sectors.

On 8 March 2025, the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights' Special Rapporteur on the Rights of Women in Africa Janet Ramatoulie Sallah-Njie released a statement marking International Women's Day.⁸⁵⁹⁷ Special Rapporteur Sallah-Njie recognized the importance of gender equality and women's empowerment, reiterating the African Commission's commitment to tackling the gender pay gap, increasing the representation of women across sectors including Science, Technology, Engineering and Math and supporting marginalized women.

On 11 March 2025, the African Union Economic, Social and Cultural Council and the European Economic and Social Committee released a joint declaration at the 69th session of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women.⁸⁵⁹⁸ The declaration reiterates their commitment to addressing the underrepresentation of women in the economic and political sectors and in leadership positions, ending gender-based violence, addressing the digital gender divide through skills training, valuing unpaid care work conducted by women and reducing the burden of this work and ensuring women's empowerment.

On 17 June 2025, the African Union International Centre for Girls' and Women's Education in Africa held a four-day workshop to strengthen capacity on Gender Responsive Education Sector Planning.⁸⁵⁹⁹ The workshop aimed to deepen gender awareness in education, enhance skills to analyze disparities using gender-disaggregated data, and support the design of inclusive education policies aligned with national and regional priorities.

On 23 July 2025, the African Union Commission's Women, Gender and Youth Directorate convened a high-level dialogue in partnership with the Sterling One Foundation to advance the Women and Youth Financial and Economic Inclusion Initiative.⁸⁶⁰⁰ The talks, held ahead of the Africa Social Impact Summit, brought together public and private stakeholders to mobilize capital and expertise toward dismantling systemic barriers to women's and youth's access to finance. The dialogue also launched a series of Directorate-led regional engagements to sustain momentum, foster innovative financing solutions and expand opportunities for women and youth across the continent.

On 27 June 2025, the Office of the Special Envoy on Women, Peace and Security in the African Union Commission conducted a workshop to strengthen the way in which Africa monitors and implements its Women, Peace, and Security (WPS) commitments through the Continental Results Framework (CRF).⁸⁶⁰¹ The outcomes of the workshop included strengthening accountability measures for WPS reporting, improving grassroots actors to propel the WPS mandate and potentially creating a digital CRF reporting tool to streamline feedback.

On 1 October 2025, the African Union launched the Women, Peace and Security Network for Media Professionals.⁸⁶⁰⁴ The meeting gathered twenty journalists to lead changes in Africa's media landscape to ensure that the voices of women are not marginalized.

The African Union has partially complied with its commitment to implementing the G20 Roadmap Towards and Beyond the Brisbane Goal. The African Union has taken strong action to ensure equal opportunities and better outcomes for women in the labour market through the AfriTalent initiative. It has also taken weak action to promote a more even distribution of women and men across sectors and occupations, tackle the gender pay gap and promote a more balanced distribution of paid and unpaid work between women and men through a joint declaration with the European Economic and Social Committee and AU Convention on Ending Violence Against Women and Girls.

Background

Digital platform transparency has increasingly been at the forefront of many discussions in the international sphere. With the rapid expansion of the technology sector, particularly the exponential growth of artificial intelligence, countries across the world, including G20 members, are facing difficult challenges regarding regulating the digital space. G20 leaders have recognized the importance of digital platform transparency and increased governance in the area, as artificial intelligence has created a swift growth of cybercrimes and other harmful activities. To address these concerns, G20 leaders have advocated for greater transparency by digital platforms. The enhanced transparency will allow for increased and improved governance of data on platforms along with protections to help foster and develop safe and secure digital ecosystems. G20 members have recognized that a lack of regulation can be detrimental to their citizens as well as to national and global stability. With the bandwidth of online communication being easily accessible, it is evident that robust governance is essential to manage the growth of the technology sector while making it safe to participate on digital platforms.

At the 2016 Hangzhou Summit, G20 leaders first committed to fostering favourable conditions for the development of a digital economy to address the digital divide through “trust and security, while ensuring respect for privacy and personal data protection.”⁸⁶²⁸

⁸⁶²⁸ G20 Leaders’ Communiqué: Hangzhou Summit, G20 Information Centre (Toronto) 5 September 2016. Access Date: 4 March 2025. <https://www.g20.utoronto.ca/2016/160905-communique.html>

At the 2017 Hamburg Summit, G20 leaders emphasized that “trust in digital technologies requires effective consumer protection, intellectual property rights, transparency, and security in the use of ICT [information and communications technology].”⁸⁶²⁹ The leaders also committed to “support the free flow of information while respecting applicable legal frameworks for privacy, data protection and intellectual property rights.”

At the 2018 Buenos Aires Summit, G20 leaders reaffirmed their commitment to maximizing the benefits of digitalization and supporting the free flow of information, ideas and knowledge, “while respecting applicable legal frameworks, and working to build consumer trust, privacy, data protection and intellectual property rights protection.”⁸⁶³⁰ The leaders also pledged to work together with digital platforms to fight the use of the internet and social media for terrorist purposes.

At the 2019 Osaka Summit, G20 leaders committed to work on the urgent challenges of digitalization and the digital economy by sharing “good practices on effective policy and regulatory approaches and frameworks” with other members.⁸⁶³¹ The leaders also committed to a human-centered approach to AI that promotes security and the protection of intellectual property.

At the 2020 Riyadh Summit, G20 leaders acknowledged the importance of technologies for facilitating the continuation of economic activity during the pandemic and recognized the importance of security in this digital economy. The leaders also reaffirmed their commitment to “further facilitate data free flow and strengthen consumer and business trust” in accordance with relevant applicable legal frameworks.⁸⁶³²

At the 2021 Rome Summit, G20 leaders endorsed the G20 Menu of Policy Options: Digital Transformation and Productivity Recovery which “provides policy options, shares good practices, promotes inclusion and sheds light on the key role of international cooperation to make use of the growth opportunities of digitalization.”⁸⁶³³ The leaders also reaffirmed the need to address increased security challenges in the digital environment and committed to strengthen bilateral and multilateral cooperation to secure ICT.

At the 2022 Bali Summit, G20 leaders recognized the “importance of policies to create an enabling, inclusive, open, fair and non-discriminatory digital economy ... while addressing the challenges, related to digital divides, privacy, data protection, intellectual property rights, and online safety.”⁸⁶³⁴ The leaders also committed to advancing a human-centric and inclusive digital transformation for development and social well-being.

At the 2023 New Delhi Summit, G20 leaders committed to addressing the digital divides and endorsed the G20 Principles on Harnessing Data for Development. The leaders also recognized the importance of safe, secure, trusted, accountable and inclusive digital public infrastructure while “respecting applicable legal frameworks.”⁸⁶³⁵

At the 2024 Rio de Janeiro Summit, G20 leaders reaffirmed their commitment towards harnessing the potential digital technologies to reduce inequalities while recognizing that “transparency, with appropriate safeguards, and explainability regarding data, algorithms and content moderation that respects intellectual property rights and privacy, and data protection can be key for building healthy information ecosystems.”⁸⁶³⁶ G20 leaders also committed to targeting misinformation and disinformation, hate speech and other forms of online harms through policies and relevant legal frameworks.

Commitment Features

This commitment’s welfare target is to advance digital platforms’ accountability to policies and legal frameworks, with the presumed extended welfare target of protecting the public’s digital-related rights. To do so the G20 committed to work directly with platforms and relevant stakeholders.

Definitions and Concepts

“Emphasize” is understood to mean “to show that something is very important or worth giving attention to.”⁸⁶³⁷

“Digital platforms” refer to “business models that use online infrastructure to facilitate interactions between groups. Examples include social media channels, online marketplaces, crowdsourcing websites and apps.”⁸⁶³⁸ In the context of this commitment, digital platforms include META, Tiktok, WhatsApp and X.

“Digital platform transparency” refers to open information sharing regarding the “platforms’ content curation and moderation policies and processes.”⁸⁶³⁹

“Digital platform responsibility” refers to platforms being accountable “for sustaining an enabling environment for freedom of expression and the right to information, while ensuring there is an open, safe and secure environment for users and non-users.”⁸⁶⁴⁰

“Policy” refers to “a set of ideas or a plan of what to do in particular situations that has been agreed to officially by a group of people, a business organization, a government, or a political party.”⁸⁶⁴¹

“Applicable” refers to “affecting or relating to someone or something.”⁸⁶⁴²

“Legal framework” refers to the supporting structure around something which is permitted by the law.⁸⁶⁴³

“Work” refers “to spend time and effort doing something” or “to try hard to achieve or improve something.”⁸⁶⁴⁴

“Stakeholder” refers to “a person such as an employee, customer, or citizen who is involved with an organization, society, etc. and therefore has responsibilities towards it and an interest in its success.”⁸⁶⁴⁵ In the context of this commitment, this includes other G20 members, countries, international organizations, civil society and private sector members.

General Interpretive Guidelines

This commitment requires G20 members to work with platforms and relevant stakeholders to promote digital platform transparency and responsibility. The act of “work together” involves meeting face to face or virtually with the CEO or representative of a digital platform and with a different stakeholder to encourage platforms to be more transparent and accountable in their operations.

Full compliance, or a score of +1, will be given to a G20 member that takes strong action in meeting with 1) platforms and 2) stakeholders to improve their transparency and responsibility. Strong actions include evidence of individual members’ positive contribution in a meeting such as reaching a consensus on appropriate safeguards that respects privacy and data protection rights.

Partial compliance, or a score of 0, will be assigned to a G20 member that takes strong action in meetings with one of the actors; or takes moderate action in meetings with both platforms and stakeholders. Examples of moderate actions include attending a meeting but with no evidence of what the individual member said or promoted there, or verbal unilateral statements of support for the commitment welfare target.

Non-compliance, or a score of –1, will be assigned to a G20 member that 1) has not taken strong action in meeting with both platforms and stakeholders; 2) has taken weak action in meeting with one of the two actors; or 3) has taken actions directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment. Actions that are antithetical to the commitment include explicit efforts to make digital platforms more opaque and less responsible to the public.

Scoring Guidelines

–1	The G20 member 1) has not taken strong action in meeting with both platforms and stakeholders; 2) has taken weak action in meetings with one of the two actors; or 3) taken actions directly and explicitly antithetical to the commitment.
0	The G20 member 1) has taken strong action in meetings with one of the actors; or 2) has taken weak action in meeting with both platforms and stakeholders.
+1	The G20 member has taken strong action in meeting with both 1) platforms and 2) stakeholders.

On 3 September 2025, the AAIP and CFT co-chaired the Sixth Meeting of the CFT Transparency Commission, analyzing cases of rights to access public information with the participation of several Argentine national agencies.⁸⁶⁶⁰ The meeting aimed to assess the accessibility of public data from the country's government agencies and find avenues for improvement.

On 15 September 2025, the AAIP participated in the 47th Annual Global Privacy Assembly (GPA) where it exchanged knowledge in technology and privacy through events and private bilateral meetings with countries including South Korea, Germany, Japan, Singapore, Dubai, the United States and the European Union.⁸⁶⁶¹ This demonstrated an effort to strengthen global cooperation in data protection and identify common goals and opportunities for formal cooperation and exchange.

On 24 September 2025, head of the AAIP Beatrix Anchorena participated in panels on the “Legal Treatment of Personal Data for Artificial Intelligence Purposes” and “GPA Session on 10 years of humanitarian data protection” with key stakeholders from the technology and privacy sector during the 47th Annual Meeting of the Global Privacy Assembly.⁸⁶⁶² She detailed initiatives that guide public and private institutions to advance data protection and privacy globally, improving the transparency and responsibility of platforms and organizations.⁸⁶⁶³

On 25 September 2025, the AAIP and Body for Access to Public Information in the City of Buenos Aires (OGDAI) coordinated a meeting within the framework of the RTA connecting over 80 officials and those responsible for access to information and transparency from the region.⁸⁶⁶⁴ The goal of the meeting was to highlight environmental information specifically as a component of human rights and draw attention to regional governments on their responsibilities in that regard.

On 29 September 2025, head of the AAIP Beatrix Anchorena chaired the 64th meeting of the Bureau of the Committee of Convention 108.⁸⁶⁶⁵ Participants discussed next steps of the Committee's Work Plan including the 2026-2029 Programme, and underscored the importance of Convention 108+ as an instrument to strengthen data protection and privacy with regards to artificial intelligence. Convention 108+ aims to protect the processing of personal data by any public authority, service, agency or body to whom data is disclosed to and processed.⁸⁶⁶⁶

On 22 October 2025, the AAIP organized an event with the Human Rights Center of the Faculty of Law of the University of Buenos Aires on “Access to Information: a key right for democratic strengthening” to engage academics, public officials and citizens to discuss the development and application of universal access to information and transparency.⁸⁶⁶⁷ Participants discussed the role of a new platform created by AAIP to optimize access to information requests to streamline transparency.⁸⁶⁶⁸ This initiative was promoted during the Month of Access to Information and Transparency, advancing Argentina's efforts to promote public dialogue on this topic.

Argentina has partially complied with its commitment to emphasize transparency on digital platforms and work with digital platforms and relevant stakeholders to improve transparency and responsibility. Particularly, work by the AAIP and CFT continues to focus on citizens' knowledge of their rights to their data, and the implemented regulatory frameworks that govern digital platform usage. Argentina has taken strong action to meet with stakeholders to review regulatory challenges and coordinate strategies for data privacy and protection in addition to a new bilateral partnership. However, it has not taken strong action in meeting with platform representatives.

Thus, Argentina receives a score of 0.

On 13 February 2025, Information Commissioner Elizabeth Tydd delivered a speech at the Artificial Intelligence, Law and Society conference at Macquarie University.⁸⁶⁷³ In her speech, Commissioner Tydd confirmed that the three key principles that can guide us towards a future where society enjoys the benefits of AI are transparency, regulatory cohesion and regulatory effectiveness.

In April 2025, Australia's eSafety agency hosted a series of workshop sessions through the Youth Dialogues Special Project to provide a platform for youth ambassadors to identify practical actions that global technology companies and policymakers can take to support young people to have safer, more informed online experiences.⁸⁶⁷⁴ This initiative reflects Australia's commitment to bolstering the transparency and accountability of content moderation practices on platforms, protecting users and promoting digital literacy and well-being.

On 2 April 2025, information commissioners and ombudsmen from around Australia participated in a dialogue on "risks, challenges and opportunities affecting the public's right of access to government-held information."⁸⁶⁷⁵ The initiative aims to ensure government agencies acknowledge the benefits of AI and messaging platforms, while also implementing measures to uphold transparency of data governance and accessibility processes.

On 3 April 2025, directors from the Australian Capital Territory Government attended the 11th Annual Aus Gov Data Summit as speakers.⁸⁶⁷⁶ The conference highlights the power of data analytics and AI as essential for effective public service decision-making and the increasing threats to cybersecurity and data privacy Australian public sector faces.

On 1 July 2025, Minister of Foreign Affairs Penny Wong attended the Japan-Australia-India-US (Quad) Foreign Ministers' Meeting.⁸⁶⁷⁷ All four nations agreed to promote "critical and emerging technologies" to better regulate maritime and transnational security.

On 29 July 2025, Australia organized the 2025 Financial Review Government Services Summit to advance the expansion of the "myGov platform" and advance Australia's digital government agenda.⁸⁶⁷⁸ The event convened public and private sector representatives, public policy, strategy and service executives to improve the transparency and responsibility of digital platforms.

⁸⁶⁷⁸ 2025 Government Services Summit, Australian Financial Review (Sydney)

On 4 August 2025, APEC member economies met in Incheon, South Korea for the APEC Digital AI Ministerial Meeting (TELMIN11).⁸⁶⁷⁹ All 21 member economies participating, including Australia, discussed three key themes: facilitating digital and AI innovation, enhancing universal digital connectivity, and creating safe AI ecosystems.

On 18 September 2025, data protection authorities from Australia, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Croatia, Finland, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Ireland, Italy, Korea, Netherlands, New Zealand, Luxembourg, Macao SAR, Spain, Poland, Sweden and the UK released a joint statement on “Building Trustworthy Data Governance Frameworks for Artificial Intelligence.”⁸⁶⁸⁰ The Joint Statement discussed opportunities and risks of AI including its applications in various fields, data protection and privacy concerns. In response to these challenges, the statement also underscored the need to develop stronger data governance frameworks that anticipate risk and align with current legal frameworks.

On 23 September 2025, South Australia’s Assistant Minister for Artificial Intelligence, Digital Economy, and Defense and Space Industries Michael Brown delivered a speech at the Australia Internet Governance Forum.⁸⁶⁸¹ The forum explored the theme “Global Visions, Local Impact: The Future of Australia’s Digital Governance,” focusing on informing Australian policy debates with regional and global internet governance challenges.

On 29 September 2025, Australia participated in and supported the Digital Economy Working Group.⁸⁶⁸² This reflects the G20 Digital Economy Ministers commitment to leveraging “the potential of the digital transformation” to advance the Sustainable Development Goals. The meeting focused on the following priority areas: 1) “Universal and Equitable Digital Inclusion,” 2) “Digital Public Infrastructure as a key element for Digital Transformation,” 3) Digital Innovation Ecosystems: Unleashing the Potential of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) and 4) “Equitable, Inclusive, Trustworthy and Sustainable Artificial Intelligence (AI) for good and for all.” During the meeting, participants also participated in a workshop on “Generative AI and its evolving ability to produce high-quality deep fakes at low cost,” whereby they also discussed steps generative AI applications and social media platforms can take to protect information integrity and online safety.

On 3 October 2025, the Association of Information Access Commissioners (AIAC) held the bi-annual meeting in Sydney.⁸⁶⁸³ Information Commissioners and Ombudsmen explored how open government, reliable environmental information, and data not only strengthen government accountability, but also fuel the development of digital tools, data-driven solutions, and collaborative approaches essential.

On 21 October 2025, the Department of Industry, Science and Resources and the National Artificial Intelligence Centre partnered with the Committee for Economic Development of Australia (CEDA) to host the 2025 AI Leadership Summit.⁸⁶⁸⁴ The Summit featured government officials, academics, business executives and key stakeholders working on advancing the AI-driven economy. She further highlighted the importance of civil society and private sector dialogue in developing regulatory frameworks that foster innovation while addressing security concerns.

Brazil has fully complied with its commitment to emphasize transparency on digital platforms and work with digital platforms and relevant stakeholders to improve transparency and responsibility. On several occasions, federal officials have reaffirmed this commitment in a variety of workshops and presentations with multilateral stakeholders. The government has taken measures to correspond with private and public technology companies, both when their actions violate data protection laws and when inviting their input in future policy. Brazil has put forward concrete commitments and renewed international agreements to further its data transparency and responsibility efforts in the future.

Thus, Brazil receives a score of +1.

On 5 November 2025, France announced that it will begin initiating proceedings to suspend the online platform Shein after investigations concluded the company sold “childlike sex dolls.”⁸⁷⁷⁵ The economy ministry stated that they will continue proceedings with the online platform until all of its content complies with France’s laws and regulations. These proceedings aim to strengthen the accountability of digital platforms and ensuring products sold on digital marketplaces align with France’s standards and legal obligations. In response, Shein committed to ban sellers accounts that violated these requirements and to set stricter platform controls.

France has fully complied with its commitment to emphasize transparency on digital platforms and work with digital platforms and relevant stakeholders to improve transparency and responsibility. France has also put forward concrete commitments as evidenced by their individual member contributions at meetings with relevant stakeholders. France has also taken strong action in meeting with platform representatives to promote transparency and accountability through its proceedings with Shein to ensure platform compliance with France’s e-commerce platform policies.

Thus, France receives a score of +1.

On 29 September 2025, Indonesia participated in and supported the Digital Economy Working Group.⁸⁸¹³ This reflects the G20 Digital Economy Ministers commitment to leveraging “the potential of the digital transformation” to advance the Sustainable Development Goals. The meeting focused on the following priority areas: 1) “Universal and Equitable Digital Inclusion,” 2) “Digital Public Infrastructure as a key element for Digital Transformation,” 3) Digital Innovation Ecosystems: Unleashing the Potential of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) and 4) “Equitable, Inclusive, Trustworthy and Sustainable Artificial Intelligence (AI) for good and for all.” During the meeting, participants also participated in a workshop on “Generative AI and its evolving ability to produce high-quality deep fakes at low cost,” whereby they also discussed steps generative AI applications and social media platforms can take to protect information integrity and online safety.

On 29 October 2025, Deputy Minister Patria delivered a speech at the “Trust by Design Privacy, Security, and AI Governance for the Future” event urging AI-based digital platforms to strengthen governance to advance public trust and transparency.⁸⁸¹⁴

On 30 October 2025, Minister Hafid delivered a speech at the Digital Economy and Finance Festival (FEKDI) and Indonesia Fintech Summit & Expo (ISED) highlighting three government strategies driving inclusive transformation.⁸⁸¹⁵ These strategies are 1) “building an inclusive digital ecosystem,” 2) “accelerating innovation and efficiency” and 3) “developing superior digital talent.” Minister Hafid also stressed the importance of collaboration between the government, industry, academics, regulators, and innovators to transform the digital ecosystem.

Indonesia has fully complied with its commitment to emphasize transparency on digital platforms and work with digital platforms and relevant stakeholders to improve transparency and responsibility. Indonesia has taken strong action to meet and collaborate with other relevant stakeholders in mitigating cyber threats, promoting data protection rights, in seeking investments from organizations and relevant institutions. Indonesia has also met with digital platforms to ensure that future professionals in the field are trained on transparency and responsibility guidelines.

Thus, Indonesia receives a score of +1.

Italy has partially complied with its commitment to emphasize transparency on digital platforms and work with digital platforms and relevant stakeholders to improve transparency and responsibility.

On 24 January 2025, Italy hosted the “Digital Connectivity and Mediterranean” ministerial-level event in Palermo, Sicily.⁸⁸¹⁶ The two-day event gathered leaders from the European Union, EU Member States and the Mediterranean region to discuss investments, innovation and partnership to advance digital infrastructure in the region.

On 12 May 2025, the Italian Supervisory Authority and the European Data Protection Supervisor patronised the 2025 Privacy Symposium featuring data protection authorities, researchers and practitioners.⁸⁸¹⁷ Participants discussed developments in data processing regulations, international cooperation on data governance, emerging technologies, regulatory compliance and research and development in data governance. The conference features 13 thematic tracks including data regulations in practice focusing on aligning digital platforms with data protection policies.

On 11 June 2025, representatives from Italy including Director General and Head of Department for Digital Connectivity and New Technologies at the Ministry of Enterprises and Made in Italy Eva Spina, Minister of the Ministry of Enterprises and Made in Italy Adolfo Urso participated in the UN Virtual Worlds Day 2025 event.⁸⁸¹⁸ The event convened government and private-sector representatives, various UN agencies and partners, and changemakers to discuss the role of AI and technology in “transforming public services, cities, and digital governance worldwide.” From the event emerged the launch of the “Turin Call to Action,” a document outlining key areas for action and collaboration on human-centred digital development, and the “Citiverse Use Case Taxonomy,” a catalogue on using AI and technology to serve the public good.

On 19 June 2025, representatives from the Italian Data Protection Authority attended the G7 Data Protection and Privacy Authorities Roundtable hosted by Canada.⁸⁸¹⁹ The G7 data protection authorities reaffirmed their commitment to engage with experts and partner networks to “foster a trusted digital environment for all.”

On 18 September 2025, data protection authorities from Australia, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Croatia, Finland, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Ireland, Italy, Korea, Netherlands, New Zealand, Luxembourg, Macao SAR, Spain, Poland, Sweden and the UK released a joint statement on “Building Trustworthy Data Governance Frameworks for Artificial Intelligence.”⁸⁸²⁰ The Joint Statement discussed opportunities and risks of AI including its applications in various fields, data protection and privacy concerns. In response to these challenges, the statement also underscored the need to develop stronger data governance frameworks that anticipate risk and align with current legal frameworks.

On 29 September 2025, the UK participated in and supported the Digital Economy Working Group.⁸⁸⁹⁴ This reflects the G20 Digital Economy Ministers commitment to leveraging “the potential of the digital transformation” to advance the Sustainable Development Goals. The meeting focused on the following priority areas: 1) “Universal and Equitable Digital Inclusion,” 2) “Digital Public Infrastructure as a key element for Digital Transformation,” 3) Digital Innovation Ecosystems: Unleashing the Potential of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) and 4) “Equitable, Inclusive, Trustworthy and Sustainable Artificial Intelligence (AI) for good and for all.” During the meeting, participants also participated in a workshop on “Generative AI and its evolving ability to produce high-quality deep fakes at low cost,” whereby they also discussed steps generative AI applications and social media platforms can take to protect information integrity and online safety.

The United Kingdom has fully complied with its commitment to emphasize transparency on digital platforms and work with digital platforms and relevant stakeholders to improve transparency and responsibility. It has taken moderate action in meeting with stakeholders at the International Network of AI Safety Institutes. It has also taken strong action in meeting with platform representatives such as OpenAI to set forth a strategic partnership MoU with evidence of individual member contributions.

Thus, the United Kingdom receives a score of +1.

The United States has partially complied with its commitment to emphasize transparency on digital platforms and work with digital platforms and relevant stakeholders to improve transparency and responsibility. It has taken moderate action in meeting with both industry professionals and stakeholders at the International Network of AI Safety Institutes. In addition, the United States launched an inquiry to facilitate dialogue between platforms to determine data privacy and freedom of speech violations. However, there is no strong evidence of individual member contributions to meetings.

Thus, the United States receives a score of 0.

The African Union has partially complied with its commitment to emphasize transparency on digital platforms and work with digital platforms and relevant stakeholders to improve transparency and responsibility.

On 17 May 2025, the African Union Commission in partnership with the government of Ethiopia and the Institute for Security Studies held a High-Level Policy Dialogue on the Development and Regulation of AI in Africa convening 40 African countries, “AU Commissioners, diplomats, civil society, academia, and private sector leaders” including representatives from Meta.⁸⁹⁰² The initiative reflects the AU’s commitment to multi-stakeholder engagement and co-developing safeguards around responsible artificial intelligence (AI) governance, multi-level regulations and ensuring the transparency and accountability of AI systems. Deputy Chairperson of the AU Commission also highlighted the AU’s commitment to “advancing a multisectoral and multistakeholder AI governance approach.” The Communiqué released following the event highlighted AI as a strategic priority and digital infrastructure as an area for collaborative efforts.

On 29 September 2025, the AU participated in and supported the Digital Economy Working Group.⁸⁹⁰³ This reflects the G20 Digital Economy Ministers commitment to leveraging “the potential of the digital transformation” to advance the Sustainable Development Goals. The meeting focused on the following priority areas: 1) “Universal and Equitable Digital Inclusion,” 2) “Digital Public Infrastructure as a key element for Digital Transformation,” 3) Digital Innovation Ecosystems: Unleashing the Potential of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) and 4) “Equitable, Inclusive, Trustworthy and Sustainable Artificial Intelligence (AI) for good and for all.” During the meeting, participants also participated in a workshop on “Generative AI and its evolving ability to produce high-quality deep fakes at low cost,” whereby they also discussed steps generative AI applications and social media platforms can take to protect information integrity and online safety.

The African Union has partially complied with its commitment to emphasizing the transparency of digital platforms and ensuring their alignment with relevant policies and legal frameworks. The AU has taken strong action in meeting with stakeholders through the High-Level Policy Dialogue on the Development and Regulation on Africa. However, there is a lack of direct engagement with platform representatives and consensus-building with evidence of individual contributions to discussions on establishing safeguards involving platforms.

Thus, the African Union receives a score of 0.

On 20 January 2025, Ireland's Minister of Finance and President of the Eurogroup, Paschal Donohoe, acknowledged in the Eurogroup meeting the need for technologies to "enhance the speed, efficiency and transparency of financial markets."⁸⁹⁰⁵ President Donohoe addressed the work of the European Central Bank regarding the use of new technologies in collaboration with the private sector.

On 6 February 2025, Advocate General Maciej Szpunar presented his opinion on the responsibilities of the operator of the online marketplace Russmedia Digital and Inform Media Press in the Court of Justice of the European Union.⁸⁹⁰⁶ He addressed that the processing of personal data should be lawful, fair and transparent and the collection of data should be within specific and legitimate purposes.

On 12 February 2025, the European Union and Brazil reaffirmed their collaboration in digital governance through a joint statement committing to bilateral cooperation in digital governance.⁸⁹⁰⁷ This initiative aims to enhance transparency and data protection standards across digital platforms by working with companies and through shared regulatory practices.

On 19 March 2025, the European Commission communicated two sets of preliminary findings to Alphabet for failing to comply with the Digital Markets Act (DMA).⁸⁹⁰⁸ The Commission found that some features of Google Search preferentially benefited Alphabet's own services. The Commission informed Alphabet that the company is in breach of DMA as it is not ensuring a transparent and fair treatment of third-party services because it is preventing app developers from freely steering consumers.

On 1 April 2025, the European Commission and the 2025 Polish Presidency of the Council of the EU organized a Global Multistakeholder High-Level Conference.⁸⁹⁰⁹ The conference aims to enhance global discussion on the principles for the global governance of Web 4.0 virtual worlds, focusing on policy solutions for an ethical, value-driven shift to Web 4.0 standardization issues related to virtual worlds.

On 22 April 2025, the European Commission fined Apple and Meta with EUR200 million and EUR500 million respectively for incompliance with the data consent regulations set in the DMA.⁸⁹¹⁰ The fines come after extensive communication with the companies where they presented their views and arguments. The Commission found that Apple and Meta failed to comply with the DMA as the companies' failed to prove that their restrictions were objectively necessary and proportionate.
